FOOTPRINTS . . .

ON THE SANDS OF TIME,
MHS students strived to leave their impression.
Though only a minute segment of the world, the Governors related to life through school happenings. They walked in football stadiums, cafeterias, auditoriums, dance floors and classrooms. On each, student footprints were left. As the sands of time slipped by, new footprints appeared but few ever faded. Accomplishments and failures were recorded as each school event passed. Yes, Governors walked on the sands of time, yesterday, today and tomorrow.

ON THE SANDS OF YESTERDAY,
MHS students left individual impressions.
Excelling in academics, athletics and the arts, Governor footprints were found everywhere. In the past, Morton Governors achieved set goals and worked towards future ones. Through their accomplishments, students began to understand each other and some of the world's problems. The sands of yesterday have rolled on and the present is today. But the footprints, engraved in the past, still remain for now and the days to come.

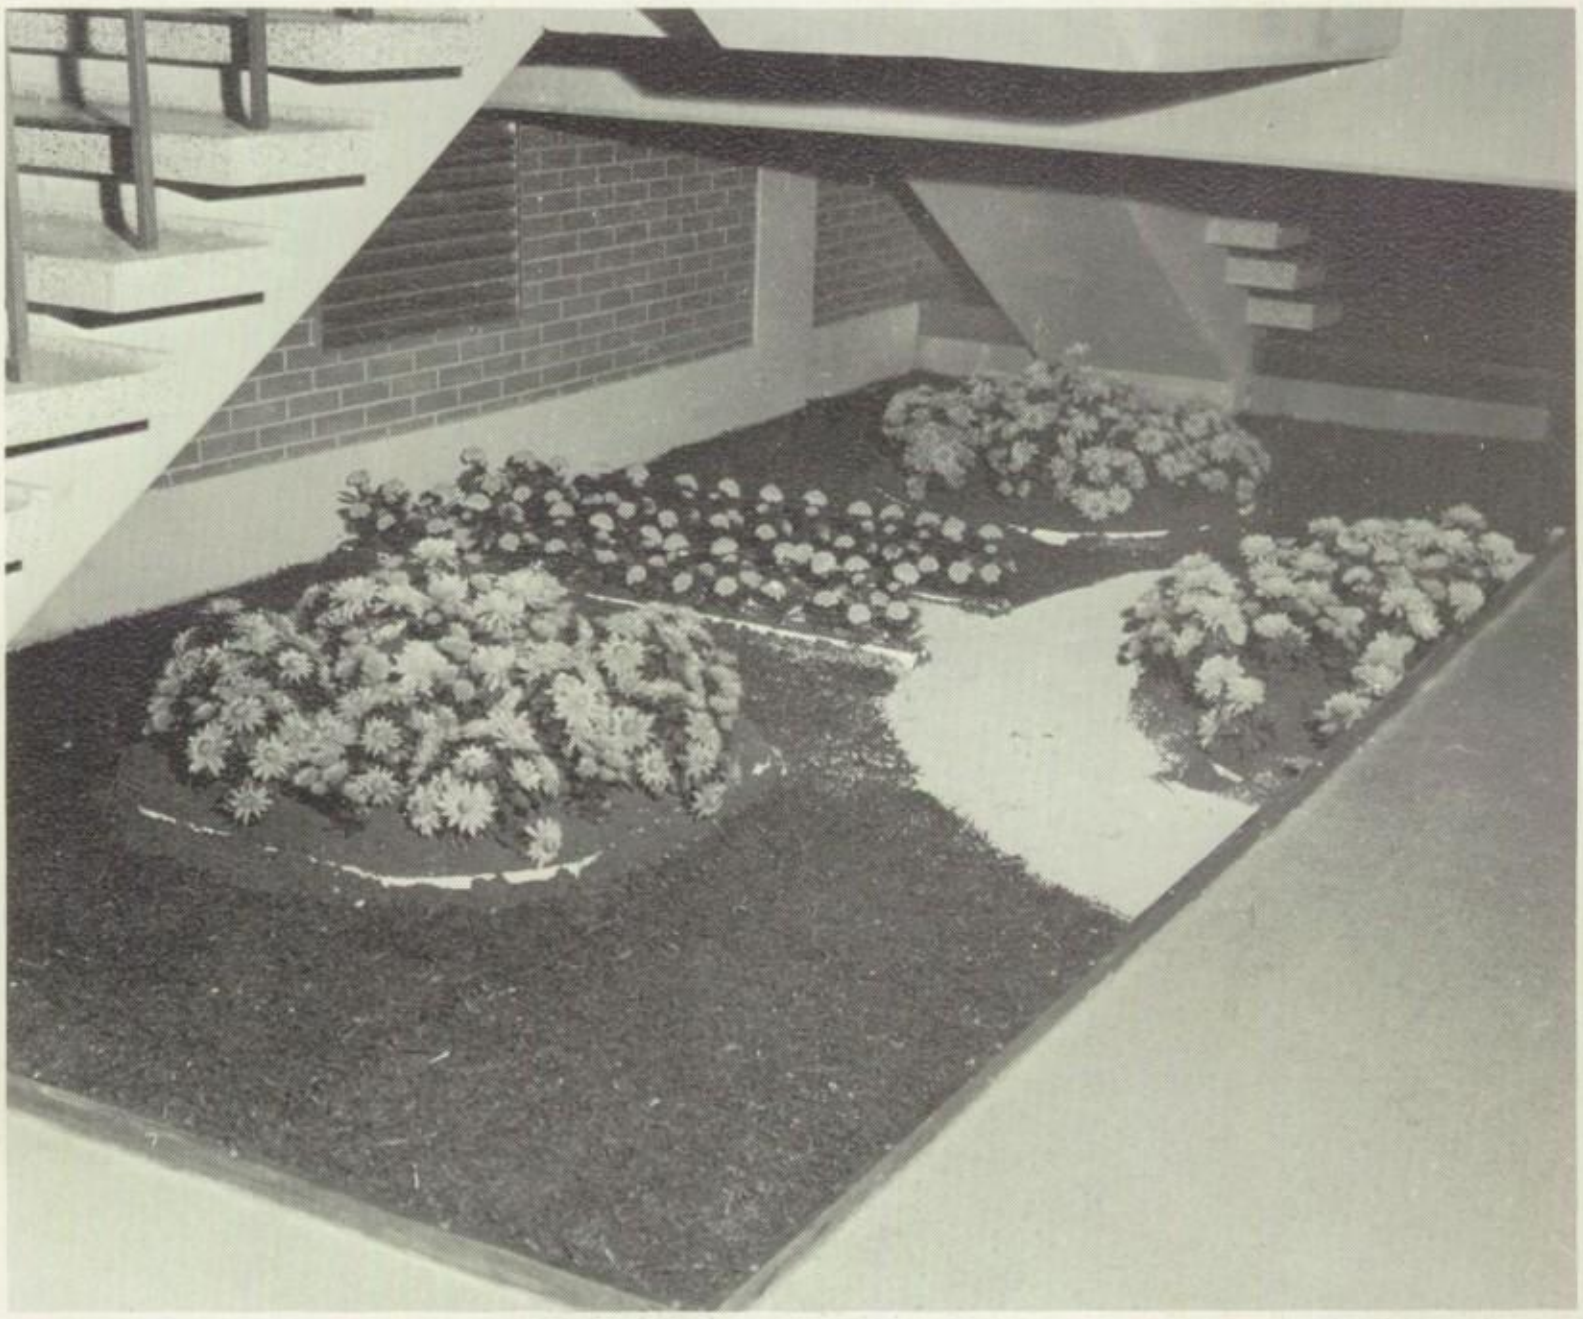
ON THE SANDS OF TODAY,
MHS students left their impression on the rapid changing world. Through school happenings, Governors untangled their inner confusions and pursued their goals. In accordance with new world achievements, Morton kept up with the pace in 1971. Seeking individualism and their own identity, students took part in their world at MHS. They decorated floats, researched for term papers and ran for touchdowns to "get it all together." Such events etched footprints in the students' world of today.



Under the balcony staircase this planter of artificial flowers enhances the auditorium's appearance.

ON THE SANDS OF TOMORROW
lie uncertainties, but the footprints of 1971 and earlier years will be future students' blueprints. Since the world is considered by many to be a "ball of confusion" who knows which way the earth is headed for tomorrow? This is a problem which will face future students of Morton Senior High School. MHS events of yesterday, today and tomorrow will be, if not already, frozen permanently on the sands of time as . . .

LAST YEAR'S QUEEN, Marsha Hunt, and Mr. Joseph Gartner prepare for the parade and evening festivities.

Homecoming festivities began this year with a pep assembly held in the football stadium October 2. Students cheered for a victory over Tech.

Leading the annual parade was the 1971 court and last year's queen, Marsha Hunt. Following the court were decorated floats, cars and trucks. The senior float portrayed a huge gorilla with the theme "Gov's Don't Monkey Around". The junior float consisted of a stork carrying a football and used the theme "We're Expecting A Victory". Homerooms and clubs displayed school spirit by participating in the parade with their entries.

During halftime ceremonies Vicki Vela was crowned queen by Marsha Hunt on the black Top Hat platform. She received a dozen roses and a kiss from Student Association President, David Boldt. He was dressed in the traditional top hat and tails. Vicki Vela, seated on her throne, received congratulations from fellow students as she reigned over the annual homecoming dance held in her honor.

Theatrical productions entertain, supply

Much hard work and preparation went into Morton's theater productions. Students learned stage techniques and gained experience while providing entertainment through plays for their audiences.

THE IMAGINARY INVALID, a comedy, told the story of a man with an array of feigned illnesses. The play amused while relating the effects of this man's ailments upon his close associates.

Morton also presented a children's play, THE EMPEROR'S NEW CLOTHES. This play concerned a king who loved magnificent clothes and suffered because of his want for regal garments.

THE GLASS MENAGERIE unfolded the story of a mother, her son and daughter, as remembered by her son. This was the last play of the school year produced by Morton's Top Hat Theatre.

Sets for LION IN WINTER and ANDROCLES AND THE LION were also designed by the theater department. Morton's auditorium housed these plays presented by outside organizations.

Due to lack of sufficient time and interest the Top Hat Theatre cancelled their annual spring musical. This play would have been OLIVER.

CONTEMPLATING HIS ILLNESSES, Monsieur Argan (Chuck Spornick), a hypochondriac, is the imaginary invalid.

PLEASED WITH HERSELF, Toninette (Lynn Fleischer) introduces Angelica (Stacy Lovin) and Cleante (Richard Gollner) in the comical play THE IMAGINARY INVALID.

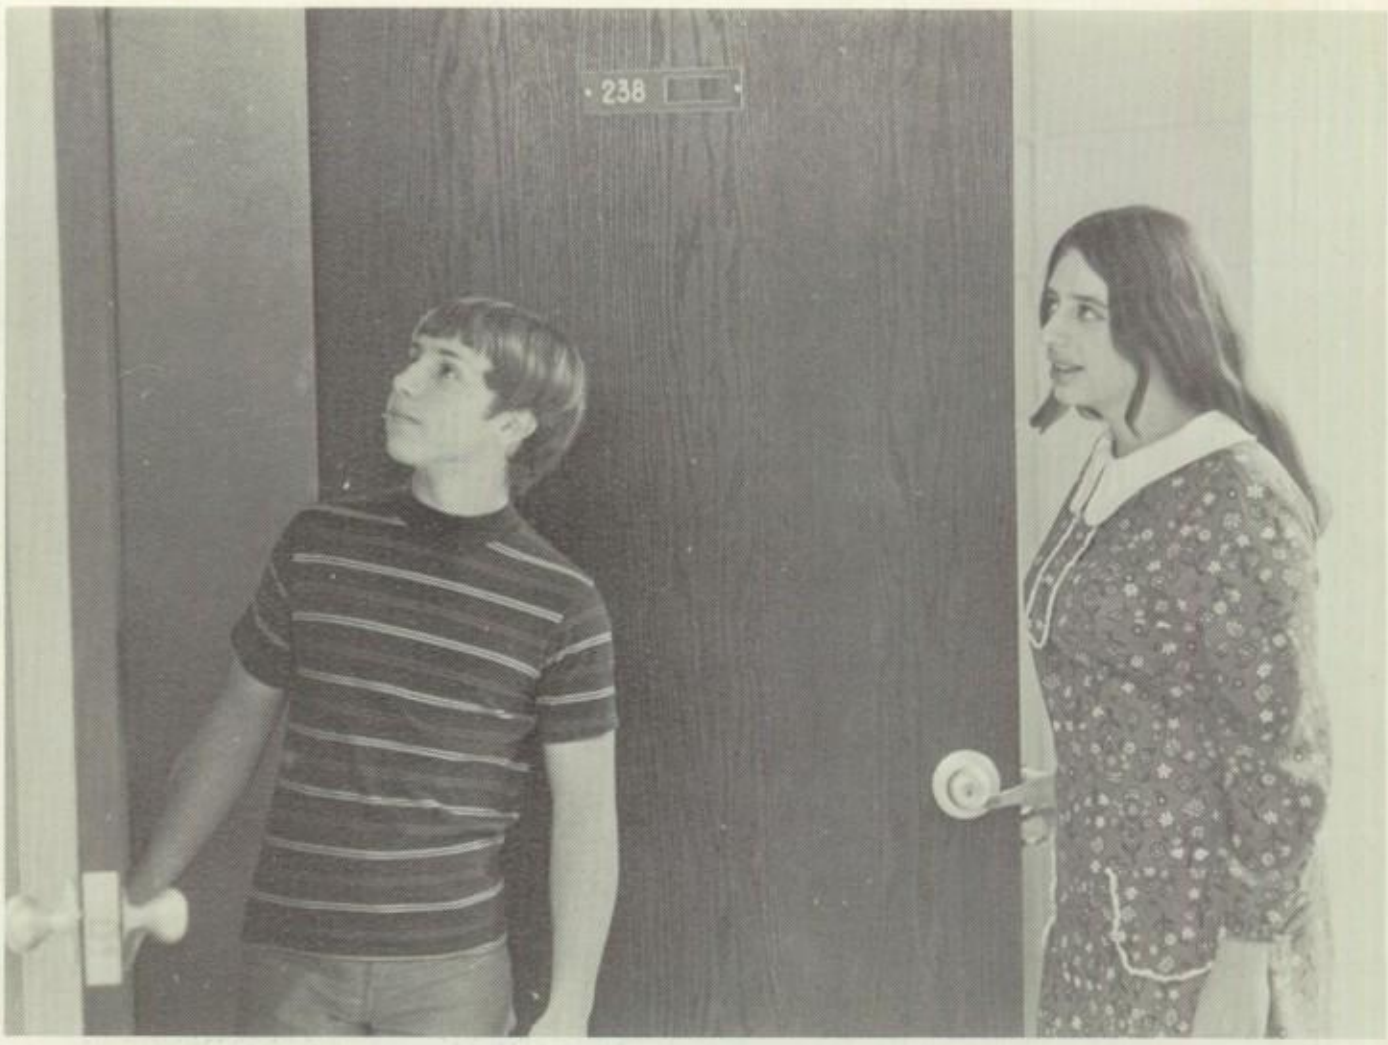
ABOUT TO BEGIN DINNER, Tom (Greg Hill) waits as Amanda (Donna Korlin) is seated by Jim (Ken Willison) in THE GLASS MENAGERIE.

WALTZING TO MUSIC, Laura (Pat Sandor) forgets about her handicap as she dances with Jim (Ken Willison).

MEMORIES ARE BROUGHT BACK as Laura (Pat Sandor) shows her mother (Donna Korlin) an old boyfriend.



PUZZLED AND BEWILDERED, freshmen Benjy Powers and Sue Keithley search for the room number that coincides with their schedules. This scene was typical of most freshmen.

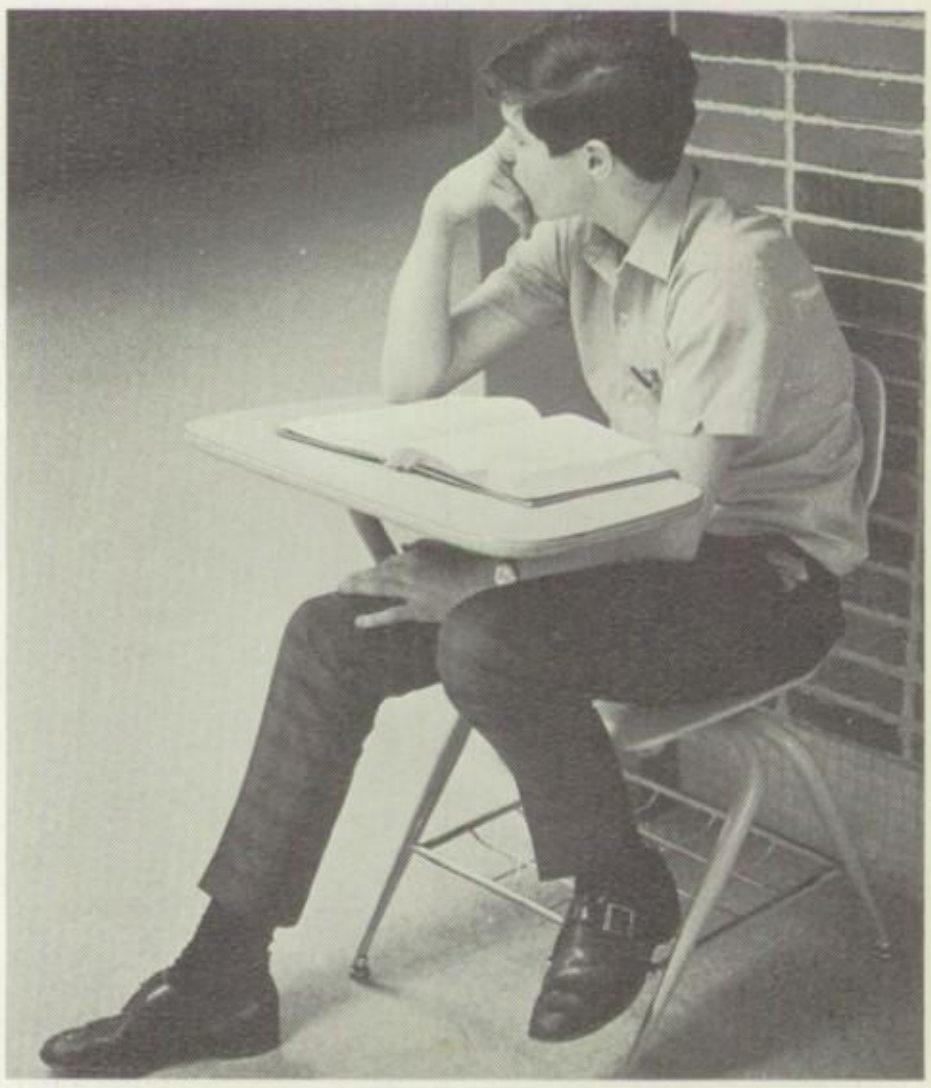
Orientation promotes interest in clubs

Sponsored by the Student Association, this year's orientation day was quite different in format compared to orientation of previous years.

Upon entering the auditorium the freshmen were seated alphabetically in their homeroom groups. Association representatives presented the students with the school song and constitution.

Principal W. W. Becker welcomed the pupils and gave a short speech about school policies. Mr. Ruff informed the students on disciplinary actions. Dave Boldt, Student Association President, gave a speech centered mainly on Morton's student government and the problems that this group can solve. He urged the freshmen to not only join clubs but to be active participants in school activities.

Mr. Chidester, Guidance Department Chairman, explained scheduling procedures and program changes. The cheerleaders acquainted the frosh with governor spirit by performing three cheers including the school song and "Hey Gang." To close the program the frosh received a tour of the school to enable them to locate their homerooms.



TAKING A BREAK from his studies, frosh Andy Coulter performs his dtuies as hall monitor in his first year.

MHS students adopt new dress guide

At the students' request, a committee of selected parents, students and faculty members assembled during the summer to revise the dress code.

Abolishment of a formal dress code was the outcome of the session. The decision of the committee was to set up a dress guide with few restrictions. This enabled students to wear the current fashions and styles. However, cleanliness and neatness were still advised in the students' dress.

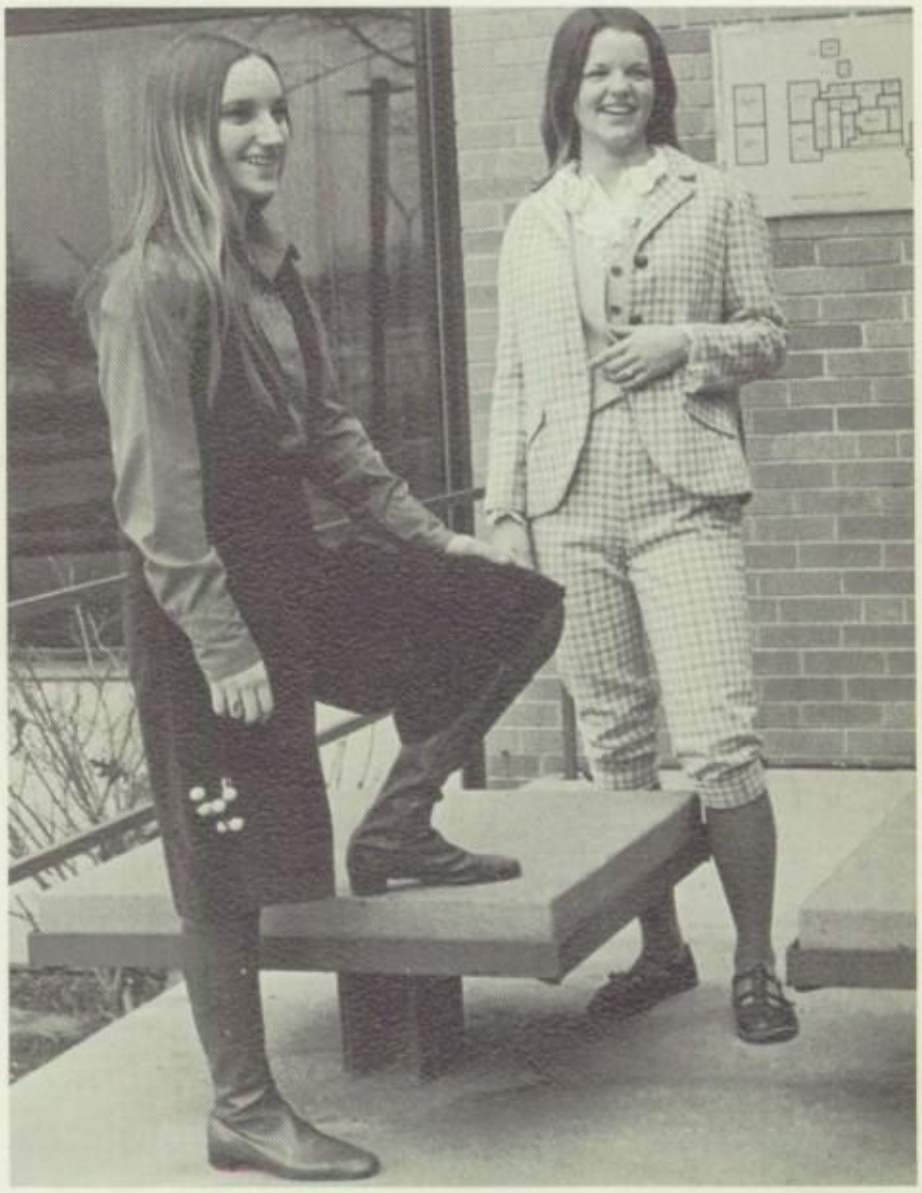
According to the guide, footwear has to be worn for health purposes. Shirt tails are to be tucked in and pants with rivets are not allowed.

Girl's appeared in pant suits, shorts and bell bottomed jeans. Dresses and skirts were of varying lengths. These included the mini, maxi and the midi. Gauchos, worn with boots, and knickers played an added role in the girl's apparel.

Some of the popular fads this year included suede coats and vests with fringe, Charlie Brown shoes, hot pants and embroidered patches on jeans.

JEANS, MAXIS, AND MIDIS are a sample of girls' school apparel since the adoption of the new dress guide. Comparing outfits are D. Williams, P. Silaghi and W. Fletcher.

FLARES AND LATEST STYLED SHIRTS typify boys' fashions. Tom Bertagnolli and Bill Takacs wear the casual-look.



GAUCHOS AND KNICKERS, a favorite attire throughout Morton, are modeled by Monica Gasper and Cyndee Rathbun.

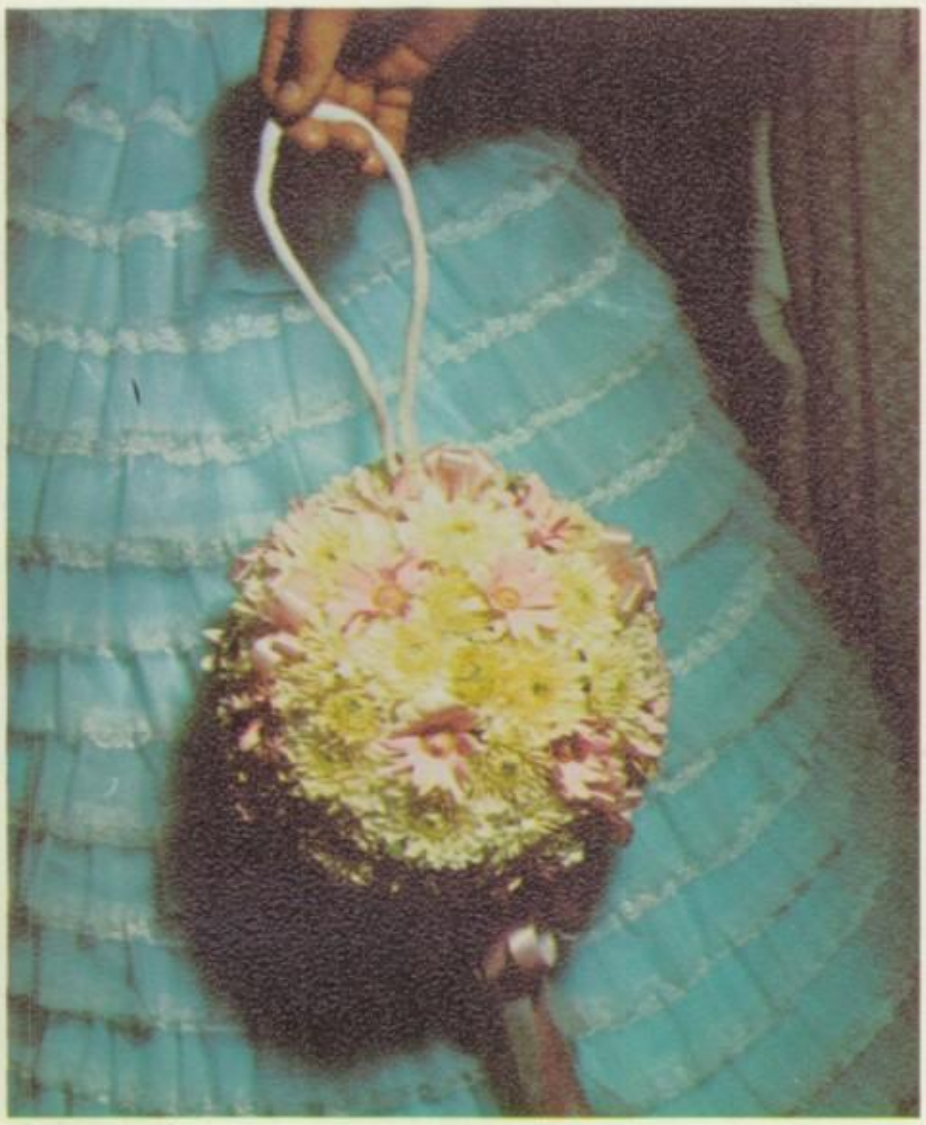
atmosphere amid 'Lollipops and Roses'



Returning to a previous tradition the 1971 Junior-Senior Prom was held in the school cafeteria and commons. Months of planning and hard work by juniors, parents and class sponsors made the night of May 29 one to be long remembered.

Couples, dressed in tuxedoes and formal attire, crossed over a bridge decorated with flowers to enter a fantasy land of "Lollipops and Roses." An outdoor garden setting and a life-size tree garnished with colorful lollipops and roses illustrated the selected theme. Bob Wilson and his orchestra provided the music from 8 to 12 midnight.

Following the prom, couples attended the after-prom party at San Remo's Restaurant in Griffith. This portion of the prom festivities was sponsored by junior class parents. Couples "broke loose" and danced to the music of Ask Rufus, a soul-rock group until 4 a. m. All prom-goers received tokens of remembrance of the evening.

To conclude their prom weekend, couples headed for beaches, zoos, museums and amusement parks on the following Sunday morning.

PLEASED WITH THE HONOR of being selected Morton's Boys' State representatives are seniors John Clifton, Dave Boldt, Rick Komar, and Rich Davis. Delegates participated in the operation of their own government.

NATIONAL POETRY PRESS CONTEST WINNERS are special education students David Legg, Fernando Martinez, and Susan Vlaisavich. They each received a certificate stating that their poems had been accepted for publication in ANTHOLOGY YOUNG AMERICA SINGS, which is a collection of poems.

GOVERNMENTAL FUNCTIONS were analyzed by Del Szyndrowski at a summer workshop. Government Club sponsored her stay at Mount Vernon Junior College.

CHOSEN TO ATTEND Hoosier Girls' State are delegates Carol Sadewasser, Sue Hatfield, and Barb Vanes. They studied government principles at Indiana University for a week.

OUTSTANDING EXAMPLE of good citizenship is Carol Sadewasser, DAR award recipient. The social studies department named her as winner on the basis of dependability and leadership qualities.

WITH A GOOD CAUSE IN MIND, Community Chest representatives Debbie Klisurich, Phil Rovy (chairman), Lois Smith, Jim Kayden, and Michelle Kik (chairman) get together to contribute to this year's annual fund raising drive.

Pupils receive sports, academic honors;

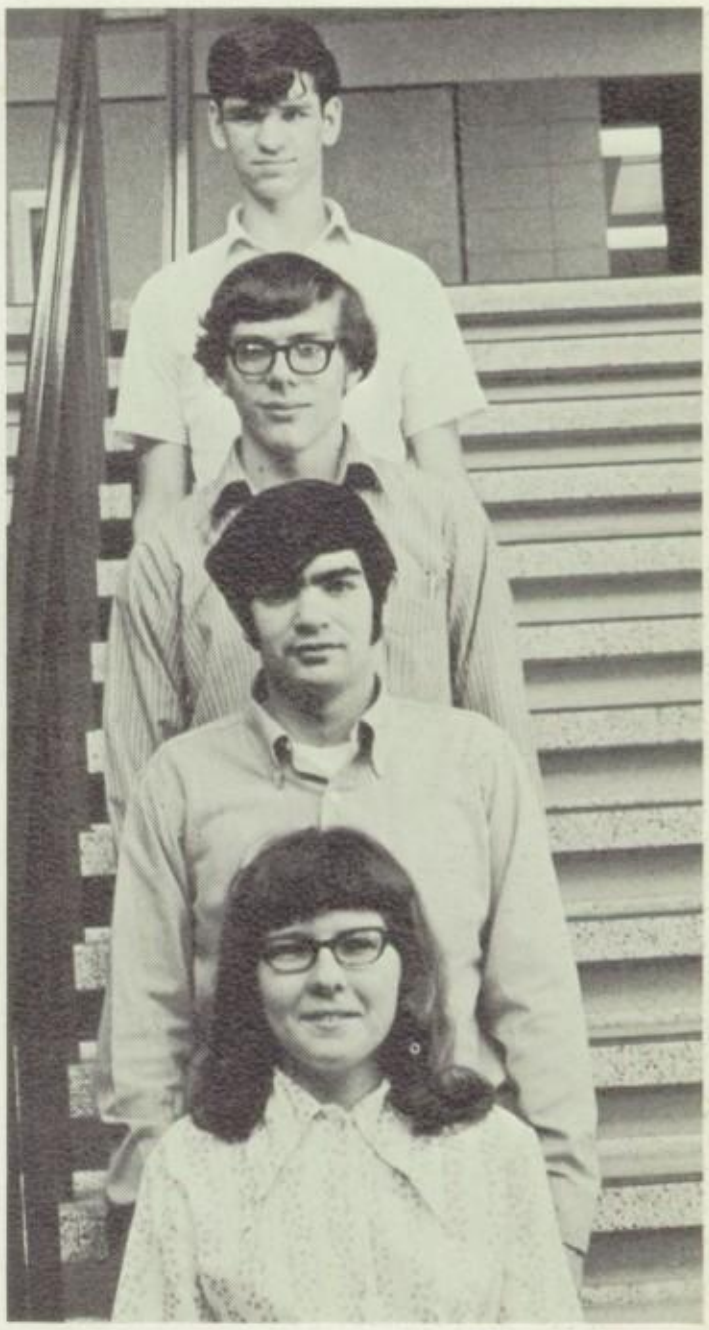
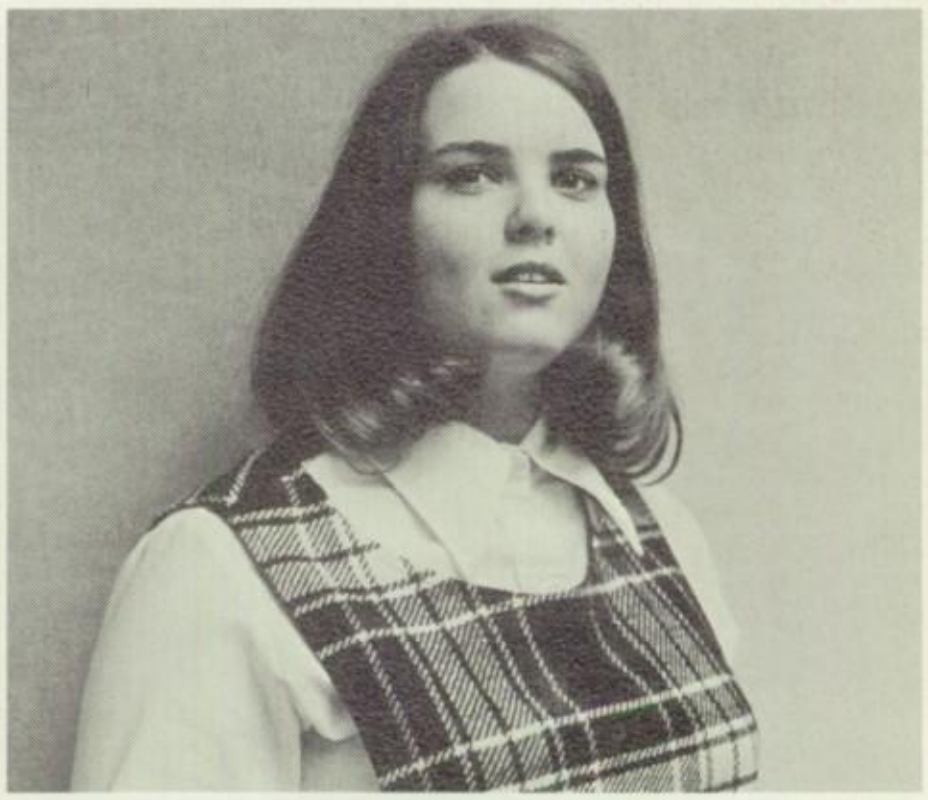
TWO WEEKS AT I.U. were spent by co-editors Margi Payton and Sue Hatfield, studying and learning the mechanics of a yearbook.



SCIENCE INSTITUTE PARTICIPANTS— BOTTOM TO TOP: seniors L. Minard, D. DeRosa, G. Krucina, and J. Summerlott. Lorraine attended Northwestern, Dennis went to Purdue, and John and Gary visited I.U.

AS A WINNER of the Wrangler Jeans' contest junior Franny Longawa reviews historical facts for her European tour.



TO GAIN ARTISTIC KNOW-HOW was Joyce Nichol's purpose of attending a High School Artists' Conference at I.U.

Patriotism sets pace for Inaugural Ball

"Hope—Present and Future" was the theme of this year's Inaugural Ball held on November 21. Innovations were made to create a livelier atmosphere in the school cafeteria. Red, white, and blue streamers and flags decorated the walls along with murals and posters. An 11 foot papier mache Statue of Liberty, designed by Morton graduate Jacob Roquet, was the center of attraction on the dance floor. American shields and marshmallows with miniature flags in them decorated the tables. For refreshments a variety of hor d'oeurves were served instead of the routine cookies and punch.

Breaking away from ball-room music, the Dontays, a modern rock group, played "now" songs. During one of the band's breaks a candlelight ceremony, lead by the association president and conducted with help from the cabinet and class officers, took place to symbolize faith and hope in America.

This year the Student Association proposed that all types of evening wear would be acceptable at the Ball. The boys wore suits while the girls had their choice of either minis, midis or maxis.

SPECIALLY DESIGNED Statue of Liberty, constructed by a Morton graduate, serves as the center of attraction at the 1970 Inaugural Ball. The affair was held in the cafeteria and honored the new members and officers of the association.

PREPARED FOR THE CANDLELIGHT CEREMONY before the inauguration are association officers Barb Vanes, recorder, with escort Tom Bertagnolli; Laura Skorupa with Dave Boldt, president; and Barb Bond with Rich Davis, vice-president.

DRESSED IN WHITE, Morton boosters unite to root for a victory. A time out calls for pep talks from the coaches and for cheerleaders to shout "Battle Cry." MHS won the Sportsmanship Trophy for their performance during the sectionals.

Governors nab sportsmanship trophy

Following the completion of Hammond Sectional activity for 1971, Morton acquired the Sportsmanship Trophy. The Governors competed with Clark, Gavit, Hammond High, Highland, Munster, Tech, and Whiting for the coveted spirit award.

Midwest Industries annually awards the trophy to the school that generates the best overall spirit during sectionals. A scholarship was also given to a deserving student who actively participated in sports activities. Morton previously received the honor of winning the trophy in 1962.

Students displayed their individual spirit in various ways. Posters depicting support of the team could be seen throughout the school. Loyal Governors purchased beanies and class buttons and also wore school and class colors on specified days.

Classes were judged according to the amount of spirit shown at pep rallies, games, and other activities related to sectionals. The juniors were chosen as the most spirited class. They were justly rewarded by having their "head" placed on the top of the totem pole. The juniors were followed by the freshmen, sophomores, and seniors.

ADMIRING THE SPORTSMANSHIP TROPHY is senior Sue Hatfield, winner of a $100 scholarship for her active participation in sports activities. The trophy was awarded to Morton for the attitude displayed throughout sectionals.

supply enjoyment for Morton students

Sponsoring the first assembly of the year, the senior class presented the candidates for the 1970-71 homecoming queen and her court.

In order to support the school newspaper, the Mortonite staff members put on the skit "As the Page Turns" to boost their magazine drive.

Directed by Mr. Edwards, the theatre department presented a play, "The Bald Soprano."

Principal W. Winston Becker administered the oath of office to newly elected Student Association President David Boldt, at the traditional Inaugural Assembly held in the gymnasium.

Trying to exceed last year's goal, the annual Community Chest Drive assembly urged students to contribute. Students participated in class rivalry to win a top spot on the totem pole.

Telling his past experience of being a drug addict, Mr. David Ledcke spoke at the assembly on drug abuse. He stressed the dangers of drugs to students. This statewide presentation was sponsored by the Indiana State Police Drug Abuse Program.

Mr. Ted Bumillei presented the students with a colorful and a cultural look at Spain.

Showing students the problems of pollution the new Ecology Club presented the film "Too Thick to Navigate, Too Thin to Cultivate."

ENGROSSED IN THE MORNING PAPER is Mr. Smith (Greg Hill) in the Top Hat Theater production, "The Bald Soprano."

closing ceremonies

Members of the class of '71 were the first freshmen to occupy the new Morton High School. They became the first class to complete four full years in the multi-million dollar complex.

Senior Executive Board members voted to hold a senior skating party at the Twilight Rink in Griffith. Because of the success of this party, a second party was held soon after the first.

Under the supervision of the class sponsors, Mrs. Hetterscheidt and Mr. Alexander, the annual senior banquet was held in the cafeteria. Morton's folk singers, the Wayfarers provided the entertainment. Contrary to previous years, there were no guest speakers. Donna Korlin and Barb Bond revealed the opinions of the classmates through the senior superlatives. Paula Swanson, Kathy White and Rich Davis read the class prophecy.

The Reverend McQuire of the Meadow Lane Baptist Church presided at the June 6 baccalaureate; June 10 marked the date of graduation. Father Doody of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church delivered the invocation. Sue Hatfield gave the valedictorian speech. Rich Davis represented all of the co-salutatorians. Other Co-salutatorians were Russell Friend, Sherry Lovvorn, Carol Sadewasser and Barb Vanes. Dr. Albert Kaye, Board of Education member, directed the presentation of diplomas.

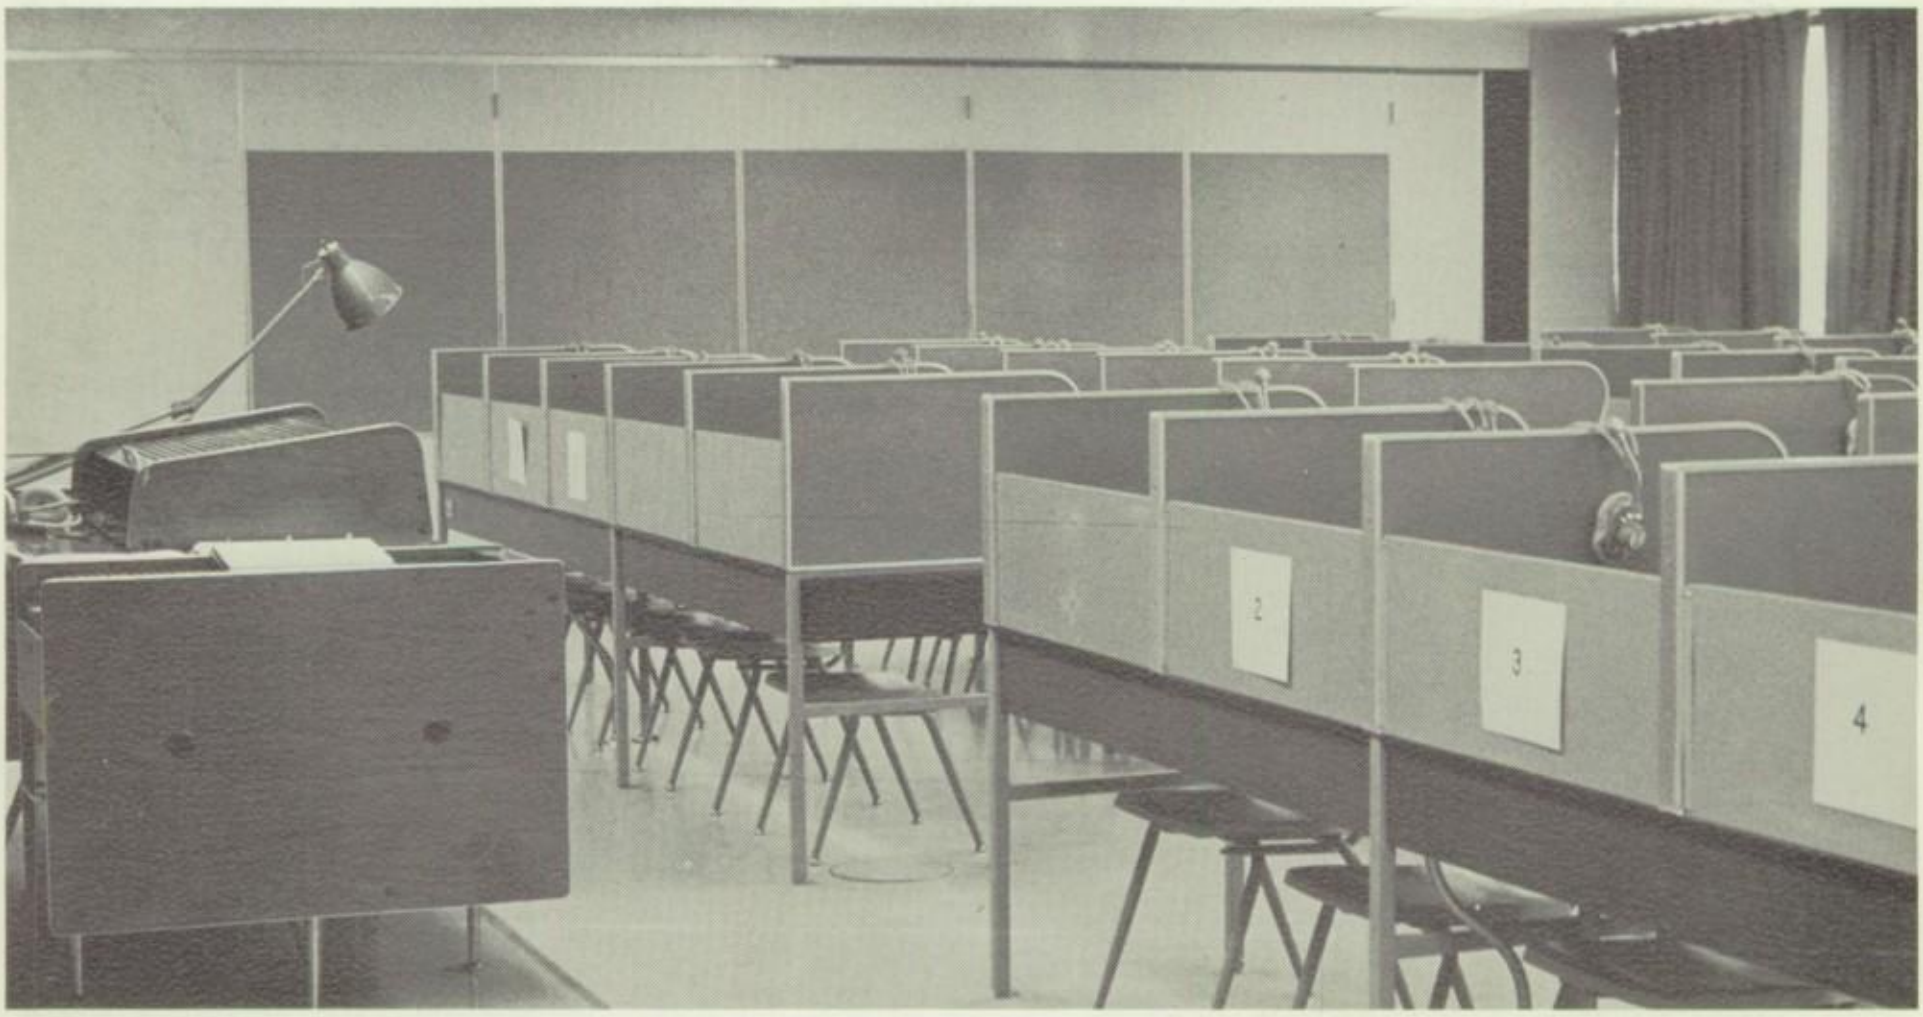
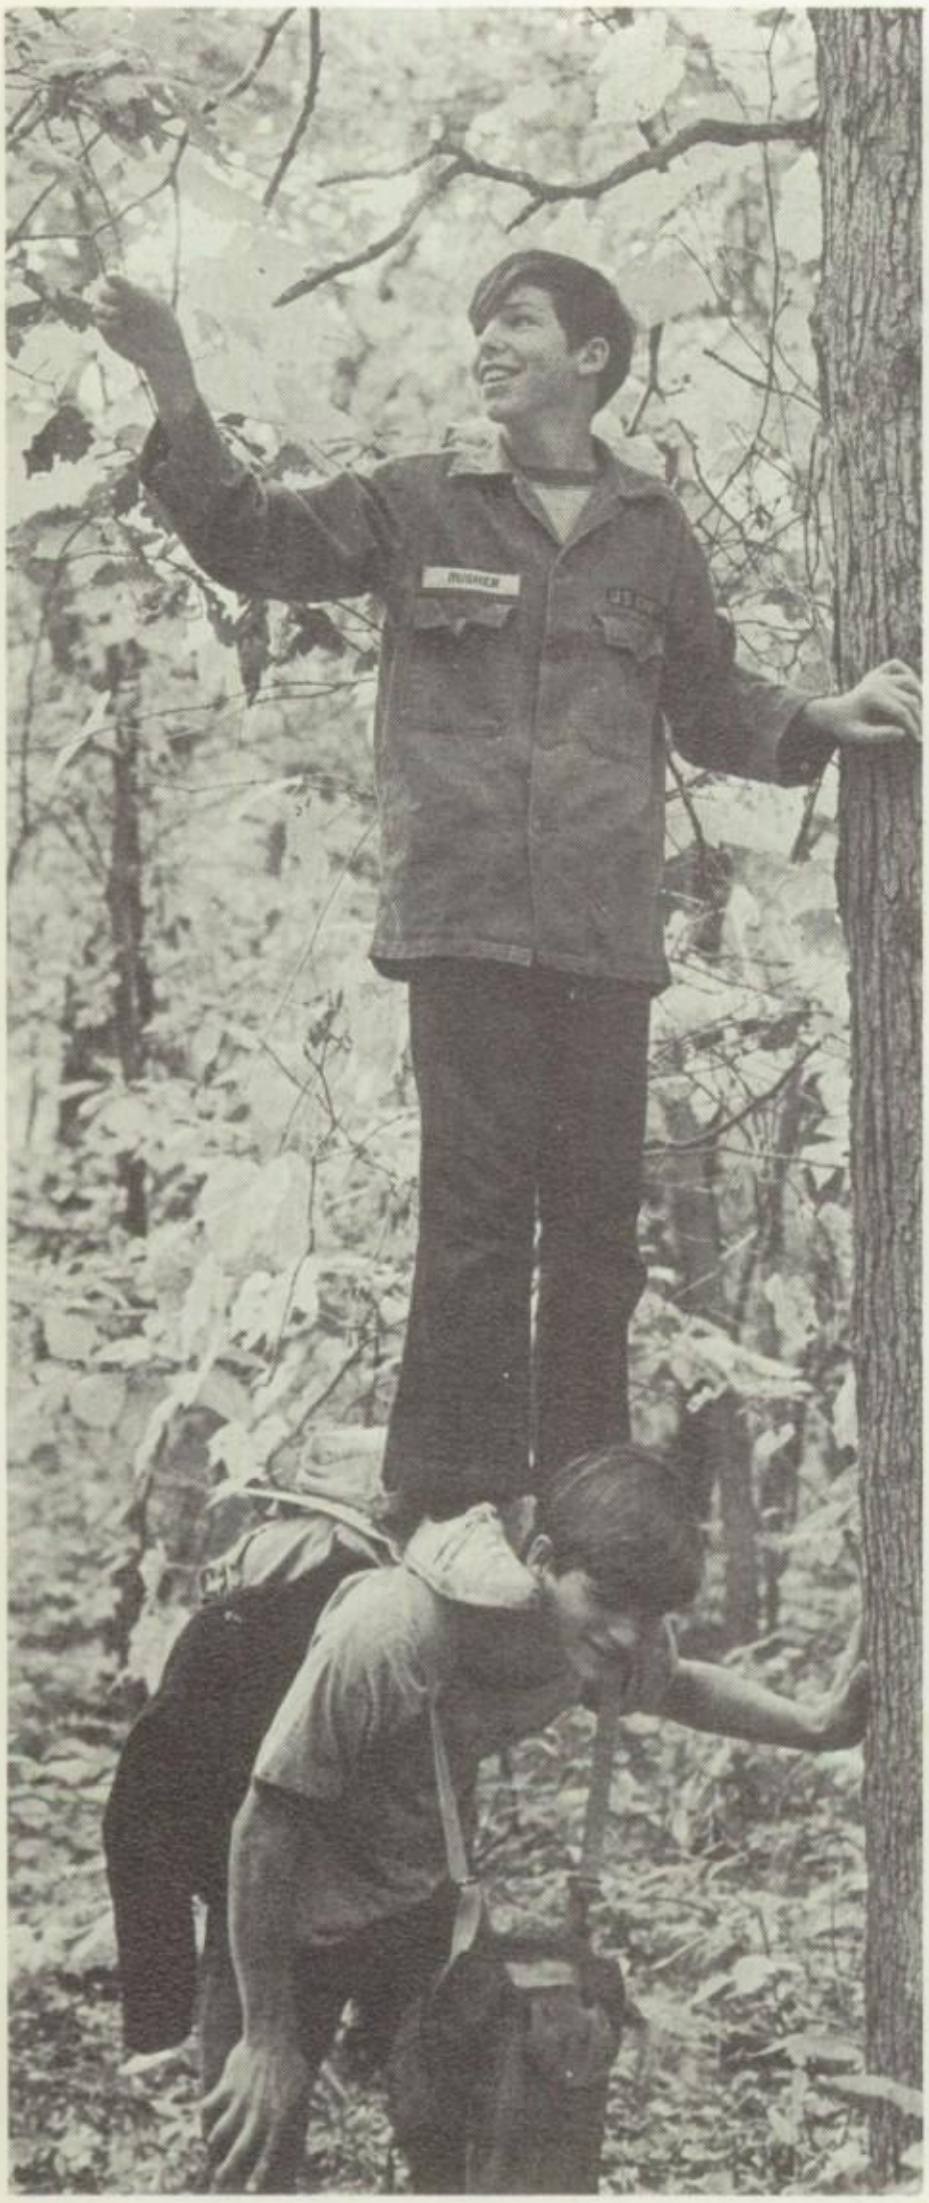
Academic achievements in speech contests, journalistic endeavors, science fairs and art exhibits left footprints in the minds of students and on school records. Avid students spent much time and effort in classrooms and on after-school assignments, while receiving invaluable knowledge and the challenge to improve. As students progressed through the year they tried to surpass the footprints of yesterday and leave a blueprint for tomorrow in . . .

ACADEMICS

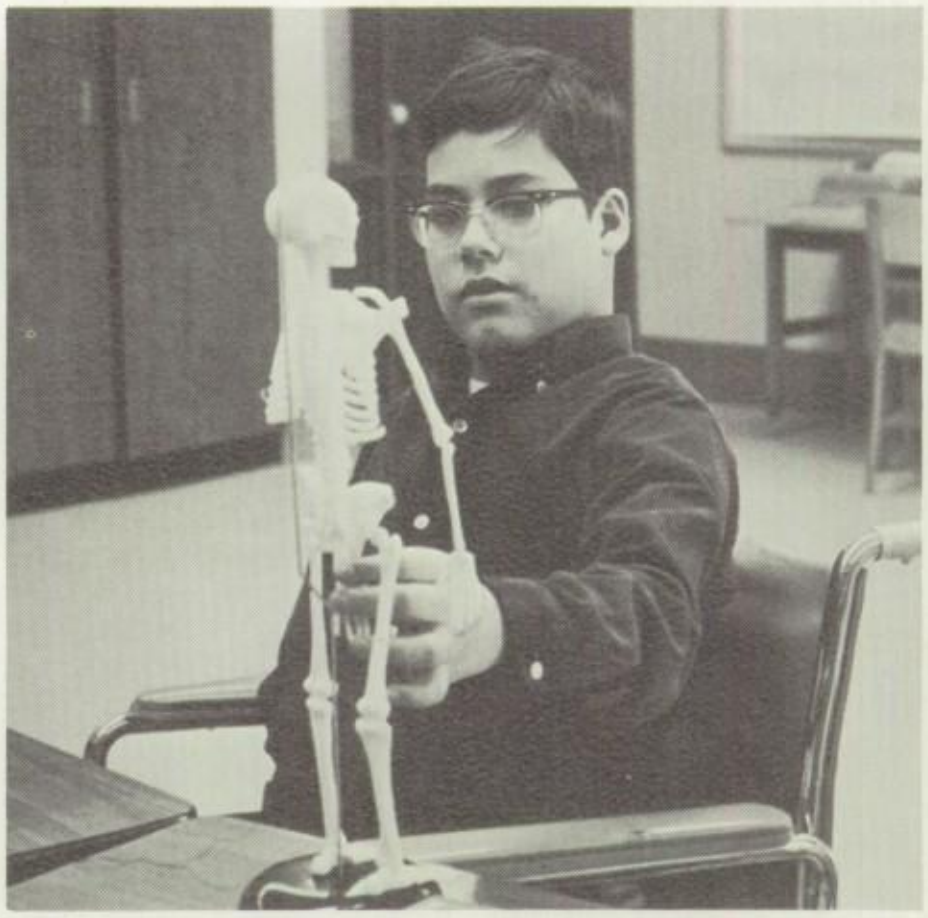


Foreign language lab enables students to excel in areas of diction and pronunciation.

Biology classes participate in ecological



GIVING A LIFT, Jim Josway aids Steve Rusher as he collects leaves during a field trip at Dunes State Park.



MR. BONES is studied by Fernando Martinez. This skeletal structure was used in the study of Health and Safety.

ELECTROSTATIC ELECTRICITY is produced in an experiment performed by Penny Ferris and Bob Frak in physics.

study, exploration of Dunes State Park

LEONARD THE GERBIL runs a maze with the help of Terry Sweeny. This experiment applied to psychology class.

Trudging through the Indiana State Dunes Park, biology students gathered samples of dirt and sand and different types of insects. After returning to school the students correlated classroom and lab sessions with the field trip.

Biology students concerned themselves with the characteristics, organization, and the functions of life. During experiments students had the opportunity to use such equipment as microscopes, Bunsen burners, test tubes, and dissecting tools.

Chemistry and physics classes advanced to a more specialized instruction. Dealing with such forces as pressure, friction, and gravity, physics students solved problem situations occurring in their environment. Through experimentation chemistry students examined the structure of substances, chemical reactions and equations.

Gerbils were substituted for people in a classical conditioning experiment in psychology classes. Classroom knowledge was frequently related to everyday happenings in student life.

Health and Safety students explored the basic functions and fundamentals of the human anatomy. The Health and Safety class was the basis for the more advanced science classes.

NOTING EACH DETAIL, juniors Jean Hendrix and Donna Eichelberger carefully observe seniors Fred Stover and Don McCormik as they experiment with an oxygen gas generator. Many such experiments are required in chemistry classes.

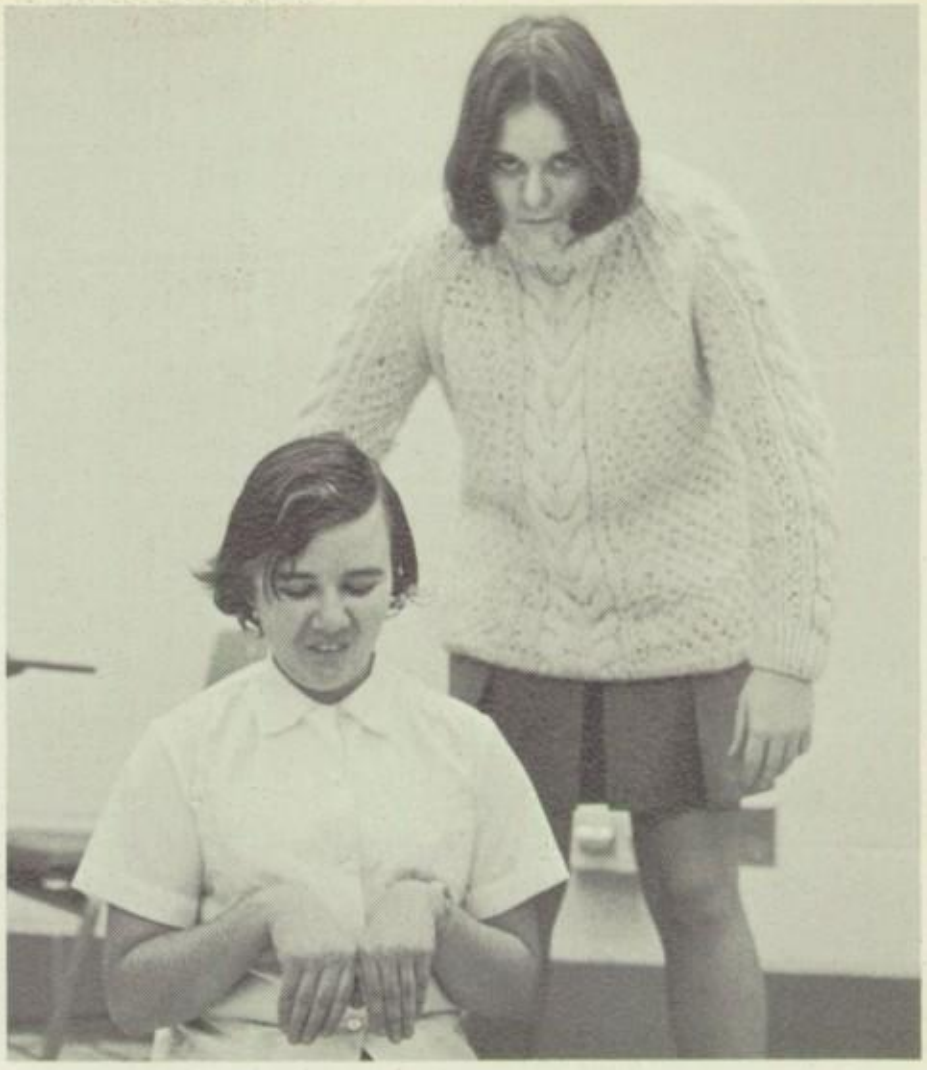
Journalism trains future staff members

STYLES OF WRITING are sought by junior Lynette Wildermuth and sophomore LouAnne Anderson as they browse through and study back issues of THE MORTONITE.

LIBRARY RESEARCH BOOKS prove beneficial to freshman Sue Maliziola as she selects one to aid her in writing a report. Many different types of books are available.

CREATIVE WRITING is practiced by junior Alexis Ben as she writes an English V theme explaining the painting.

ZORBA THE GREEK is performed by Tom Goldschmidt and Dave Spitzer. This dance tied in with Greek literature studied in World Literature. A Greek student teacher supervised.



TO RESEMBLE ANIMALS in a zoo are the goals of freshmen Theresa Koch and Sue Lichtenhan in Dramatics. In order to learn new stage techniques, students put on small skits.

Themes, speeches, skits spur activity

Individual interpretation characterized presentations given by Morton English students. Skits were representative of original ideas while students expressed personal views through the composition of themes and speeches.

During the first two years underclassmen became acquainted with the close relationship between the written word and the spoken idea. Freshmen familiarized themselves with Shakespeare's poetry as they memorized lines from "Romeo and Juliet."

Sophomores learned the fundamentals of good oral presentations. Students practiced public speaking as they entertained their classmates with persuasive, humorous, or demonstrative speeches.

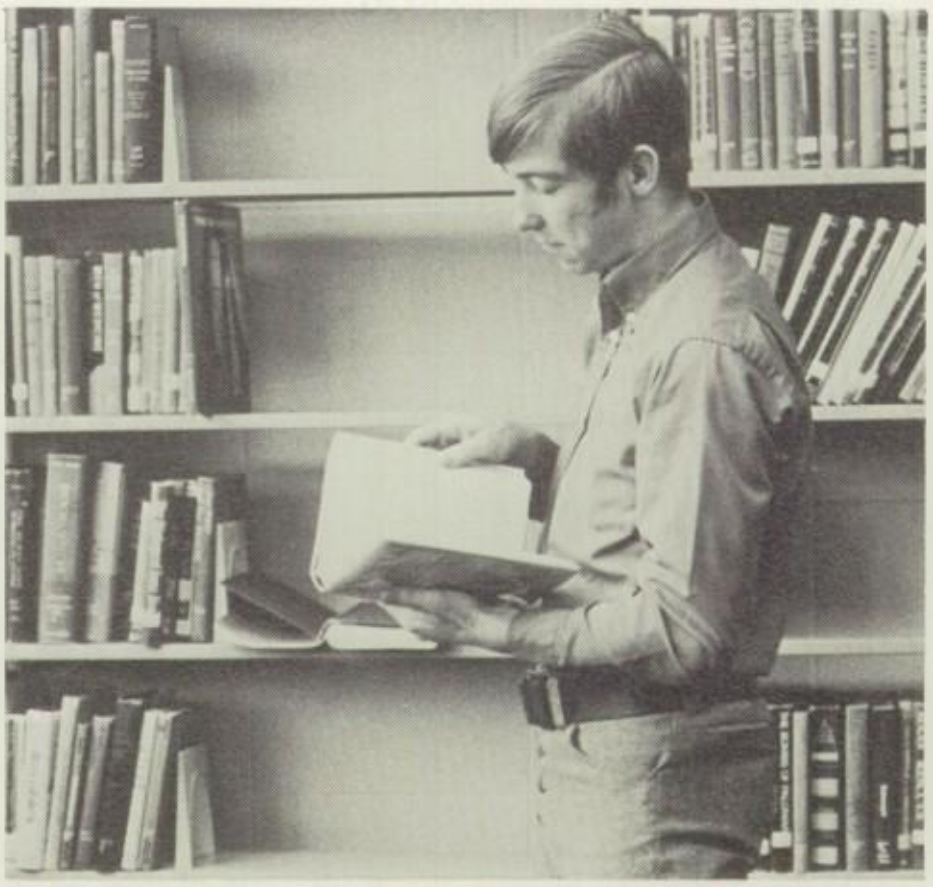
American literary works and authors interested students in junior English. A comprehensive study of Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter" provided students with a background of early American writing.

Those who wished to expand their literary knowledge of foreign countries took World Literature. Seniors were also offered an English Literature course, a study of English authors.

In dramatics and speech classes students expressed themselves through verbal presentations, while journalism classes focused on writing.

ATTEMPTS TO COMMUNICATE a feeling are made by Pat Sandor as she vigorously describes a mobile to her classmates.

Discussion of world

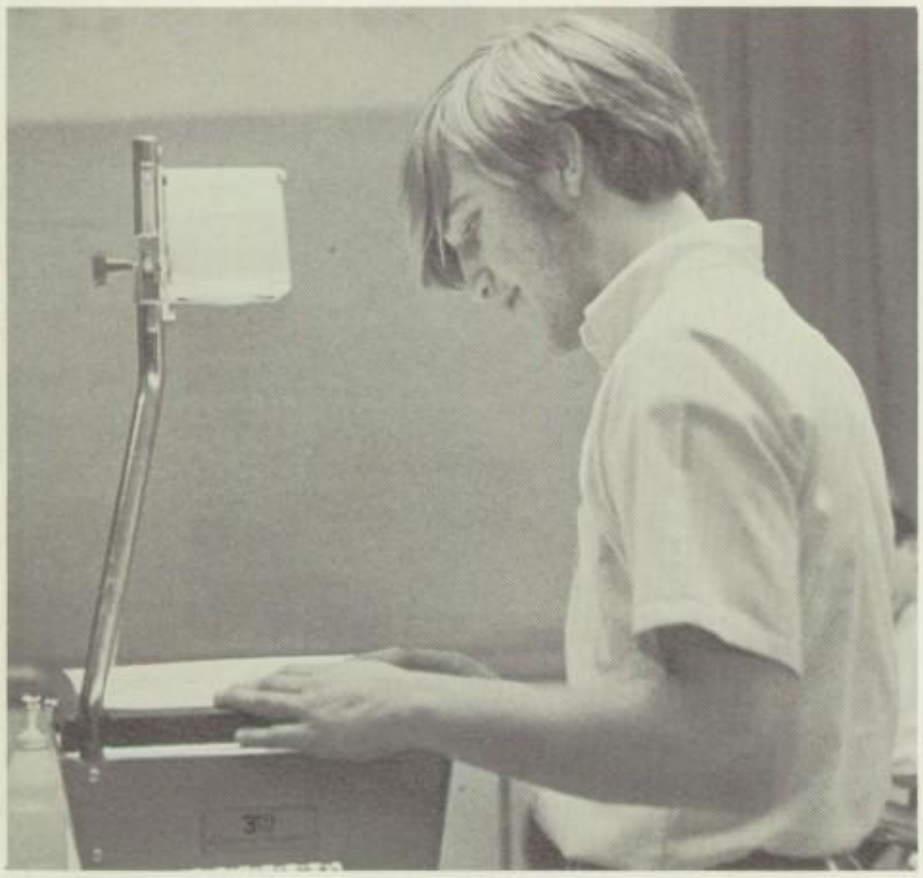


USING REFERENCE BOOKS, senior Bob Smith studies material he needs for a discussion in U.S. History IV. This class dealt with both national and foreign issues.

DEFINITE STYLE CHANGES are demonstrated in a U.S. history skit as juniors Sharon Creekmore and Lorraine Grenda discuss the pros and cons of women's liberation.

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL provides senior Jay Zaremba with an opportunity to study the stock market. Econ classes also dealt with other aspects of the economy.

events creates interest in social studies



TO ENLARGE AN ASSIGNMENT on the wall so that it can be viewed by the class, junior geography student Randy Mitchell makes use of an overhead projector.

Application of history to timely topics stirred interest in social studies. An off-year election stimulated student participation in political discussions about current problems and solutions.

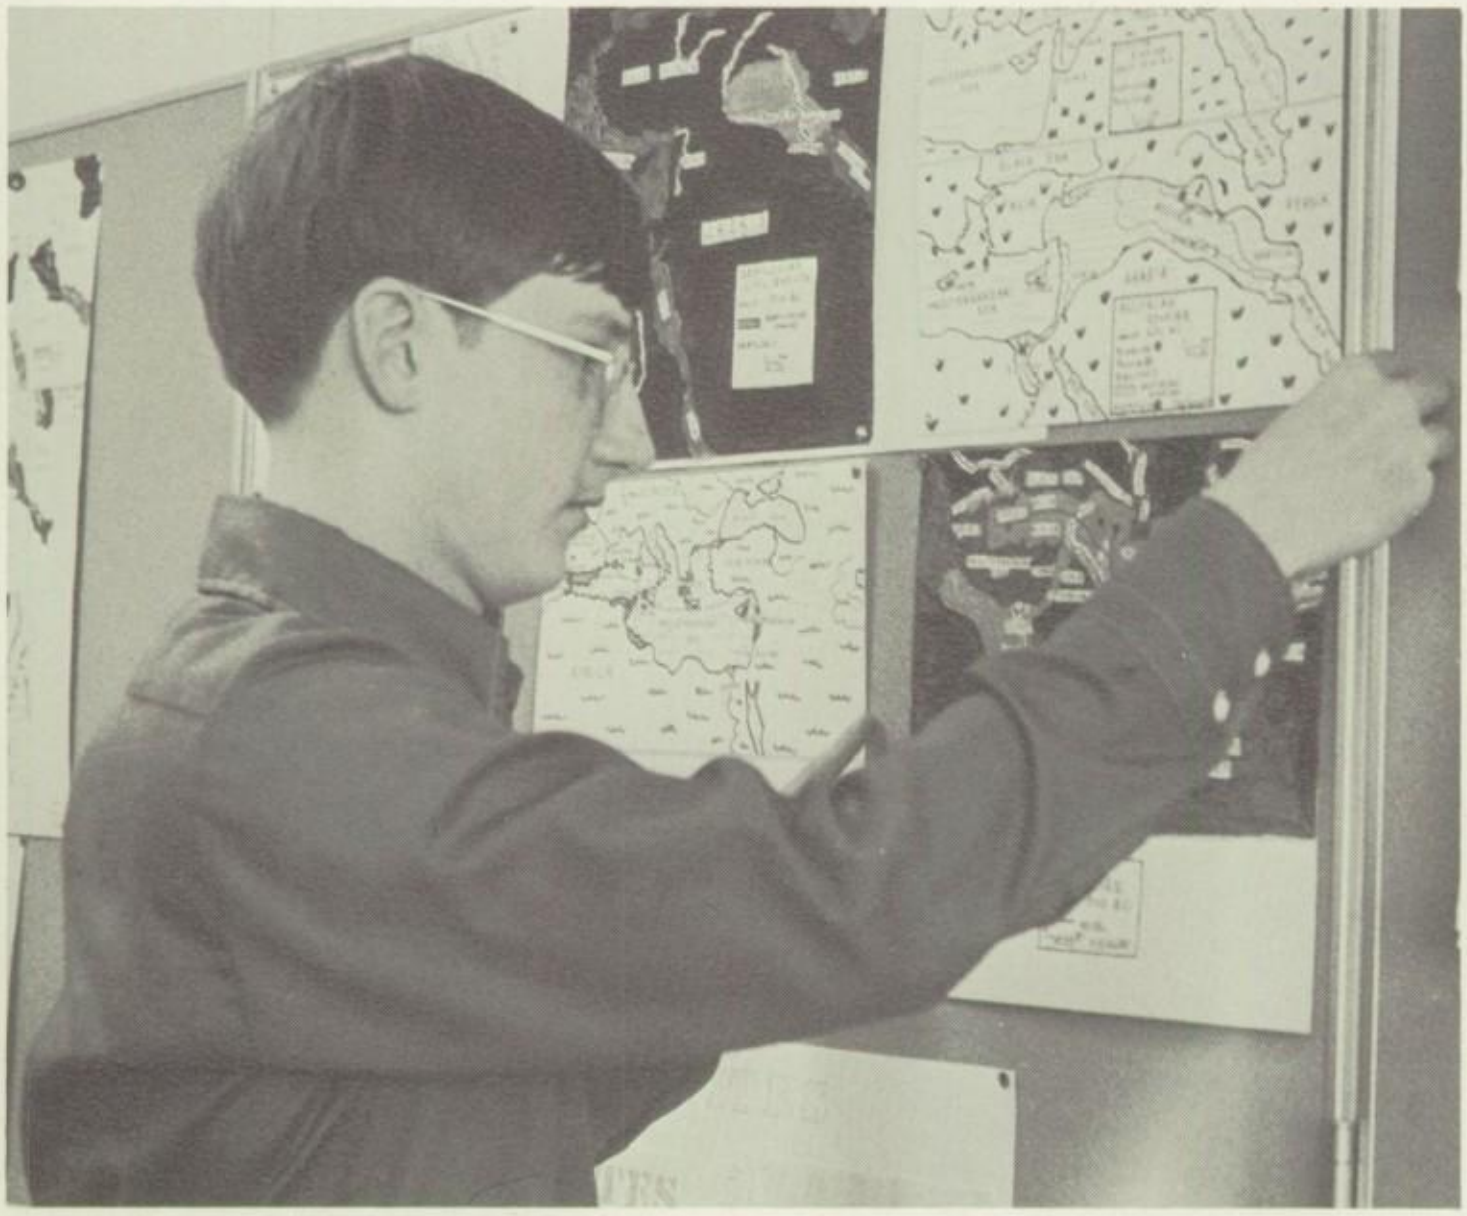
Geography, an elective course, delved into both the economic and physical features of the various continents and countries of the world.

Ancient civilizations were studied by world history students. By learning about our ancestors, pupils began to understand how our present-day mode of existence evolved through the ages.

United States history dealt with all the events that made our country what it is today. Students illustrated different aspects of early and modern life in America through skits. World issues comprised discussions in advanced U.S. history.

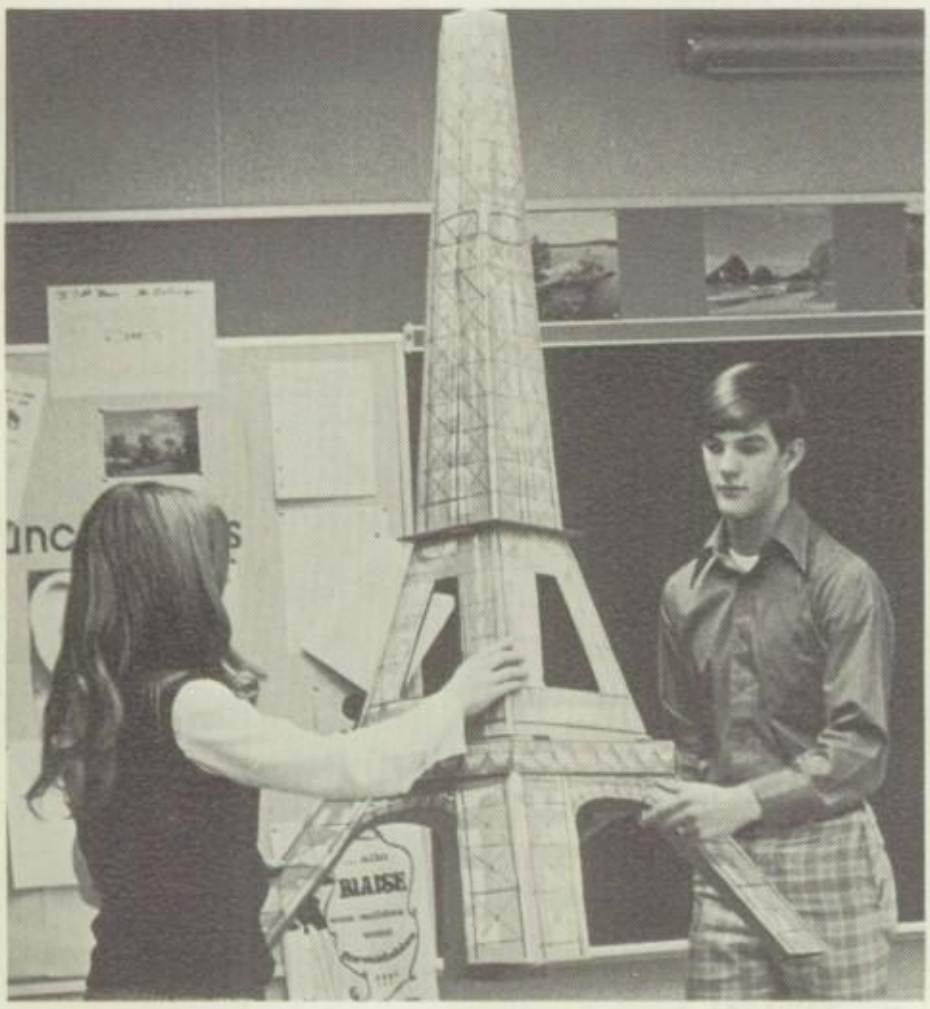
Government, studied on local, state, and federal levels, enabled students to acquaint themselves with the political system which has been in effect in our country for almost 200 years.

Economics classes analyzed the stock market and the rising cost of living. With simulated money, students invested in various stocks. Through this project they learned how to apply their knowledge of the American economy to everyday life.



DISTANT COUNTRIES were illustrated in maps drawn by World History students. Tim Trissler exhibits his map.

I LOVE YOU is said by the two little people in the poster being admired by German V students Kim Messenger and Jeff Ryckman. The picture, drawn by former German student Denise Ward, was an enjoyable part of all German classes.



FRANCE'S EIFFEL TOWER is depicted in the model held by Laurie Lessie and Chuck Baxley. The cardboard imitation helped create an atmosphere suited for a French III class.

PAST AND PRESENT blend together as early Romans, freshmen Debbie Karalas and Pam Crowe, listen to tapes. Students in Latin I studied Roman customs as well as the language.

Language lab enriches communication

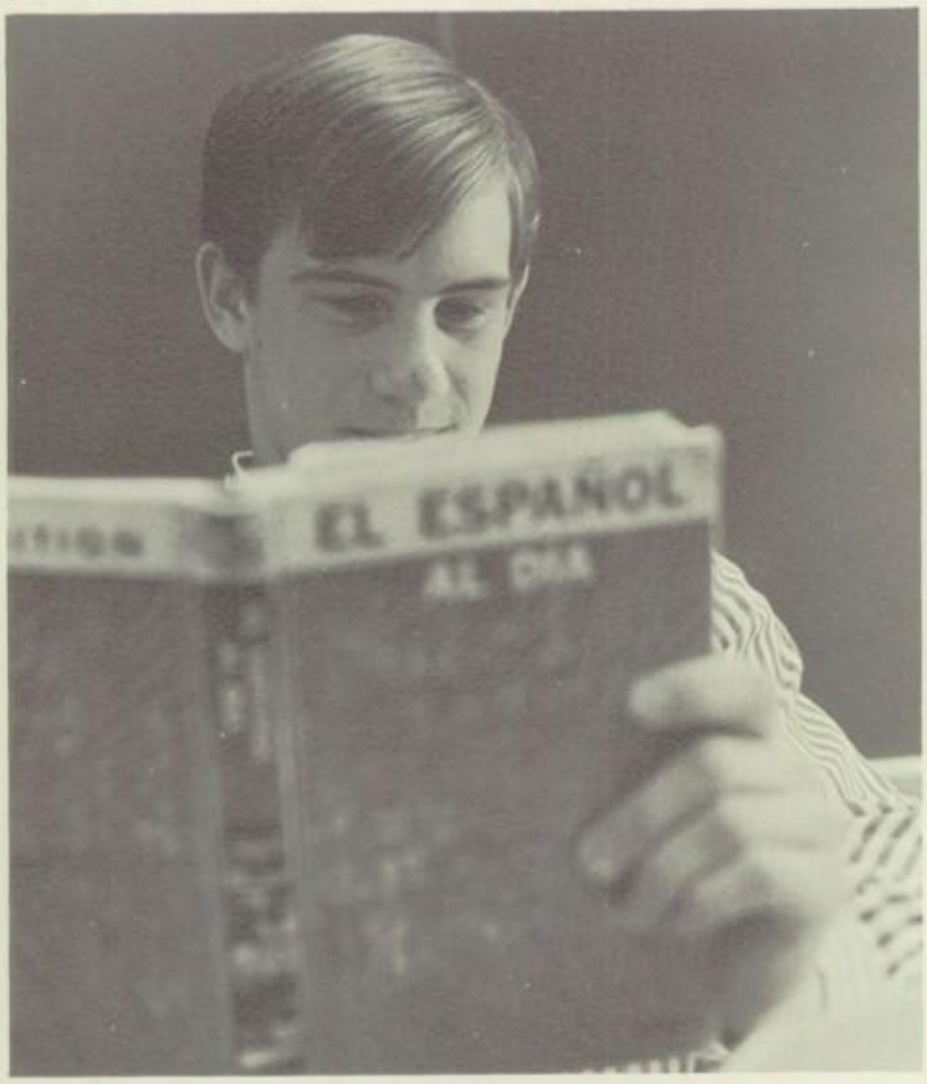
Language students studying German, French, Latin, or Spanish made use of the modern lab in striving to improve their pronunciation. Seated in individual cubicles, each student was equipped with tapes and their own set of earphones.

Proper techniques must be acquired before being able to speak any language. During their first year of study, all foreign language students became acquainted with basic fundamentals of their language. Puppet shows performed by French I students aided them in their pronunciation and grammar.

Advanced language students studied the literature and the geographical features of their particular foreign country. Spanish students utilized the magazine HOY DIA to supplement their daily reading. French students acted out the fables of La Fontaine, the seventeenth century storyteller, while gaining knowledge of French literature.

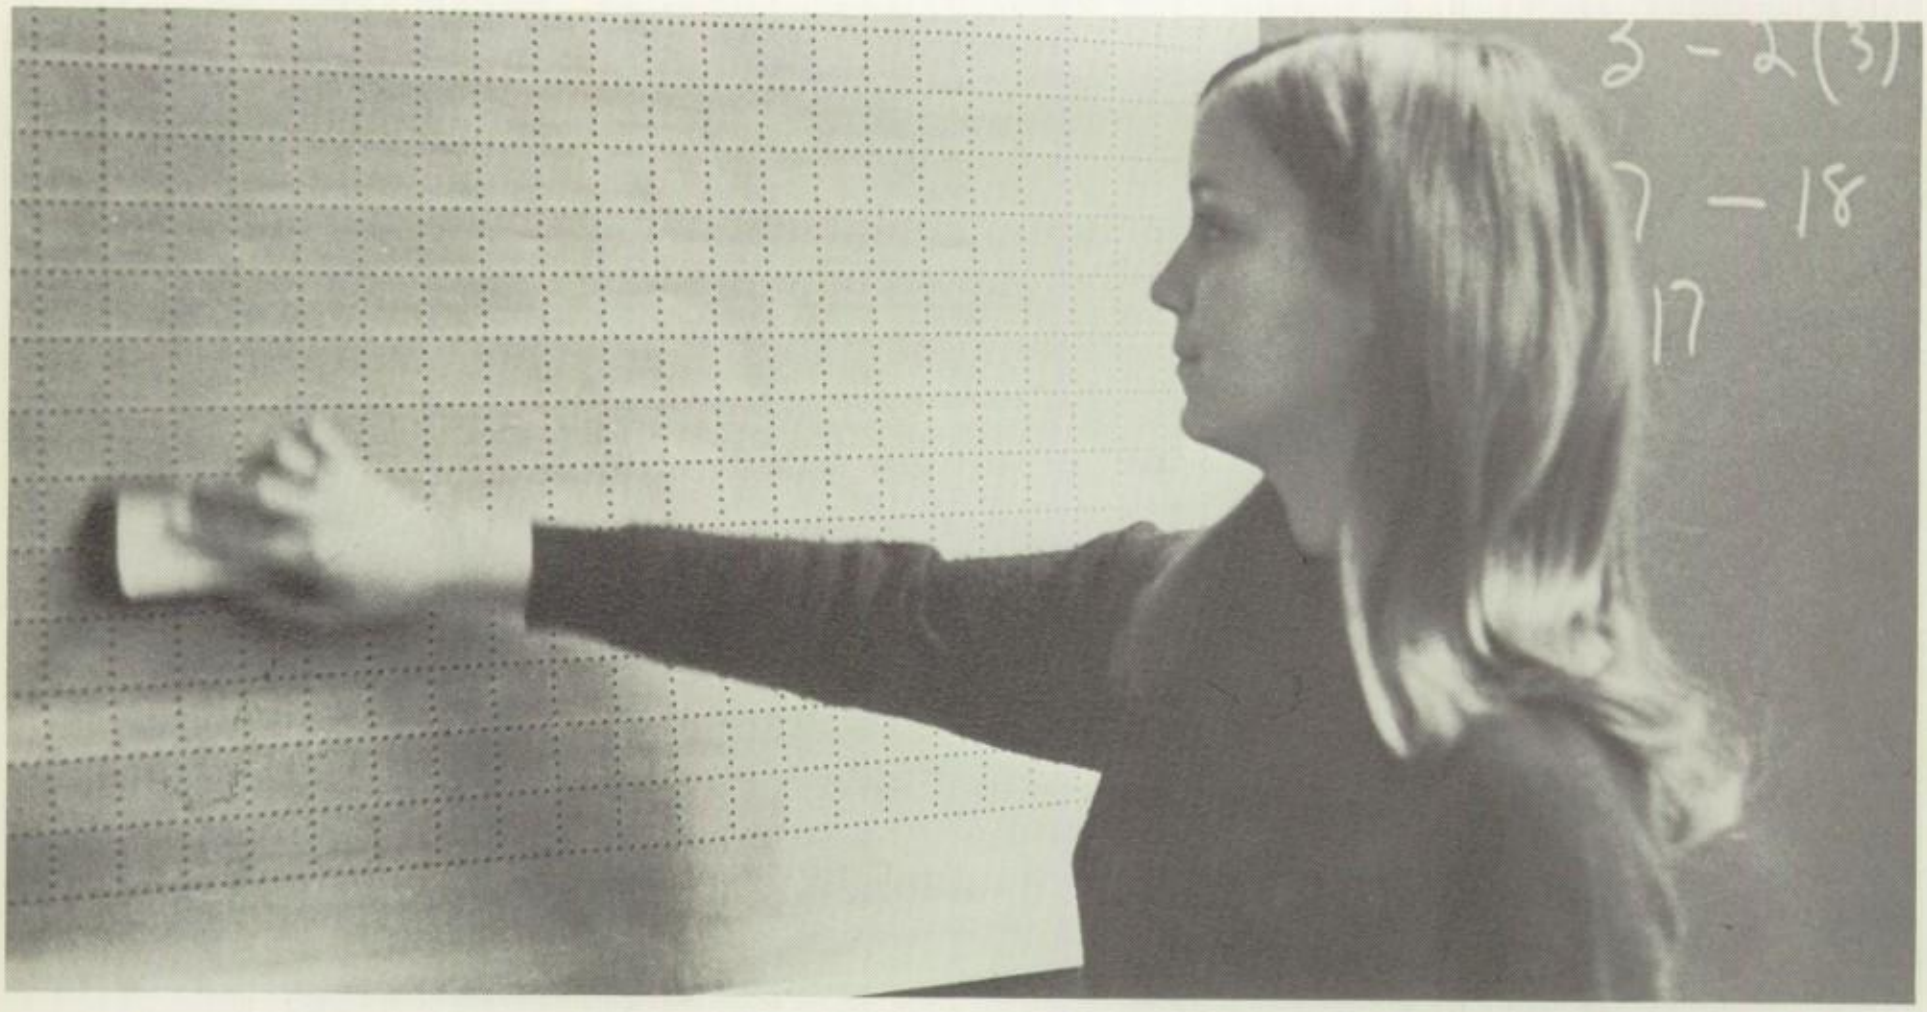
Crossword puzzles and German bingo gave advanced German students the opportunity to further their use of words. Analyzing ancient Greek and Roman architecture occupied the time of Latin students. Along with reading novels, Latin pupils learned the derivatives of medical terms and other words pertaining to our own English language.

WORD PRONUNCIATION is practiced in the foreign language lab by junior Maria Pimentel. By listening to various prepared tapes students improved their language skills.

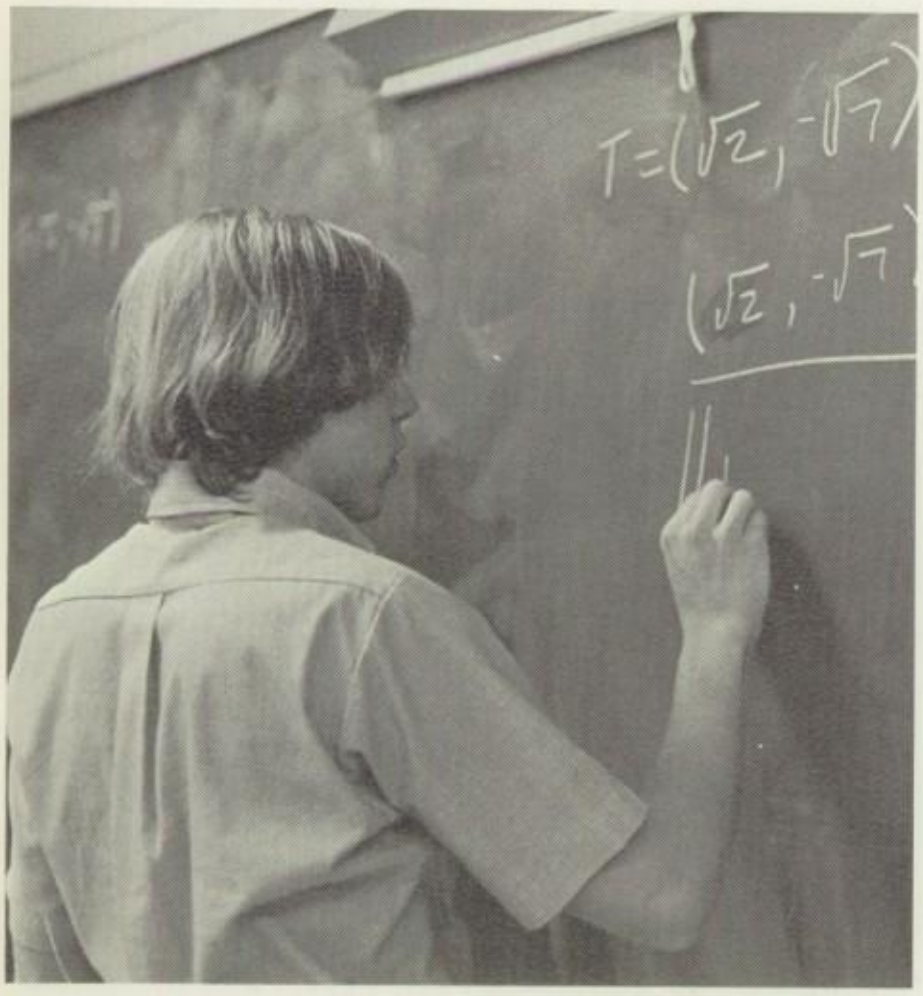


GUM ON NOSE, Harry Muta suffers through a punishment for chewing gum in Miss Jamrose's Spanish III class. This form of discipline was only used on frequent offenders.

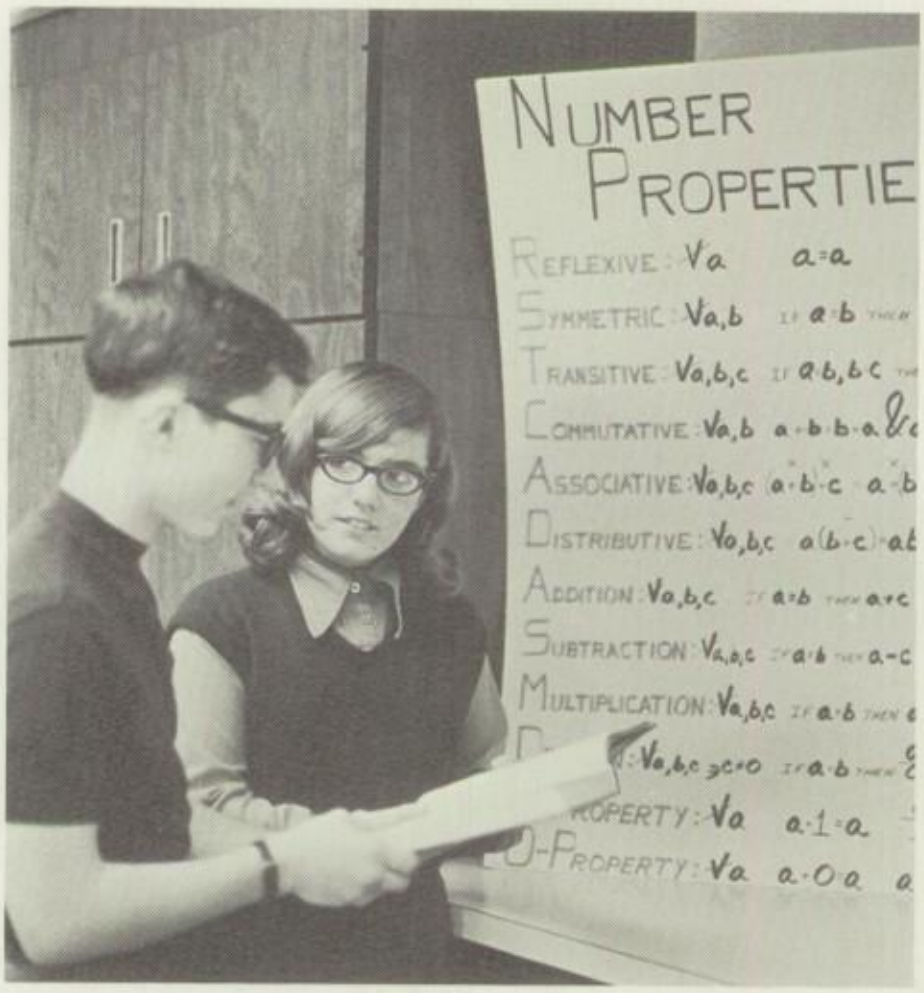
Math department receives new books;



UTILIZING A CARTESIAN PLANE to quickly draw a graph is junior Claudia Banvard, an Algebra III student. Graphs were used in the classroom to aid in solving linear equations, inequalities and other mathematical problems.



DEMONSTRATING A COMPLEX PROBLEM, senior Ed Swakon employs the steps taught in analysis class. In these advanced math courses logic is needed to perform the problems.



BASIC ALGEBRAIC PROPERTIES are applied to problems in the Algebra I book by freshmen Debbie Shifflet and Leonard White. These properties are needed to solve equations.

pupils train for jobs in secretarial fields

New textbooks, obtained by the math department, introduced a new approach to "modern math" to students and teachers. Pupils orientated towards the secretarial field acquired experience in applicable business courses offered at Morton.

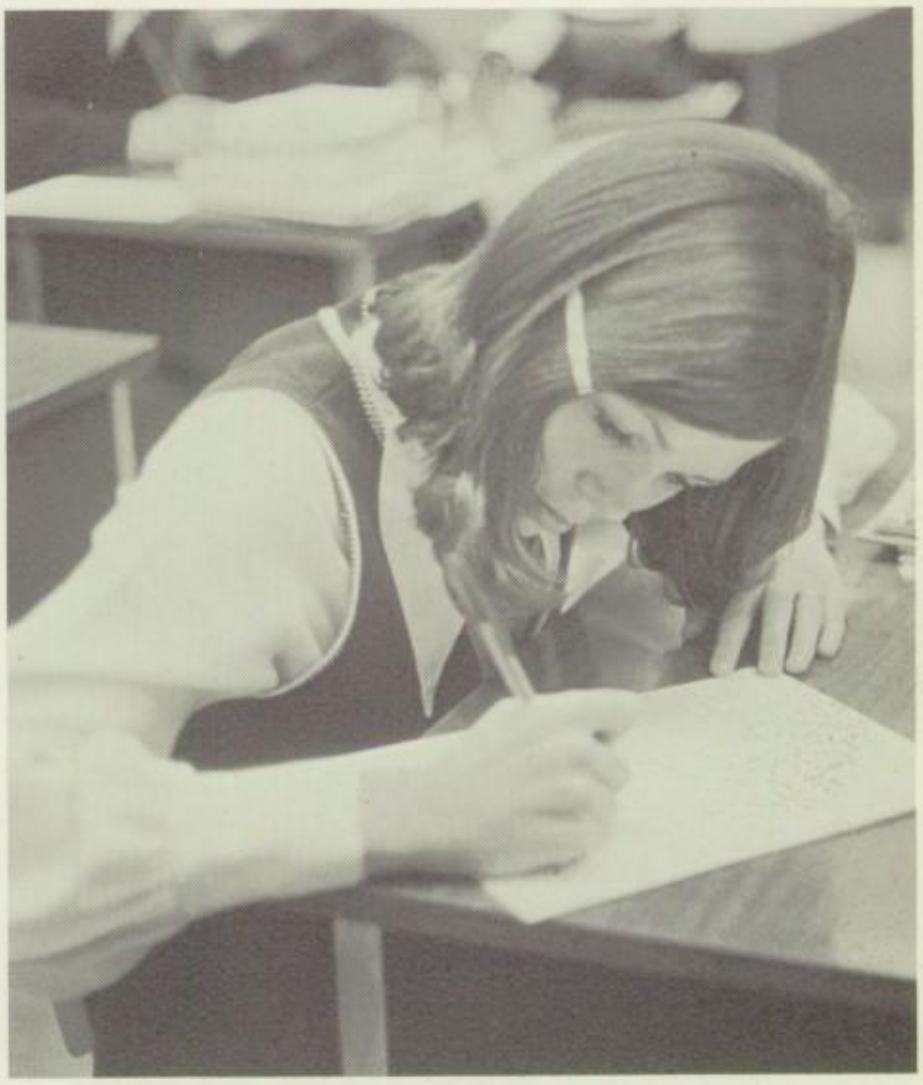
General math, a two year course, provided an introduction to a basic knowledge of numbers. Algebra students became acquainted with simple number properties as they learned to solve equations and graph them on the Cartesian coordinate plane. Geometry students utilized theorems, postulates, and axioms in writing proofs of various problems.

Advanced algebra and analysis classes delved into specialized areas. Algebra pupils studied graph functions, quadratic equations, and trigonometric principles. Analysis focused on the use of logic and also prepared students for college courses.

Students developed typing skills through timed writings, exercises, and drills. Pupils studying shorthand steadily increased their accuracy and speed in taking dictation. Bookkeeping dealt with the economic aspects of business, while Business Law analyzed the legal procedures used. Students also took advantage of the opportunity to operate office machines in Clerical Practice.

FINGERS CURVED, eyes on copy enables junior Mary Jo Mauger to increase her typing speed. By keeping their eyes off the keyboard typists also became more accurate.

USE OF THE MONROE EDUCATOR, as well as other machines, aids senior Susan Kudla in gaining professional understanding of office procedures in Clerical Practice class.



EVERY SECOND COUNTS as junior Kathy Smith attempts to complete her brief form test. Speed and accuracy were stressed in transcription during shorthand classes.

Girls learn proper cooking techniques

DIFFERENT TEXTURES of carpet squares are discussed by Sharon Gambino, Kathy Lape and Laura Cuciniello. Family Living students dealt with many aspects of homemaking.

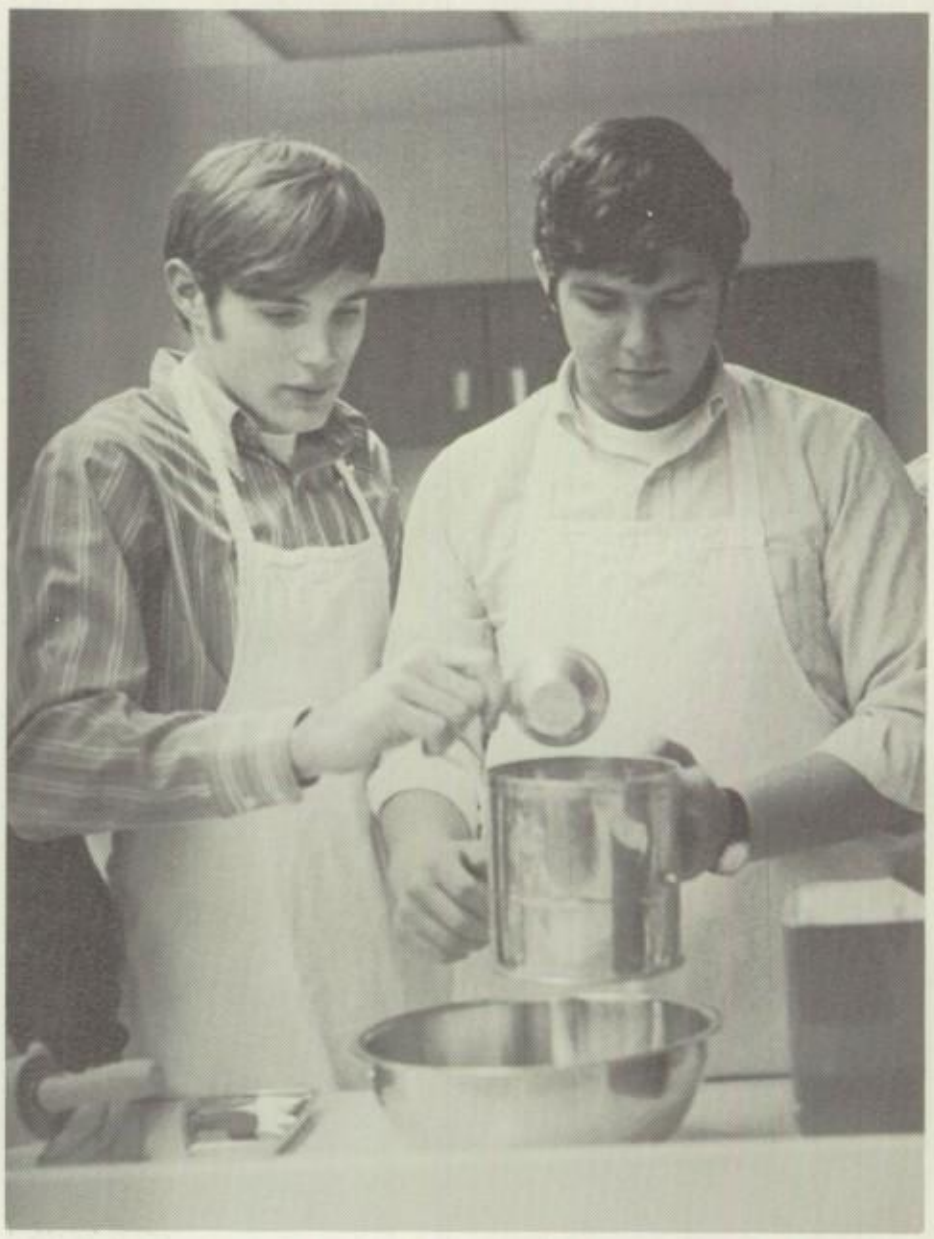
Cooking and baking techniques proved to be the basis of instruction during foods classes. Students learned the importance of nutritional value in a well-balanced meal. They planned each meal that was cooked and served during class time. The teacher discussed table manners and proper dining etiquette in formal and informal situations.

Girls' and Boys' Foods were just two of the electives offered. Other classes, such as Family Living and clothing, taught students useful skills that could be applied now or in future years.

Clothing students learned the basic techniques of sewing including pattern placement, using the right texture of material, and types of hand stitchings. First semester students made a skirt or a pair of culottes. In advanced classes pupils progressed to dresses, coats, and a slack outfit.

Family Living dealt with the various aspects of married life. Home decorating, personality conflicts and money management were discussed.

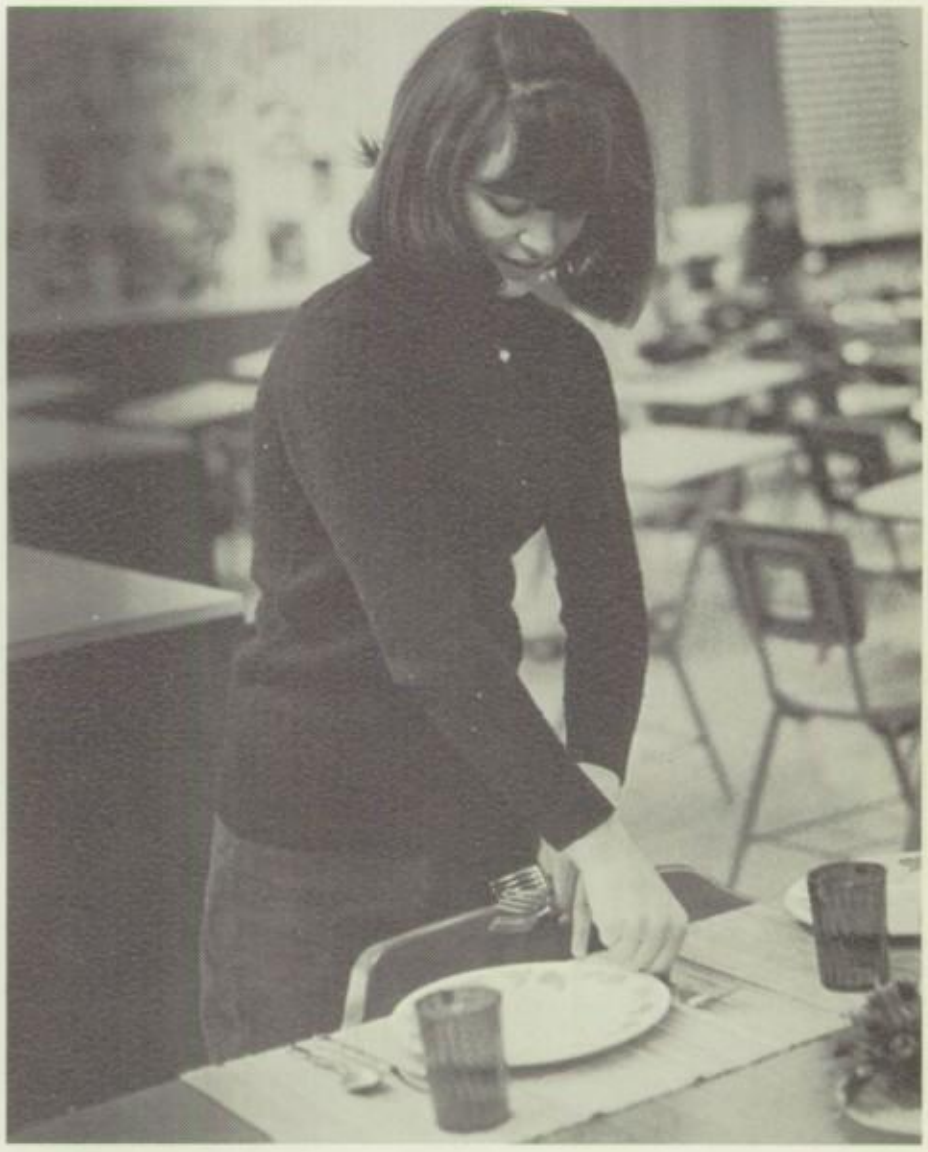
WITH MUCH CARE, junior Marcia McBroom presses her newly finished garment. Girls in Clothing IV classes were required to complete a lined woolen dress as their main project.



CORRECT MEASUREMENTS and other basic skills are learned and practiced in Boys' Home Ec by Neal Kaufman and Milan Katic. The boys made cookies and other foods.

WITH GLOVED HAND, home ec student Tom Kolwicz checks his baked product while Jeff Stevenson looks on.

PROPER POSITION of pattern pieces is checked by juniors Nancy Harris and Ann Capich. Students in Clothing II learned how to make a garment of flannel material.



CORRECT TABLE SETTING is demonstrated to classmates by senior Debbie Singleton. This is one of the many skills which is practiced by students participating in Foods III.

Shop courses stress safety procedures

Reading assignments during industrial art classes stressed safety rules as important factors. Students were required to take both a written test and a machine operating exam. Those who passed these tests were then given the privilege of operating jig saws, lathes, and other shop machines.

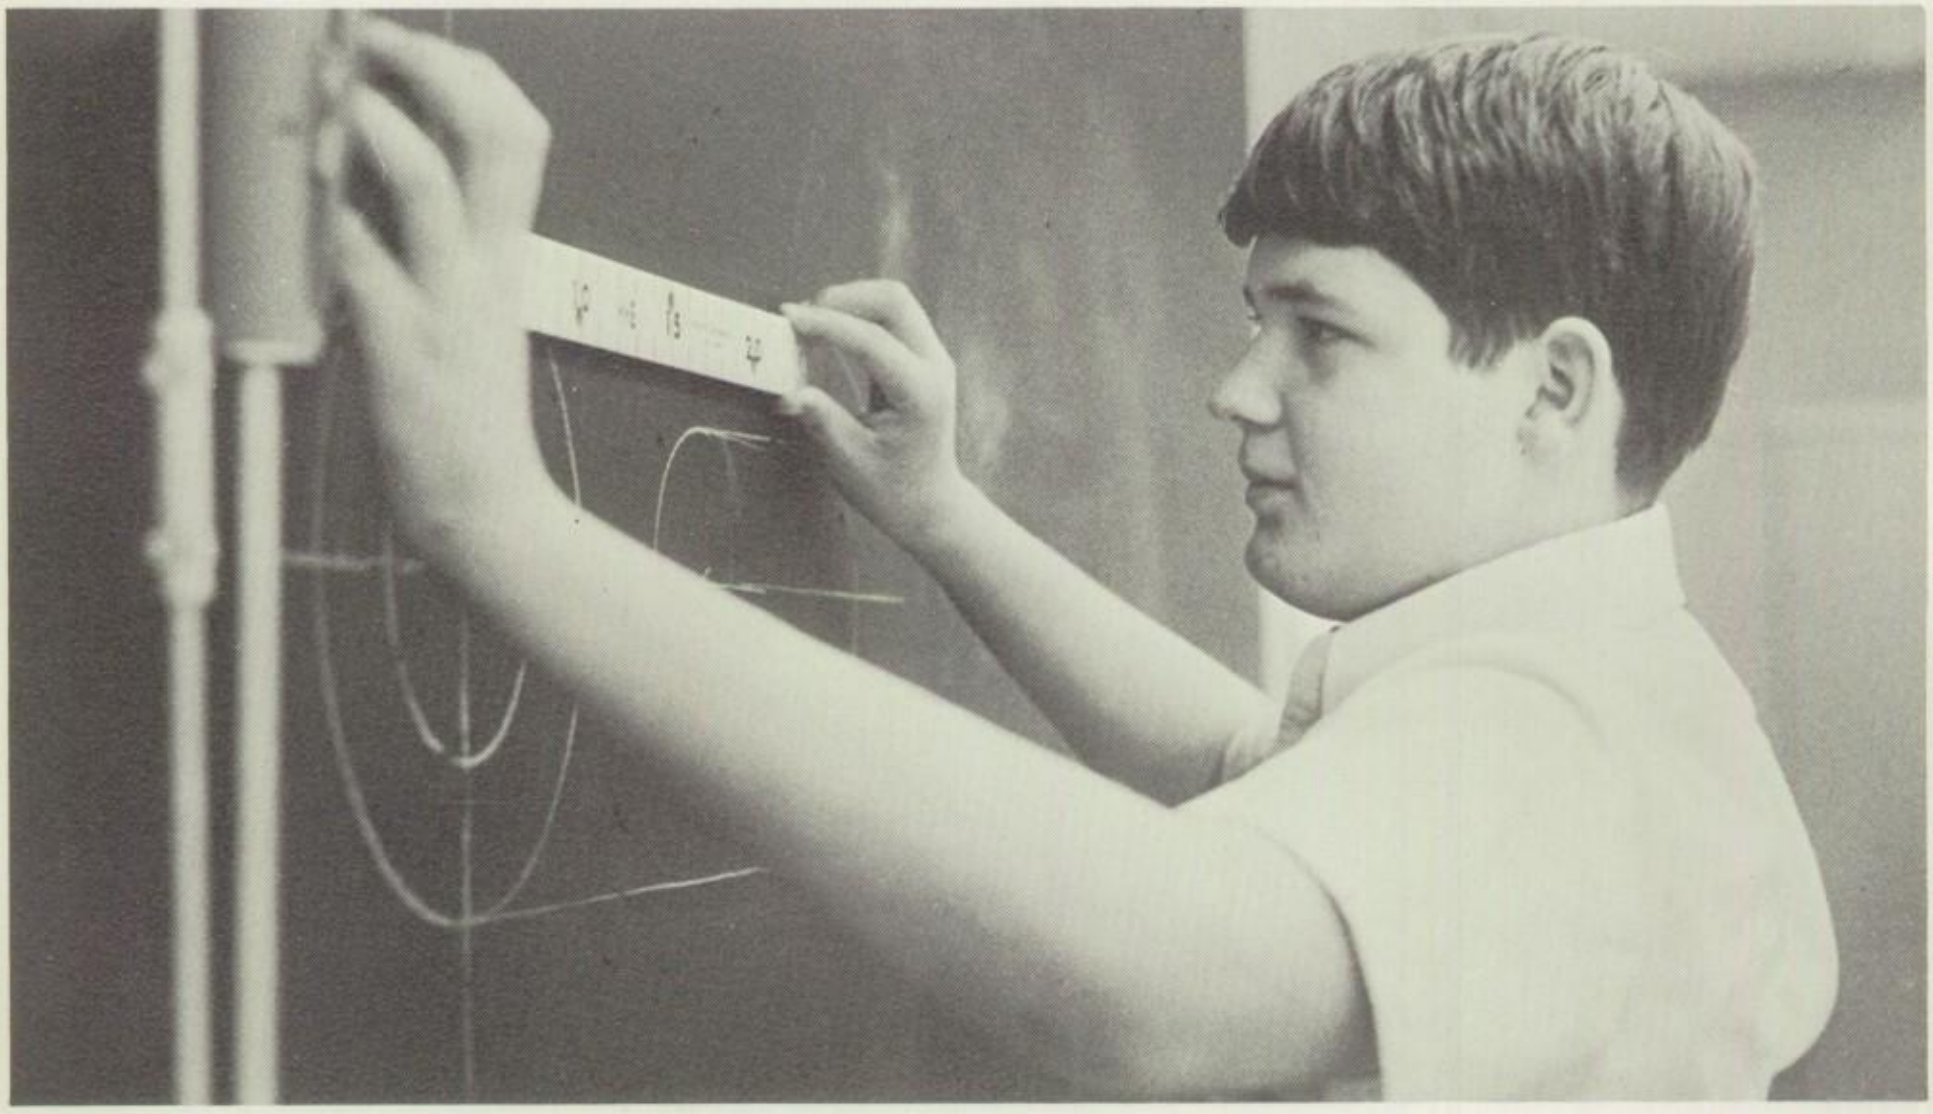
Scale drawings of machines and constructions of exact measurements typified a few skills obtained by mechanical drawing students. To draw precise blueprints pupils relied on special tools.

Computers, electronic waves and lazer beams became topics of discussion during electronics classes. Students worked on different projects in the course of a semester. Automobiles, machine engines, and electronic energy were some areas interesting to students in power mechanics classes.

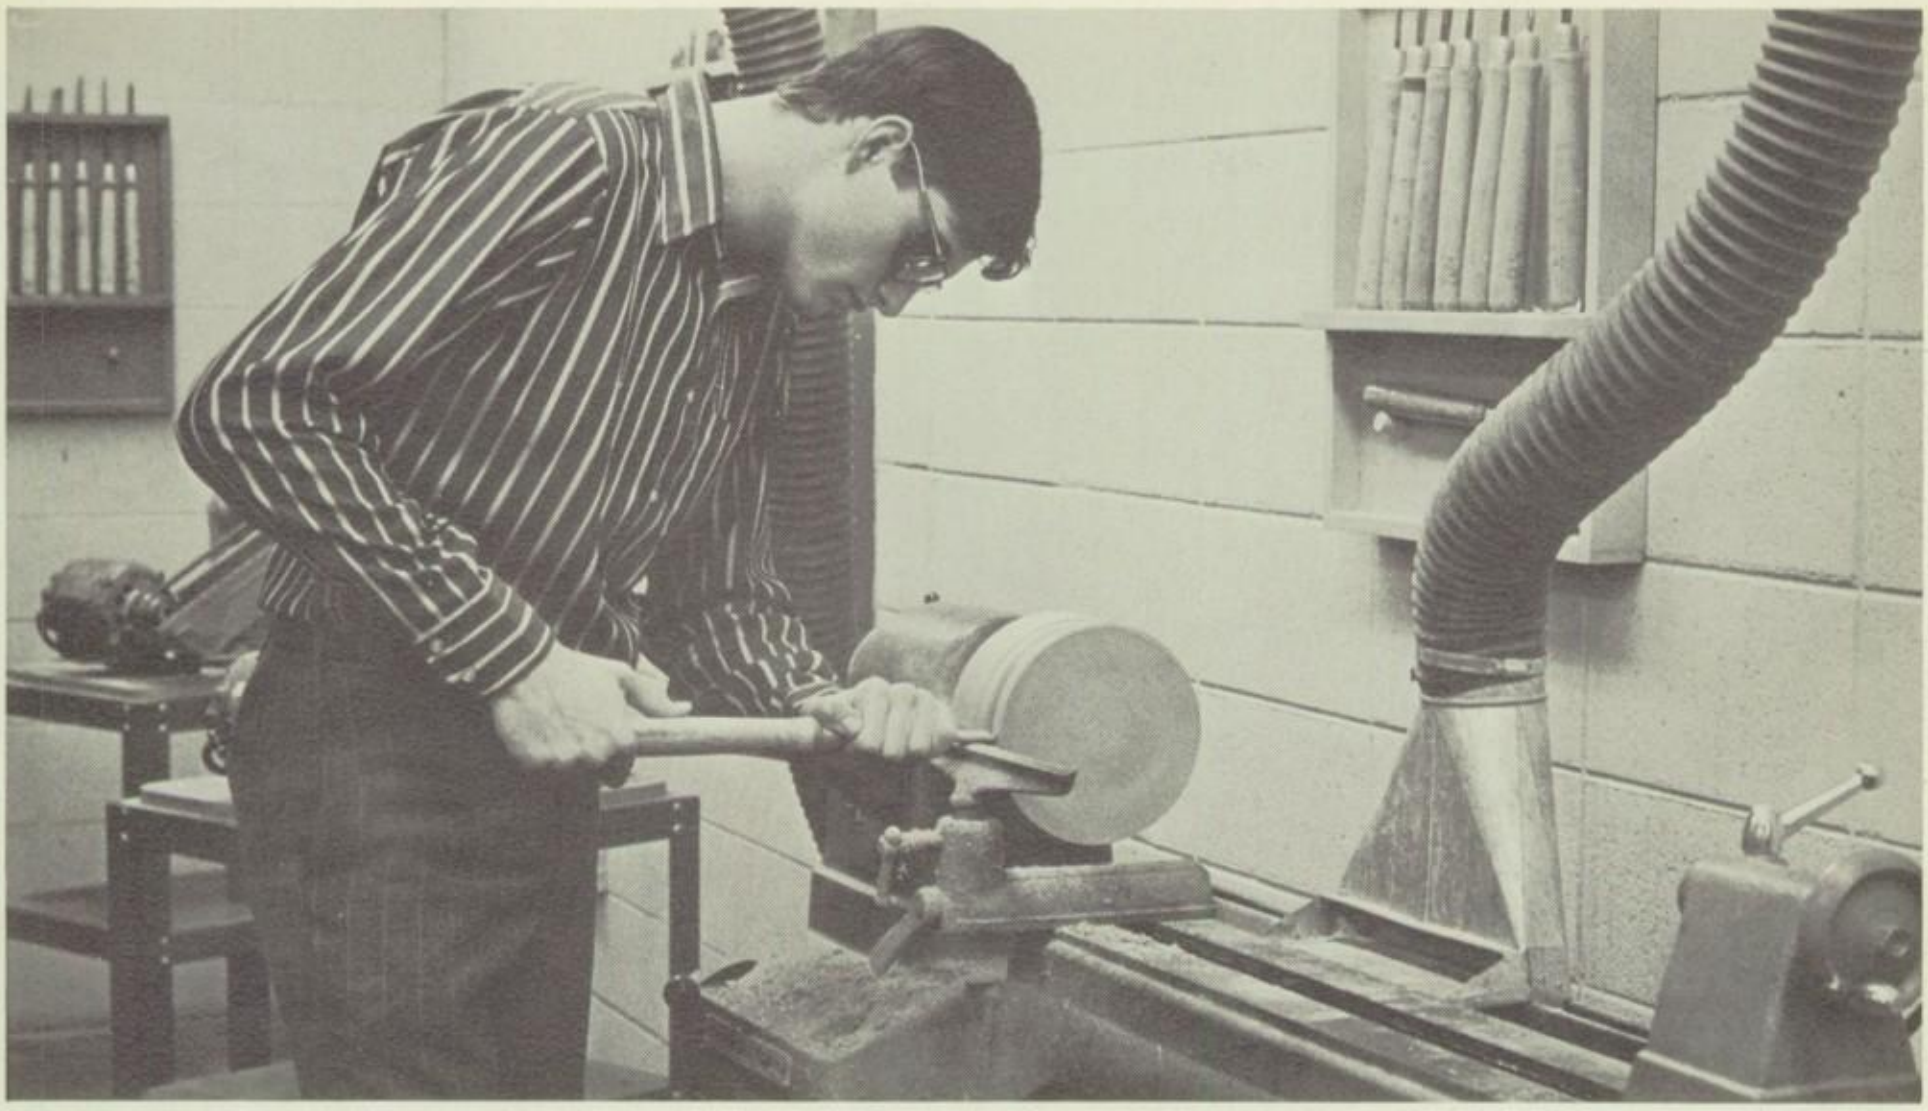
Instructors in metal class taught students skills which they might use in consumer knowledge or apply during leisure time activities. Materials used in metal working jobs were described and discussed. Students participating in this class created projects which they selected themselves.

Students in woodshop classes expressed freedom of design by constructing shelves, bookcases, pen and pencil holders, and small foot-rests.

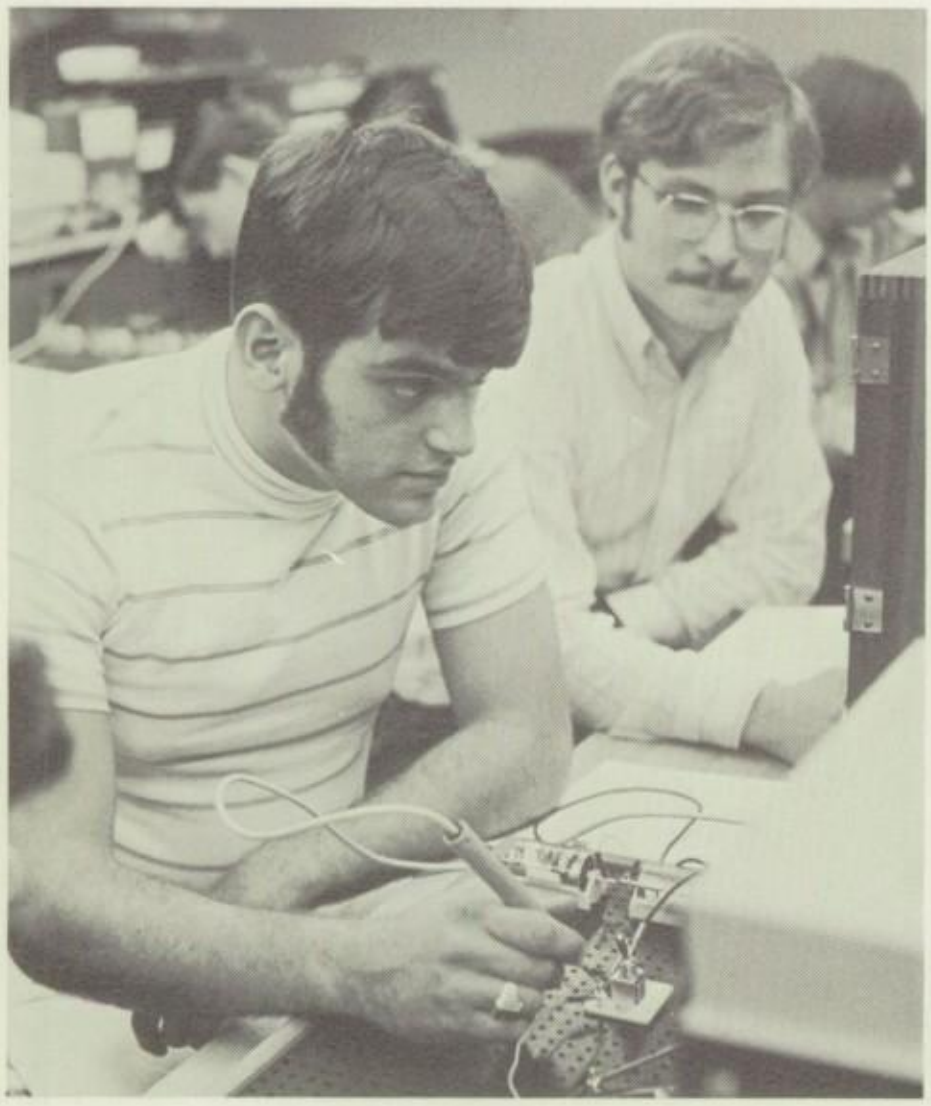
UNKNOWN BECAUSE OF HIS MASK, this goggled metal shop student attempts to accomplish his task of arc welding.



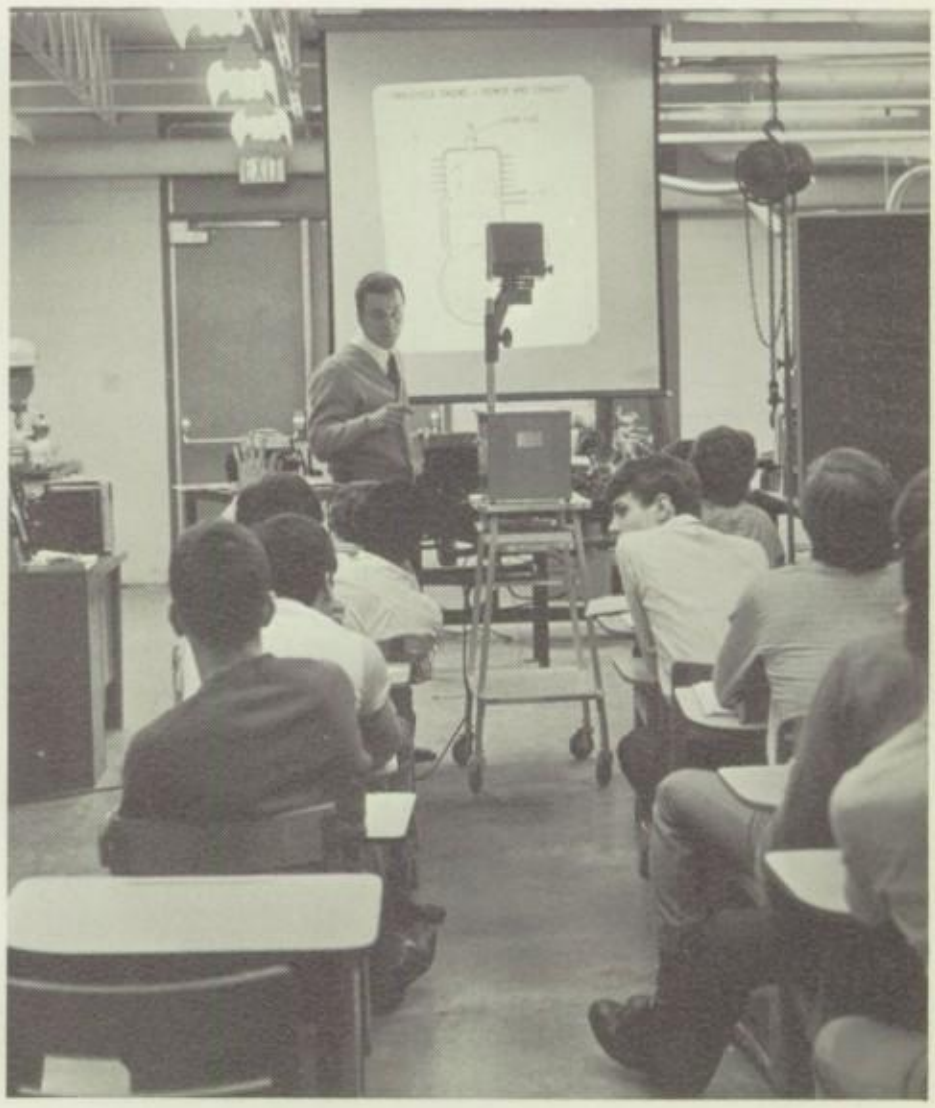
WHILE APPLYING HIS SKILL, freshman Ronald Rutledge demonstrates the correct use of a track machine for his class. All students in the mechanical drawing class had to be able to utilize the machine properly in their work.



EYES PROTECTED BY SAFETY GLASSES, junior Bill Love carefully constructs the outside dimensions of a bowl with a woodshop lathe. Boys in Woods IV worked on projects such as salt and pepper shakers, tables, and stools.



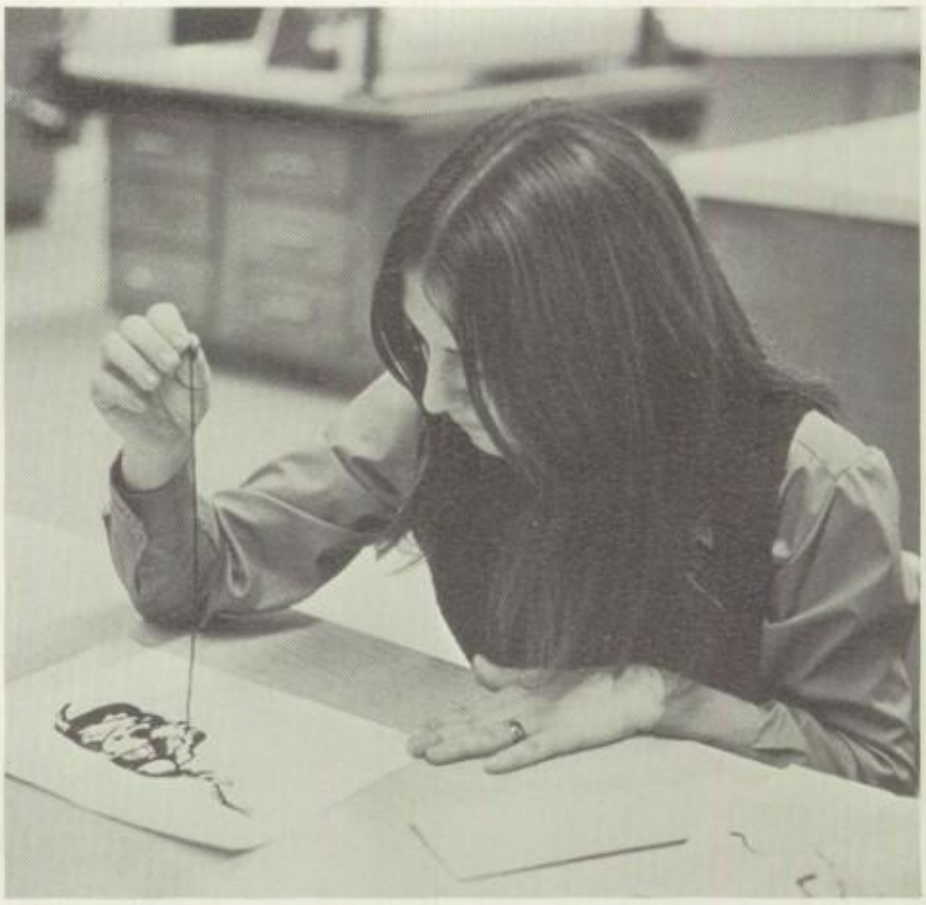
CAREFUL TECHNIQUES are used by Scott Thompson and Dennis Kozubal in checking the resistance of a switch.



AIDED BY AN OVERHEAD PROJECTOR, students in power mechanics discuss the different parts of an engine.

Art pupils practice sculpturing, painting;

SPEEDY CHALK SKETCHES are drawn by junior Brian Isom, an Art III student. The students were given a limited amount of time to sketch simple outlines of certain models.



DEEP IN THOUGHT sophomore Jackie Labs perfects an abstract string painting. Freedom of expression is exercised by all art students as they expand their creativity.

Displaying talent and hard work, students who participated in art classes exhibited their finished products in the window of the art room.

Students studying art were first introduced to the basic fundamentals. Lines, shapes, value, color, texture, and space comprise the elements of art that were used in any kind of creation. The history of art proved to be equally important. Pupils discovered that works of art contain more than is seen with the eyes at first glance.

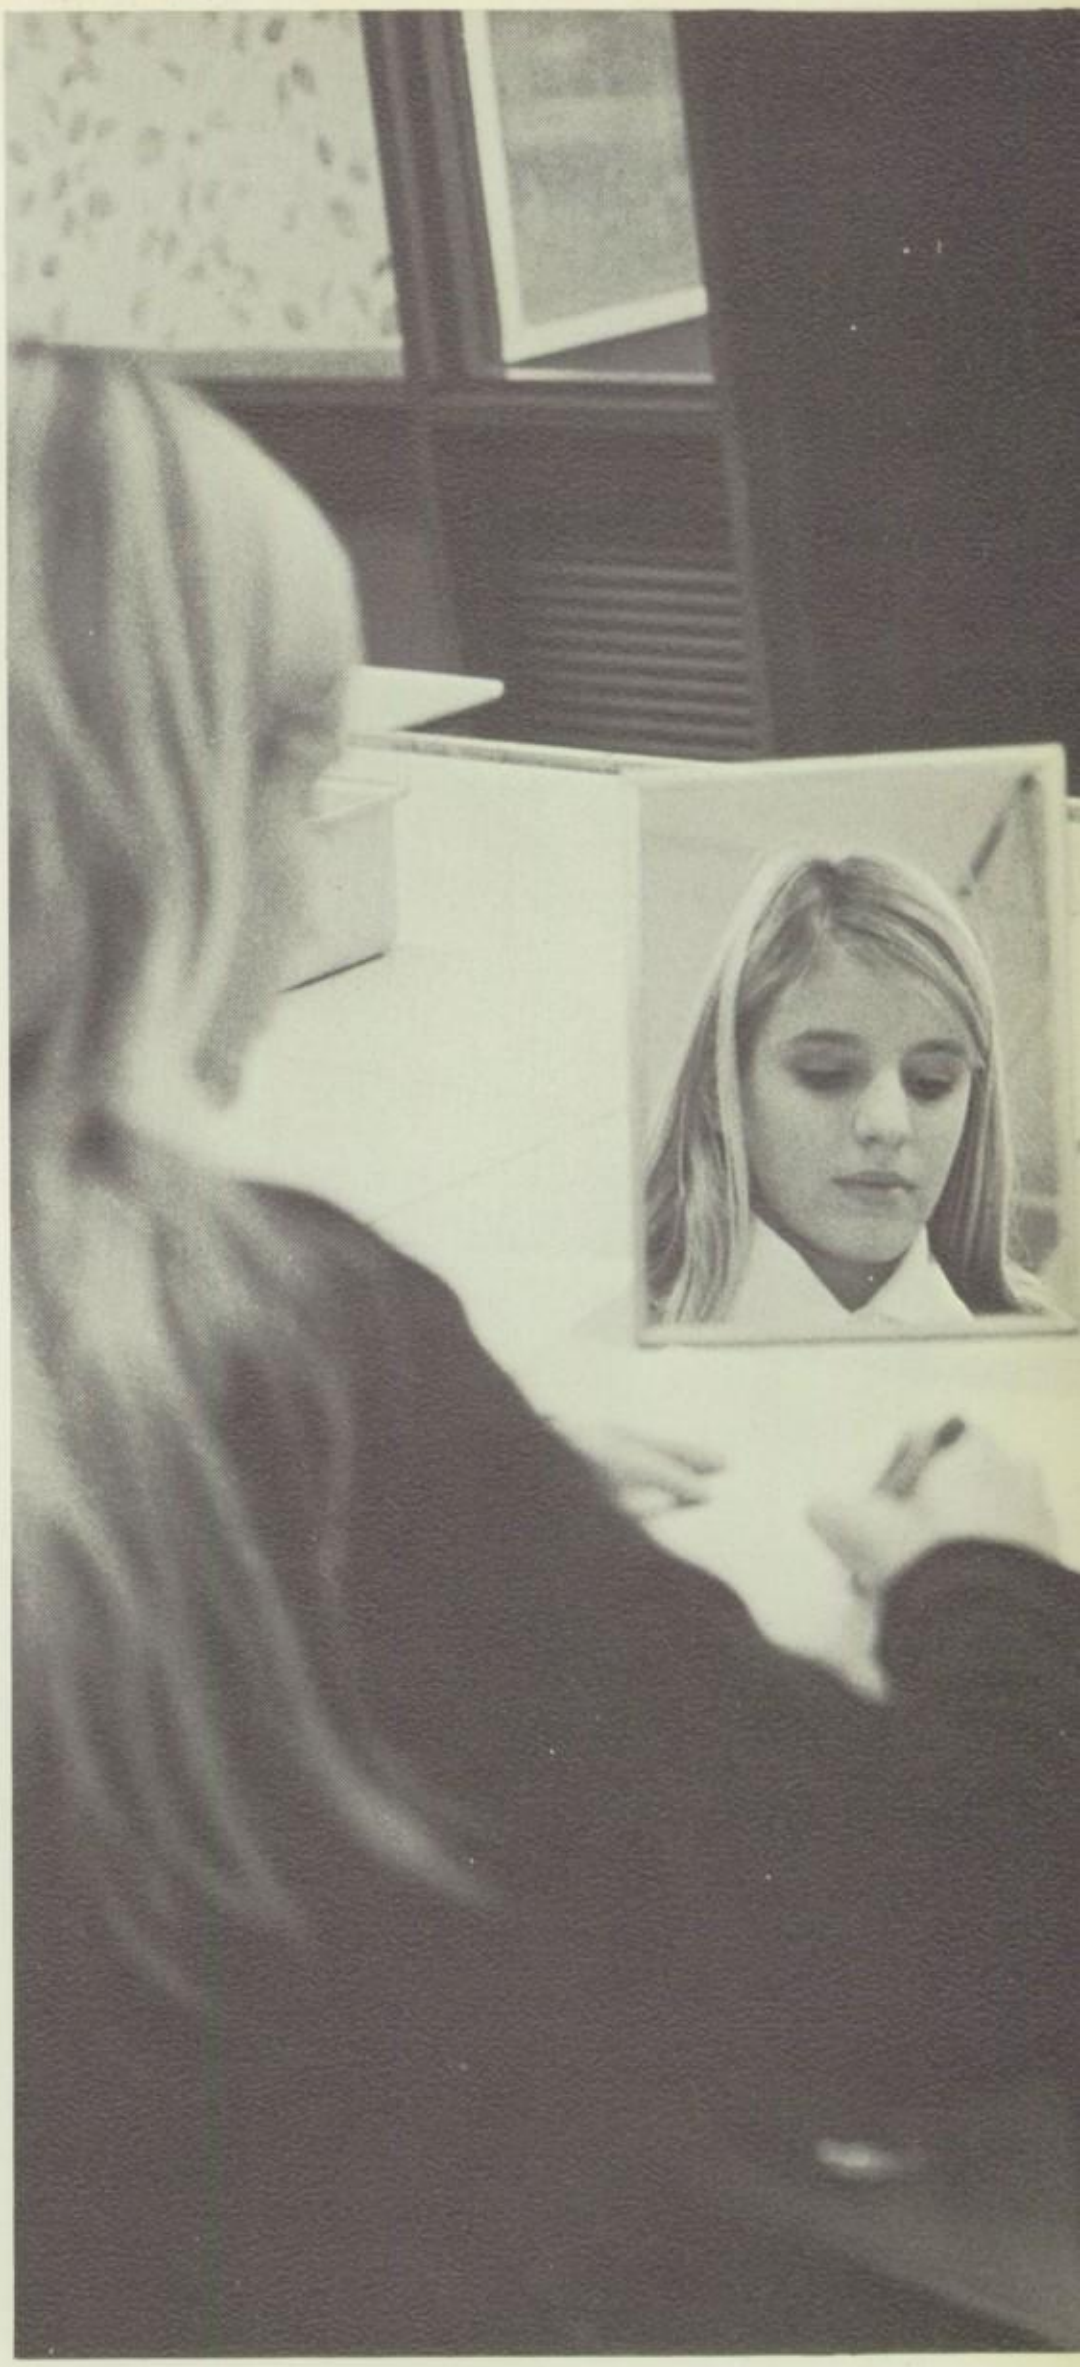
After they learned the essentials some students continued in art classes. During these courses pupils were given in-depth exposure and experience in relation to various types of art.

Sculpturing, painting, sketching, tie-dyeing, ceramics, and letter designing were projects during the course. As students progressed, they began to specialize in one or two definite areas.

Students who furthered their specific talents in art through all four years of high school acquired an extensive background in this field.

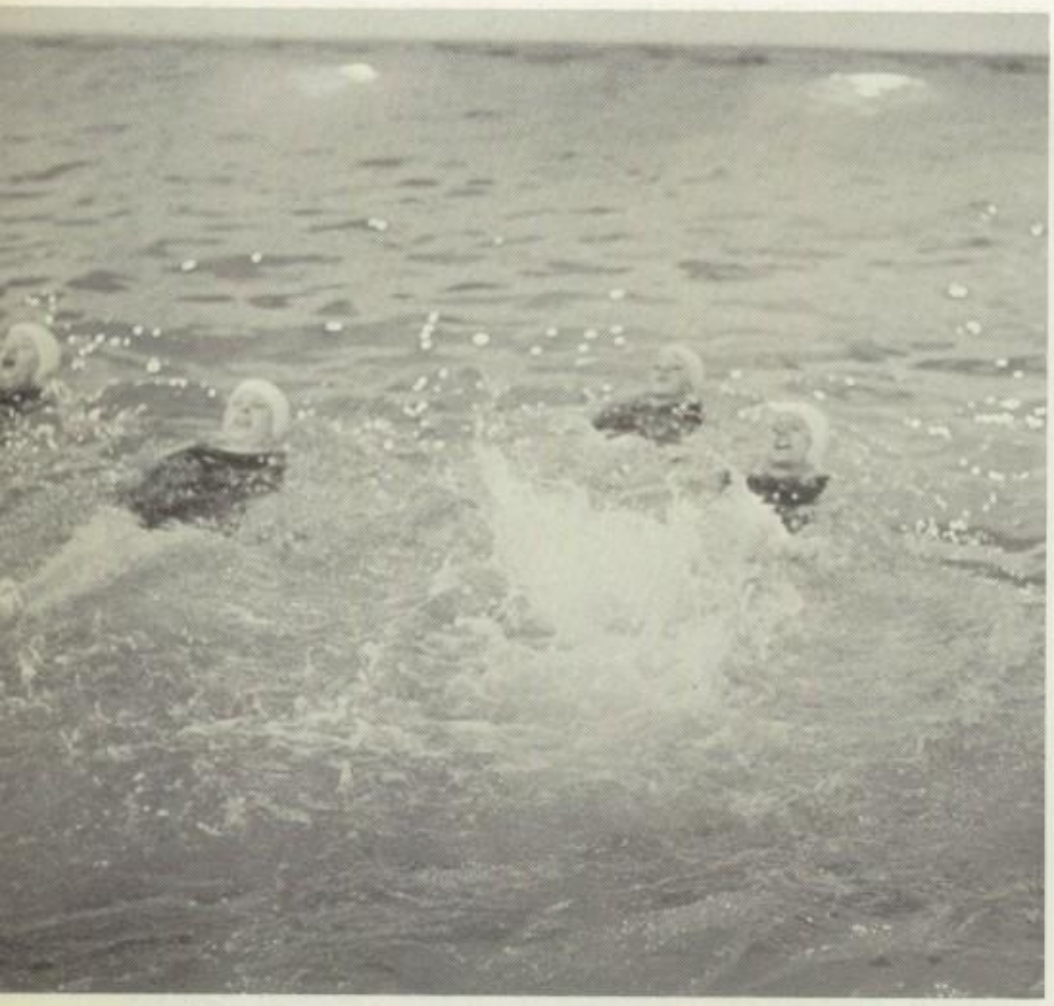
All art students practiced self-expression. Although much freedom was exercised they still followed certain basic guide lines.

EXPERIMENTING WITH TIE-DYEING, senior Tom Rowley looks over his newly finished project. Art classes worked with different projects, tie-dyeing being one of the newest.

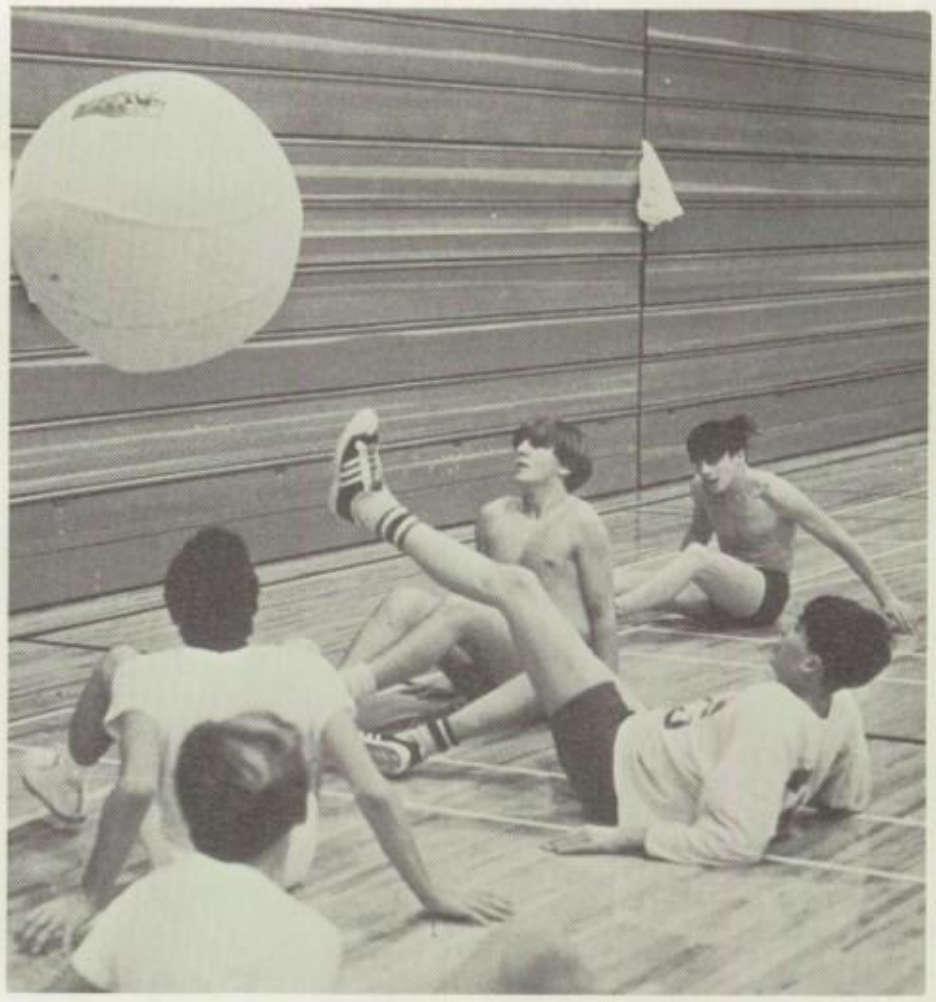


SEATED BEFORE A MIRROR, sophomore Paula Kukula makes an attempt to sketch a self-portrait. This project is required of all students participating in an Art III class.

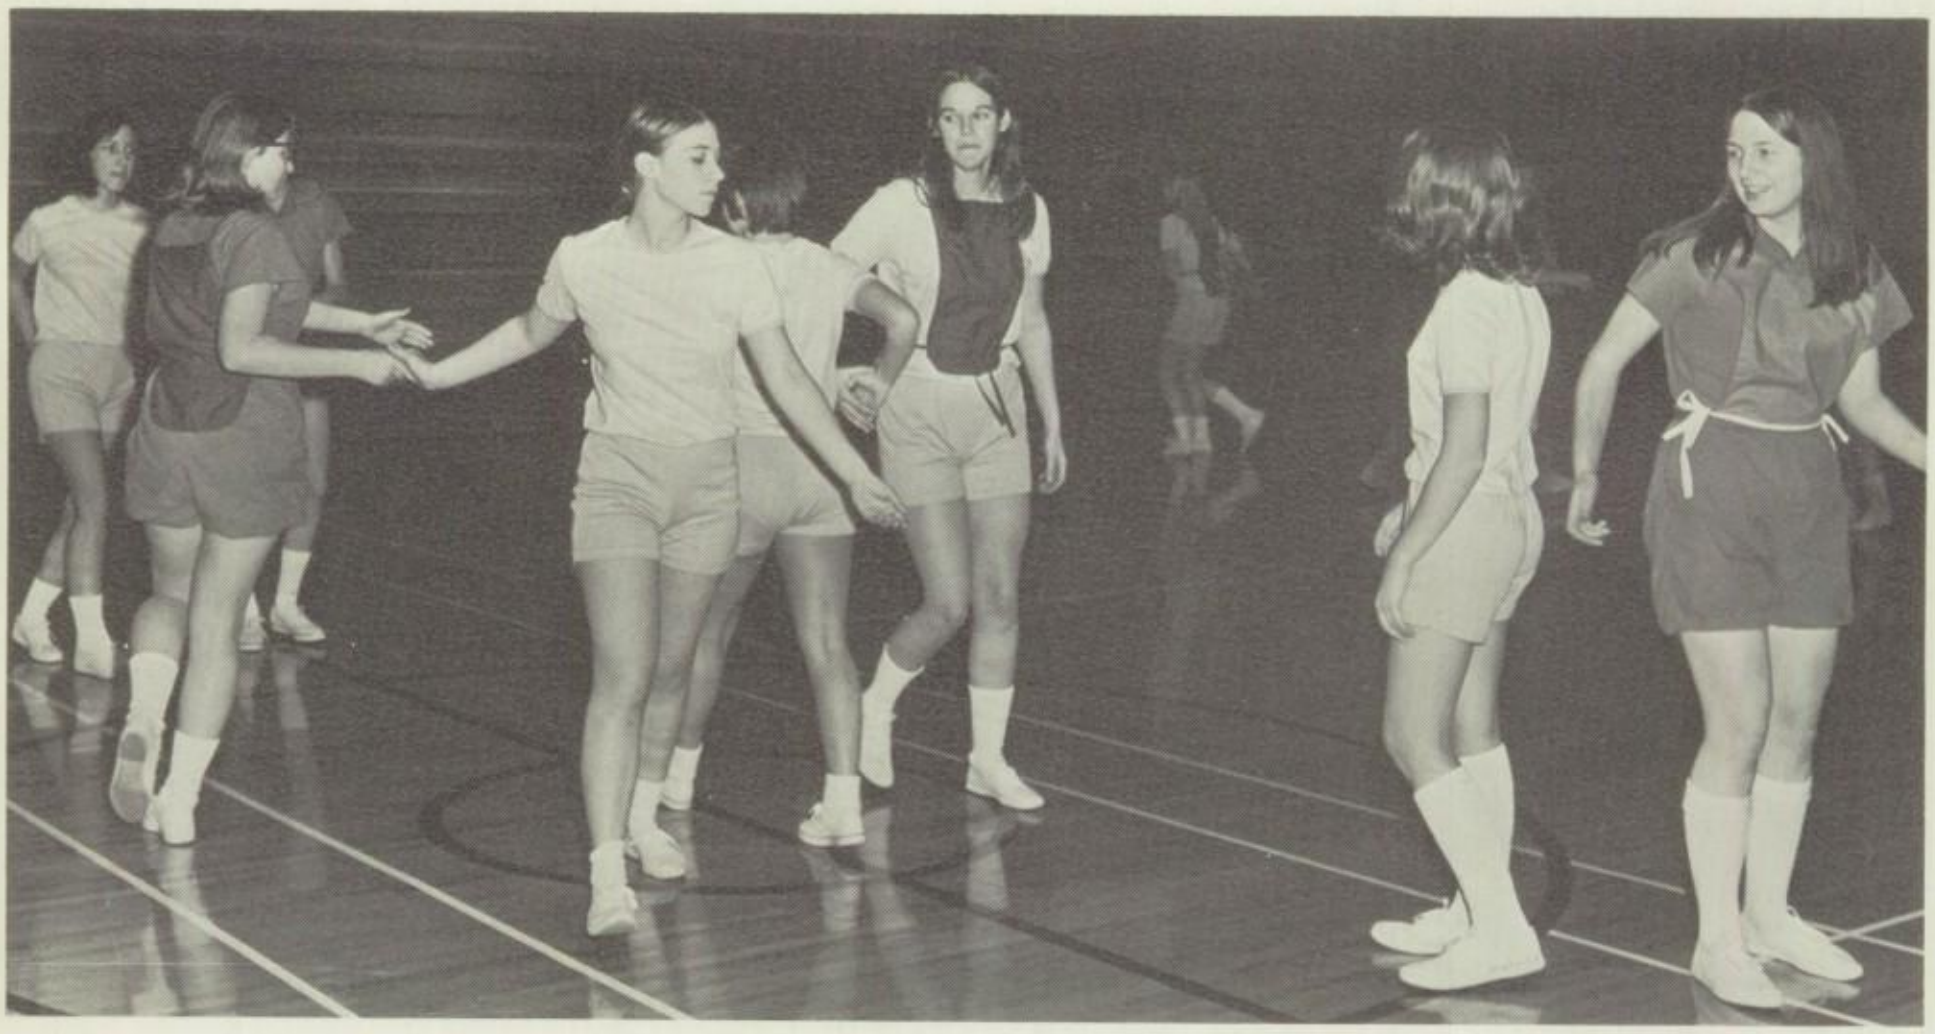
Students endeavor to reach perfection



DETERMINED TO STAY AFLOAT, girls in swimming class learn the techniques used in floating and swimming.



IN ORDER TO SCORE these boys attempt to kick the ball away from their opponents in a game of crab soccer.



RHYTHM AND COORDINATION are the main objectives of square dancers. Various steps were interpreted while the girls attempted to keep in time with the music. Folk-dancing was a six week course taught in Physical Education.

in various phases of physical education

Physical education classes presented pupils with the opportunity to develop proficient skills in various sports and games. Several activities such as gymnastics, swimming, basketball and volleyball provided a challenge for students.

While classes were primarily made up of freshmen, two previous physical education students served as assistants to each class instead of reporting to a study hall or an elective course.

Folk dancing gave the girls a chance to build coordination and a sense of rhythm as well as learn origins of certain dances.

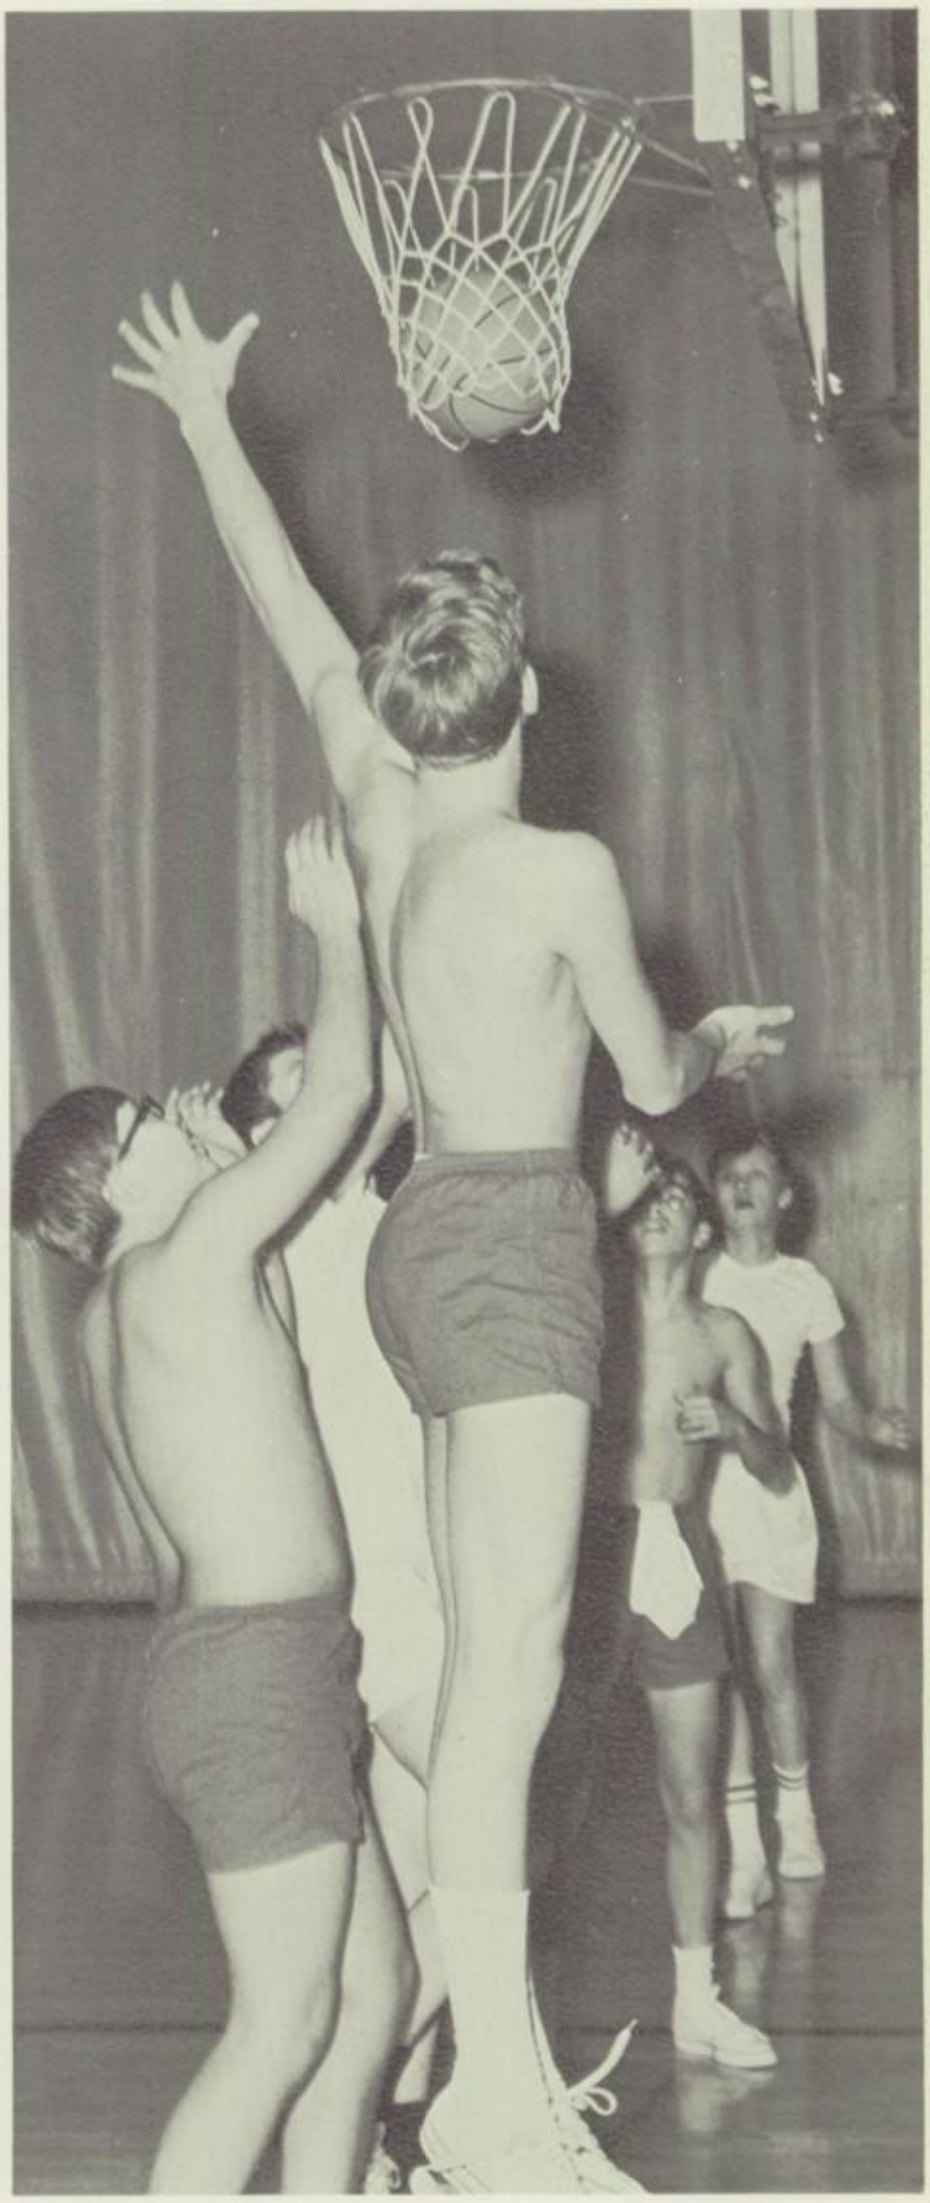
During the six week course of swimming boys and girls learned different strokes and dives along with basic life-saving techniques.

Basketball gave all the pupils a chance to gain knowledge about dribbling, shooting and passing the ball, while the game of volleyball stressed teamwork and good sportsmanship.

Quick maneuvering on the trampoline and on the parallel bars, combined with the instructor's aid, helped the students learn various stunts.

Highlighting the year for the physical education department was the change of girls' gym uniforms to a light blue, short jumpsuit.

LEARNING STUNTS ON THE TRAMPOLINE, Jeanie Reid executes a seat drop as spotter Marsha Bain watches.



UP FOR A REBOUND, freshmen boys develop and improve their individual skills through a basketball game.

School activities calendar informs MHS students of upcoming projects.

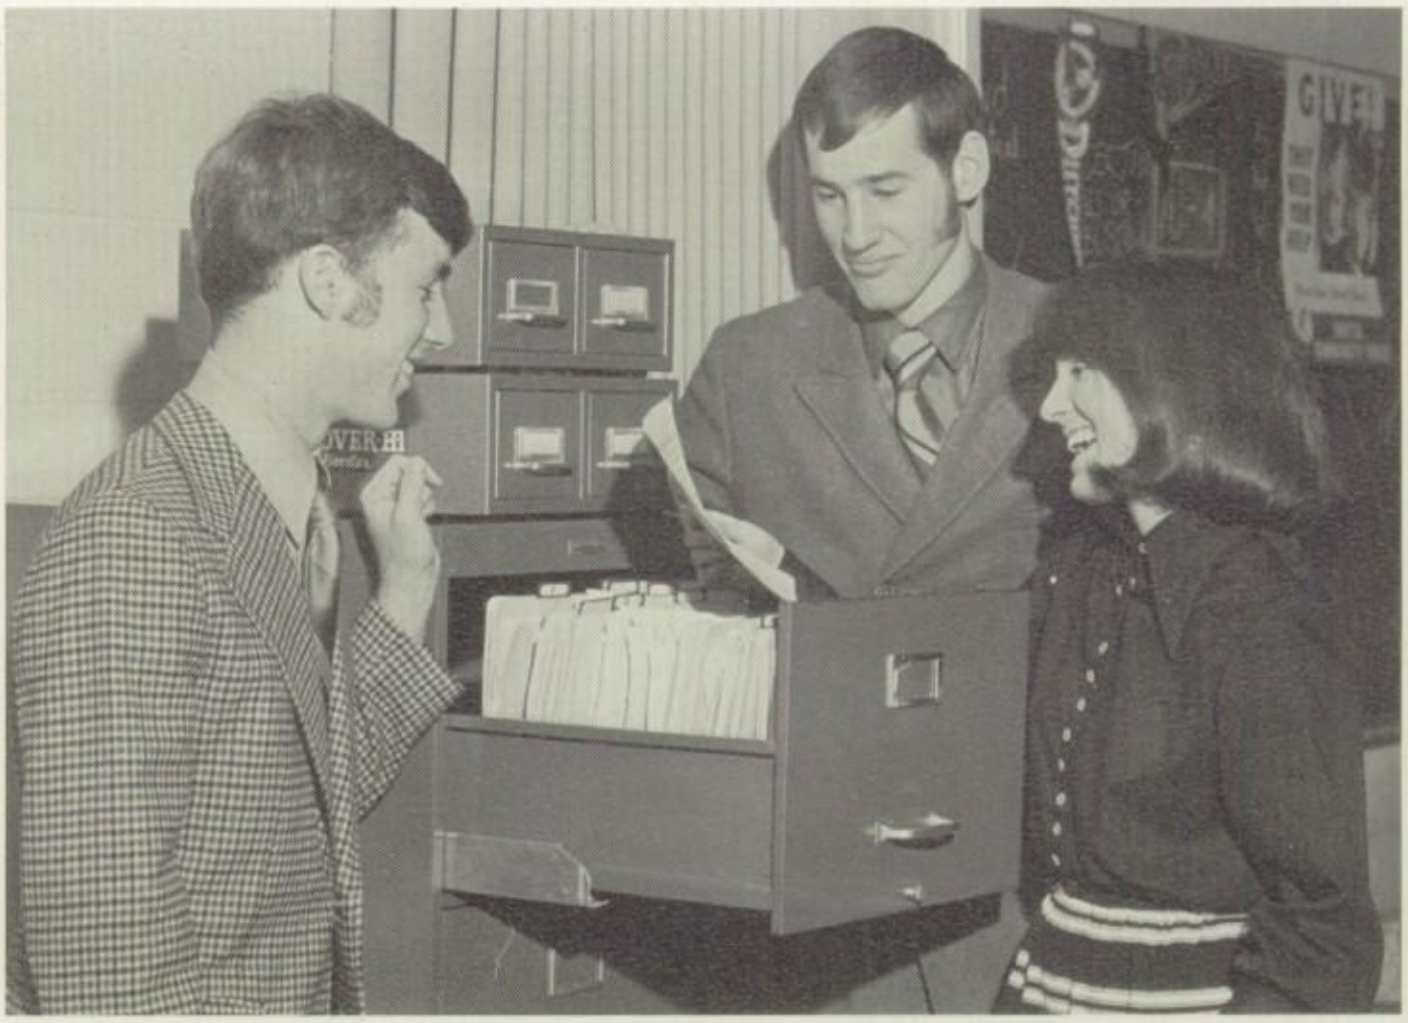
Displaying the results of class competition is the MHS totem pole.

Throughout the year Morton students participated in extracurricular activities and left their footprints in all fields of interest. To meet the demands of the community, new service clubs were formed and put in operation. Although clubs were initiated to serve the community and school, they also benefited the members themselves in forms of enjoyment and self-gratification. Students broadened their knowledge of potential careers and hobbies. Active members organized cheer blocks, dances and ecology projects and stamped their footprints in all Morton . . .

ACTIVITIES

At the Inaugural Assembly Principal W. W. Becker swears in Dave Boldt, Student Association president.

MHS Student Association enlivens class



ASSOCIATION OFFICERS— Dave Boldt (pres.), Rich Davis (v. pres.), Barb Vanes (sec.) check important information before they file the data for future reference.

ASSOCIATION CABINET— SITTING: J. Prange, B. Barnett, S. Brazenas, P. Swanson, P. Ferris. STANDING: S. Biscan, J. Josway, K. Bosch, D. White, K. White, R. Gollner, Mr. Gartner, sponsor, M. Kik, D. Rush. The spirit totem pole, designed to increase school spirit, was made of papier-maché and has interchangeable heads representing each class. The top head was made to represent the entire student body. The cabinet members were approved by the senate.

spirit, school pride by using totem pole

In order to promote Governor spirit the Student Association created a totem pole to replace last year's spirit rock. The pole consisted of five papier-mache heads, one for each class and one representing the school. The class with the most spirit received the privilege of having their symbolic head on top of the totem pole.

Breaking away from the tradition of an all senior cabinet, Student Association President David Boldt chose members from all classes. New cabinet posts of "class spirit" were formed.

Composed of both senators and representatives, the Congress voted on all issues brought before the Student Association. The representatives' duties consisted of attending all meetings and explaining the issues discussed to their homerooms. Senators approved all cabinet appointments.

Division of the court into a Lower and an Upper Court enabled students to appeal their case when they felt they had received an unfair trial.

National Honor Society is an organization of students who have shown above average scholastic ability and leadership. Only seniors in the top ten percent of their class and juniors in the top five are eligible for membership. They set an example which many students respect and strive toward.

Effective speaking and a willingness to improve verbal communication between individuals were required for NFL membership. The National Forensic League recognized debaters by awarding them a diploma for fluent speech, quality and honor.

Latin Honor Club enables those students who enjoy Latin as a class to further study an ancient language. Members sold baked goods at Gavit.

Open to all Morton students, the History Club gave members a chance to increase their knowledge of historic world affairs. The club sponsored a dance to provide funds for a trip to Chicago.

Stimulating interest in foreign nationalities, customs, and languages is the purpose of the Foreign Language Club. It gave members a glimpse of life in far-away countries and brought historic places into the present. There are no special requirements for membership. Members sponsored a T-shirt sale and dined in a Greek restaurant in Chicago.

NHS— FRONT ROW: P. Ferris, D. Ward, R. Gollner, S. Hatfield, D. Boldt, P. Farcas, B. O'Neal. SECOND ROW: D. Szyndrowski, D. DeRosa, L. Spencer, J. Clifton, M. Valentine, Miss Kabidias, student teacher. THIRD ROW: Miss Kluesner, sponsor, R. Friend, C. Sadewasser, M. Puaca, G. Krucina, D. Korlin, R. Davis. Members maintained an A average.

HISTORY CLUB OFFICERS— FRONT ROW: J. Hendrix, (project comm.), S. Brazenas (prog. chair.). SECOND ROW: B. Constant (v. pres.), V. Vela (sec.), B. Keil (treas.). THIRD ROW: J. Hendrix (project comm.), D. Bigler (pres.), D. Snyder (project comm.). The club sponsored a dance to raise a field trip fund.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE CLUB OFFICERS— FRONT ROW: M. O'Brien (v. pres.). SECOND ROW: G. Oman (pres.), K. Brewer (treas.). BACK ROW: K. Smith (sec.). The trip was planned as a Spring day to visit Chicago museums.

ZOOLOGY CLUB— FRONT ROW: G. Chepregi, B. Takacs (pres.), K. Krizmanic (v. pres.), L. Lonadier (sec.-treas.), L. McGehee. SECOND ROW: K. Willison, B. Gromaire, W. Chancellor, E. Rex. BACK ROW: D. Petho, T. Hiers, T. Maggi, D. Markovich, Mr. Rasmussen. Members study anatomy and learn more about the behavior and functions of animals.

Clubs create interests in scientific fields

Science clubs offered information to members about possible careers in scientific fields. Physics, chemistry, biology, and zoology clubs sponsored sales of various food items to increase funds.

Physics Club members sold chocolates to increase their treasury. With this money equipment and other provisions were bought to aid the club. At their annual banquet the club featured a guest speaker. Afterwards several awards were presented.

Chemistry Club funds were boosted by taffy apple and candy sales in the west hallway after school. Members took a field trip to Chicago where they visited the Argonne National Laboratories and the Planetarium. At the laboratory they were investigating new developments in nuclear research. This year Chemistry Club sponsored a dance at which the "Ore" played. Black lights were used to display the chosen theme "Crystal Illusion".

To raise money the Zoology Club sponsored a bake sale. For the annual field trip they visited the University of Chicago. While they were there the club visited science laboratories and classrooms in session. From this they got ideas for the projects they entered in the various science fairs.

BIOLOGY CLUB OFFICERS— SITTING: Bonnie Kendzierski (v.-pres.). STANDING: Sheila Morgan, Mr. Smith, sponsor, Cindy Kender (pres.), Debbie Orahood (sec.-treas.).

Service clubs benefit school, community

A. V. CLUB— FRONT ROW: T. La Bounty, P. Irby, D. Daumer, S. Cook, R. Newnum. SECOND ROW: H. Kist, D. Thorne, K. Edwards, W. Chancellor, R. Moery, G. Hulsey. THIRD ROW: M. Van Gorp, C. Biewenga, C. Rodgers, T. Pettis, J. Mancos, Mr. Kolar, sponsor. A. V. Club members operated movie projectors and other equipment to assist in classroom instruction.

by collecting money for many projects

Sponsoring a Christmas party at the Carmelite Home for girls was one of the many activities performed by Home Economics Club members. The club money collected during a bake sale enabled the club to donate a Christmas tree to the Home and also distribute treats and presents to the children.

Guiding visitors through the school on College Night and acquainting new students with Governor facilities comprised some of the duties of Mits members. They also informed grade school pupils of courses and activities offered at Morton.

In A. V. Club pupils learned how to operate audio and visual equipment. Members served the school by showing films in classes and setting up microphones for assemblies and pep rallies.

Art Club members displayed their creative talents by tie-dying, sculpturing, and participating in painting contests. Work was then put on display. Potential members were required to have completed a year or more of art class.

ART CLUB OFFICERS— Pat Silaghi (pres.), Tony Wickramasekera (sec.). Exceptional art work done by club members was displayed in Mr. Waring's classroom window.

Editors set deadlines for section work

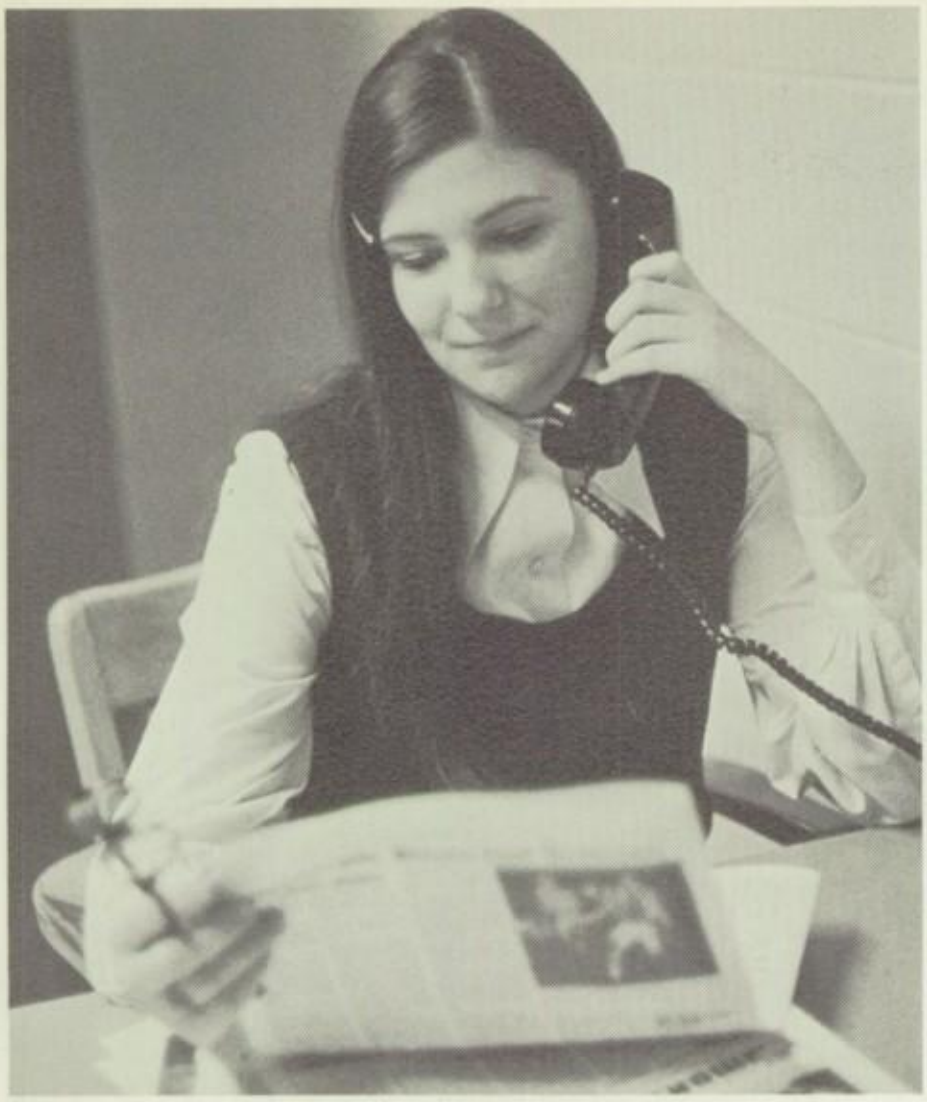
TOP HAT co-editors attended a journalism workshop at Indiana University for a two week session during the summer. They studied yearbook organization and make-up. This helped them plan the division pages and decide the yearbook style. Deadlines for each section were set by the editors.

Students who had been on the staff for a year and wanted to remain on TOP HAT applied for positions as section editors at the end of the year. Each section editor was in charge of a different portion of the yearbook. Edge editors wrote copy, captions, and headlines to gain experience and to help section editors meet deadlines. An additional twelve pages were added to the yearbook to provide more complete coverage of the year.

Sponsoring a magazine sale, the Mortonite Staff raised sufficient funds for future publications of the paper. The Mortonite editor and assistant editors met bi-weekly deadlines by proofing gallies and checking captions and headlines.

Arranging headlines, copy, and captions in an attractive lay-out, Mortonite page editors worked on their individual pages of the paper. They were required to paste them up and meet the deadlines assigned to them by their editors.

SECTION EDITORS— FRONT ROW: D. Flores, P. LaVelle, T. Mola, J. Hojnacki, K. Pariso. SECOND ROW: N. Luketic, M. Kik, V. Fowler, G. Hiduke, B. Constant, T. Mambourg. BACK ROW: L. Skorupa, K. Kapciak, D. Janowski, N. Boskovich, G. Spiro. It is their job to complete yearbook sections. This work includes writing captions, copy and proofing gallies.



DELIVERY OF THE PAPER is confirmed over the phone by senior Donna Korlin, Mortonite editor.

PROOFREADING GALLIES Carolyn Curiel, make-up editor, and Denise Ward, assistant editor, eliminate errors.

BEFORE GIVING APPROVAL Sue Hatfield, co-editor in charge of copy, edits and rewrites TOP HAT material.

WITH SPREADS IN HAND, Margi Payton, co-editor in charge of production, marks the final okay.

Yearbook, Mortonite gain All-American

QUILL AND SCROLL— FRONT ROW: L. Skorupa (prog. ch.), L. Spencer (treas.), S. Hatfield (pres.), G. Hiduke (sec.), T. Mola (v. pres.). SECOND ROW: C. Curiel, D. Neely, M. Payton, M. Kik, J. Hojnacki. Members must have worked on either Top Hat or Mortonite staffs for at least one year.

ratings by following journalistic policies

Rating high honors, Morton's TOP HAT and MORTONITE both received the All-American Award. Given by the National Scholastic Press Association, this award commends the design and planning of both publications. A determined staff effort and cooperation produced an honored yearbook and newspaper.

Quill and Scroll is a journalistic organization of high school students throughout the country. Membership is limited to juniors and seniors who are in the top one-third of their class and have worked on a staff for one year. Members sold class pins to pay staff expenses and to provide funds for the annual Quill and Scroll banquet. The dinner program included the initiation of new members and the announcement of newly acquired staff positions.

Helping section editors meet deadlines by writing headlines, captions, and copy was the job of TOP HAT edge editors. It was required that they keep a stringer of all errands and completed work which helped to determine individual grades.

MORTONITE reporters covered "beats" for school news to help keep students informed of activities and events. Beats were assigned for every department and school section. This allowed current and informative stories to appear in the MORTONITE.

HARD AT WORK, junior Pam LaVelle carefully crops each picture hoping to finish before the set deadline.

MORTONITE REPORTERS— FRONT ROW: S. Sohl, P. Yonke, D. Somerville, C. Schultz. SECOND ROW: M. Childress, D. Palmer, J. Hendrix, B. Bond. THIRD ROW: J. Miskovich, M. Rymarczyk, N. Figuly, D. Hurr, J. Zondlo.

Drama groups work to produce plays

Morton's Drama Department was responsible for the production of all stage plays given by the students. To start the year off a number of presentations, including two comedies, THE IMAGINARY INVALID and THE EMPERORS NEW CLOTHES, were cast. Later, in an assembly, THE BALD SOPRANO was acted out for the students and faculty.

Because of production difficulties the spring musical, OLIVER, had to be canceled. THE GLASS MENAGERIE, a short play, was presented.

Students who volunteered to help with the props, lighting and make-up for each of the performances formed the stage crew. In addition they worked together in making costumes for the cast.

By sponsoring a candy sale and a fruit cake sale, Theater Guild helped to raise funds for the dramatic organization. This money was also used to cover the expense of trips taken by the guild.

Thespians, another branch of the Drama Department, is an honorary organization. To be initiated a cast member must earn a minimum of ten points. These points are earned through participation in the various stage productions. Thespians sponsored a few trips throughout the year to view stage plays given in Chicago or at local colleges.

BACK STAGE, juniors Howie Smack and Steve Kerner prepare to hook up speakers and turn on lights.

time; pupils attain valuable experience

Through hobby and career clubs Morton students developed an appreciation of their favorite pastime. Students participated in these clubs knowing that their interests can bring them greater pleasure if they fully understand them.

Interests in photography and film development were major requirements for membership in the photo club. At their meetings members learned the fundamentals of picture taking.

Girls in the Future Teacher's Association benefited by visiting Valparaiso University for a day. Several teachers from the campus explained the advantages of a career in teaching. Several speakers lectured at their meetings and answered students' questions. Members also sponsored a FTA dance.

To qualify for membership in the Hunting and Fishing Club one had to be interested in outdoor life. The boys planned a spring fishing trip.

Films of various regions of the world were shown at each travel club meeting. The members also took weekend excursions to state parks.

Technical experience and knowledge enabled Electronics Club members to make and repair electronic devices at home and at school. During meeting time students learned equipment basics.

Performing in school assemblies and vocal events throughout the Calumet Region were some of the major functions Morton High's choral groups participated in. All choirs, ensembles, and choruses competed in local and state vocal contests.

Auditions for Concert Choir were held each semester to select new members. Students were judged on sight reading abilities and general music knowledge. Concert Choir sang at many civic and religious events, and this year they were featured at several Morton Middle School assemblies.

Folk songs remained the Wayfarers' specialty. This year they presented a program at K-Mart's Christmas party. Most members were chosen from selected students in Concert Choir. Two guitars served as their accompaniment for all appearances.

Carillons, an all girl ensemble, sang at Mr. Smorgasbord and various other restaurants. They also received a first place honor in the state vocal contest at Butler University. Governaires, consisting of both male and female vocalists, gave shows at various church functions in the area.

In order to be selected for a higher choir, students had to have been in Girls or Boys Chorus. After participating in basic classes, members auditioned for a position in one of the four choirs.

by participation in contests, assemblies

Concert Band entertained during football season by performing original formations in the half-time activities. Participating in the State Band Contest, April 24, in Fort Wayne and in various assemblies throughout the school year were some of the bands' activities. They were also featured in the annual Christmas parade in Hessville.

Stage band differed from concert band because of the music they played. While the concert band concentrated on classical music the stage band played jazz compositions and popular tunes.

Starting an orchestra program again this year provided a fine outlet for those students interested in studying a string instrument.

Providing background for the cheers, the pep band performed at most basketball games. Pep band consisted of volunteer members.

Selling candy enlarged the instrumental departments' funds. With the money raised they were able to purchase new music and plan for new uniforms. All groups were directed by Miss Benjamin.

Band members competed in various contests throughout the year and received a place of distinction in each. They participated in assemblies and parades and practiced every day during first hour. They plan to purchase new uniforms.

Students show school spirit by painting

GOING OVER PLANS for future school activities are Booster Club Officers Cathy Greene (cape sect. chair.), Sue Olney (sgt. at arms), Barb Bond (pep sect. chair.), Deirdre Bigler (v. pres.), Vicki Vela (sec.), Dede O'Drobinak (treas.), Brenda Barnett (pres.). They conducted Booster Club meetings, sponsored dances and helped produce pep assemblies.

signs to back team

Throughout the year students, with assistance from booster clubs, illustrated school spirit by sign painting and school support projects.

Late last year M-Club officers sponsored the Robert Moore Fund Drive. The lettermen collected $1,000 for this East Chicago athlete. They were also in charge of ticket sales at the annual M.A.A.A. Ham Benefit. Assigned lettermen were in charge of sweeping the basketball court at half-time.

Booster Club publicity chairmen organized all sign-painting meetings. It was their responsibility to provide supplies and supervise behavior. Booster Club provided buses for almost all basketball and football away games. Members sold red and white beanies and pep pins during student lunch hours. Trophies bought by the Booster Club were presented to two senior boys who were named Mr. Basketball and Mr. Football at the annual dances.

Girls Athletic Association sponsored two sales this year. Night shirts and Morton jerseys were sold in order to increase club funds.

In their second year of inter-scholastic competition the GAA varsity basketball team compiled a 2-6 record. They played four home games and each player received a new basketball jersey.

M-CLUB OFFICERS— G. Hallum (pres.), R. Davis (sec.), B. Grenda (v. pres.), T. Mambourg (treas.), Mr. Fraser, sponsor. M-Club organized a cheer block for Sectionals.

GAA OFFICERS: Cathy Couch (sec.), Mary Jo Butoryak (pres.), Mary Longawa (v. pres.), Diane Nelson (treas.), discuss future GAA basketball games and club activities.

BOOSTER CLUB PUBLICITY CHAIRMEN— Freshman Mary Ann Komar, sophomore Jill Stewart, junior Mary Ann Miner. The girls were in charge of buying supplies for their class.

Pom-pon girls, twirlers perform original

Providing football and basketball halftime entertainment were Morton's 1970-71 Varsity Twirlers, Flag Girls and Pom Pon Corps. Each group performed new and original routines to selected music. The girls received a second place award for their marching performance in the Park Forest Christmas parade.

As a selected group of 25 girls, the Pom Pon Corps performed in school pep rallies and at designated ball games. Members sponsored a dance and candy sale to raise money to purchase new uniforms.

Varsity Twirlers exhibited their twirling ability on the football field, in the gym, and in state competition. By daily practice they were able to improve and create new routines for students to enjoy. Placing second in state competition, the girls won one duet and three solo awards.

Morton Flag Girls were awarded first place honors in state competition in Elkhart. To provide funds for uniforms the girls sold candy. They also performed at selected halftime activities.

Cheerleaders sponsor pep assemblies

By attending cheerleading camp at Vincennes University during the summer, the varsity cheerleaders prepared for the 1970-1971 season. At camp the girls were involved with cheerleaders from several states. Daily competition was held; the Governor squad captured one second and three third place ribbons. New cheers were used at games and various pep sessions sponsored by the girls.

Sale of 'Gov' pins and profits from their dance allowed the varsity squad to purchase new uniforms. Culottes and vests, saddle shoes, and short-sleeve sweaters were the new additions. Uniforms were worn every Friday to promote wearing of school colors and on days of games to encourage spirit.

Summer practice sessions enabled the B-team squad to organize cheers for the oncoming year. Sponsoring a bake sale along with a share of profits from the dance provided these cheerleaders with the needed funds to purchase new skirts and vests. The Junior Varsity cheered at all B-team games and during half time at varsity home games.

Due to tryouts being held late in the fall, freshman cheerleaders were able to cheer for only one football game but cheered the entire basketball season. Practices were held after school until second semester when all obtained seventh hour cheerleading. The freshman squad worked to promote spirit among Morton's newest class.

FROSH CHEERLEADERS— FRONT ROW: L. Fagyus. SECOND ROW: N. Rex, J. Korba, D. Klisurich. THIRD ROW: J. Wimmer, J. Childers, V. Rollins. They led cheers for frosh basketball games and participated in varsity half time cheers.

Athletic achievements, earned through skill and heavy practice sessions, left their footprints in trophy cases and on wall plaques. Athletes experienced the joy of victory and agony of defeat and gained maturity through it all. Besides the actual game participants, sport spectators also were a vital part of 1971 Morton athletics. Through wins and losses, game viewers developed good sportsmanship and boosted team morale. Athletes etched their footprints of today for the sands of tomorrow in . . .

displays 3-1 record in city competition

This year's varsity football squad recorded a final slate of 6-3-1. Holding three teams scoreless was one of the accomplishments of the team. Additional achievements were winning the Lake Shore Conference title and playing first ranked Elkhart.

Morton started with a 7-0 loss to Gary Andrean, and a 1-0 forfeit by Clark. A contest with E.C. Washington accounted for the Governors' first actual win of the season, the score being 28-0. Homecoming 1970 was played against Hammond Tech. The outcome was in favor of the Govs 20-0.

Although Morton was unable to score against Bishop Noll, they in turn made it impossible for the Warriors to score. In the next game, when the Govs met E.C. Roosevelt, Morton was defeated 14-13.

Games with Gavit and Whiting proved to be victorious for the Governors. The scores of these two games were 32-13 and 54-0 respectively. The last originally scheduled game of the season was played against Hammond High, Morton losing 14-7.

As a result of winning the Conference Championship Morton received the chance to play the Elkhart Blue Blazers, who were ranked first in Indiana. Elkhart came out of the game victorious, 27-0.

Finishing an undefeated season, the B-team gridmen allowed only one of the five teams they played to score. They won the first two games by scoring 24 points to Tech's 0 and 16 to Bishop Noll's 0. In the next game, confronted by E.C. Roosevelt, the Governors won 24-7. Following were two more wins to add to their winning streak. Gavit's B-squad fell to the Govs, 24-0, as did Hammond High, 16-0.

This year's freshmen squad earned a 4-2-3 record. They began the season with victories over Ridge Junior High and Clark with scores of 26-8 and 1-0 respectively. The next two games accounted for two of their three ties. They then defeated Bishop Noll by a score of 30-24. Following this win came their first loss when E.C. Roosevelt defeated Morton with a score of 8-6. A 14-14 tie with Gavit, a victory over Whiting, 22-0, and a forfeit to Hammond High School concluded their season.

MUSCLES TENSED, senior Dave Boldt vigorously swings his tennis racket to return the ball to his opponent. The boys combine both skill and teamwork to win their matches.

Morton's tennis team, coached by Mr. Jerry Woodward, finished the 1970 season with a 4-5 slate. Accompanying this record, they tied with Gavit for second place in the Lake Shore Conference.

Beginning the season the Governors beat Clark, 5-0, but were defeated in their second meet by Hammond High. Following this loss, they came up with two more victories against E.C. Washington and Tech with scores of 4-1 and 5-0 respectively. Meets with Griffith and Merrillville constituted for two more Morton losses. In a meet with E.C. Roosevelt the racketmen won four matches to the Rough Riders' one. The team ended the season losing the last meet to Munster. Morton's B-team players were defeated by Griffith's with a score of 4-1.

Team members who received letters for their efforts were seniors B. Bardoczi, J. Bardoczi, D. Boldt, M. Buechley, and B. Carney. Juniors F. Benton, J. Kerr, J. Mancos, and sophomore D. Rush also lettered. Numerals were awarded to M. Argadine, C. Brandner, M. Hussey, A. Kras, and K. Oros.

Team members chose Martin Buechley as Most Valuable Player, and Dave Boldt as team captain.

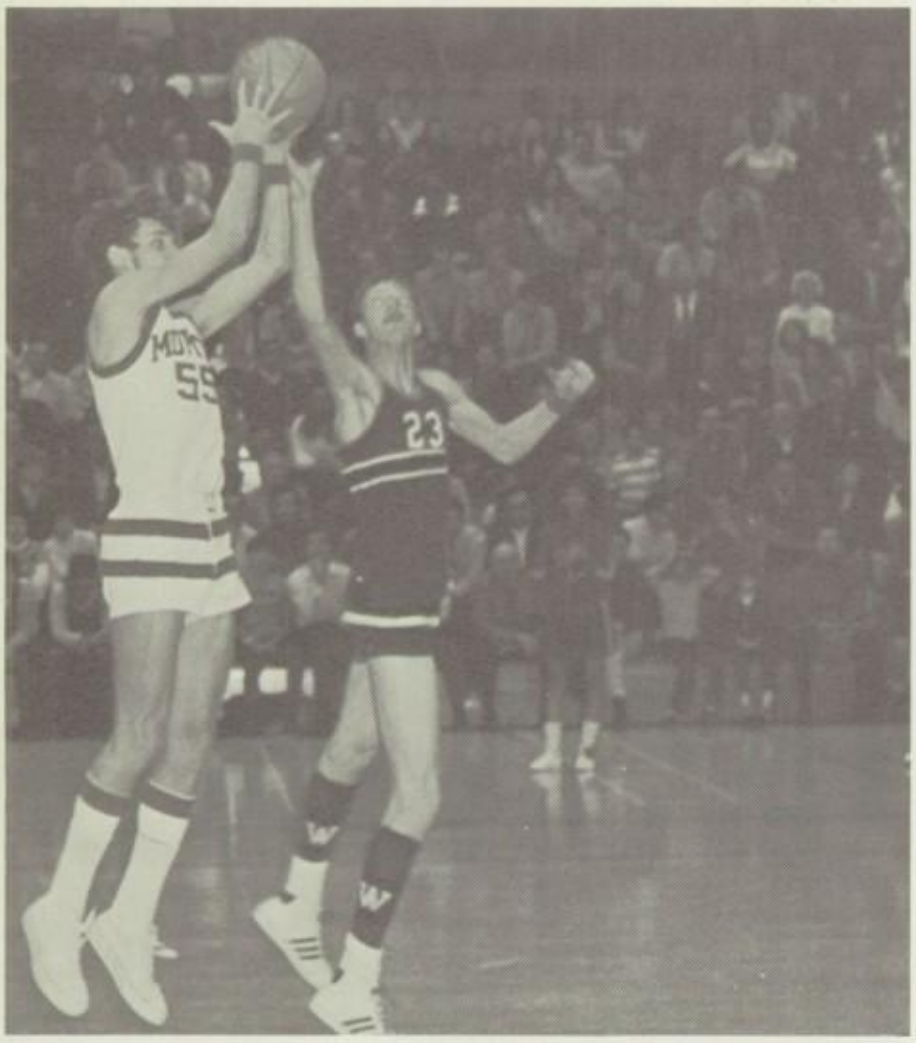
Cagers snare second in tourney play



WHILE INSIDE THE KEY, senior forward Mike Hiemstra struggles for a rebound against an East Chicago Washington opponent in a game won by the Senators.

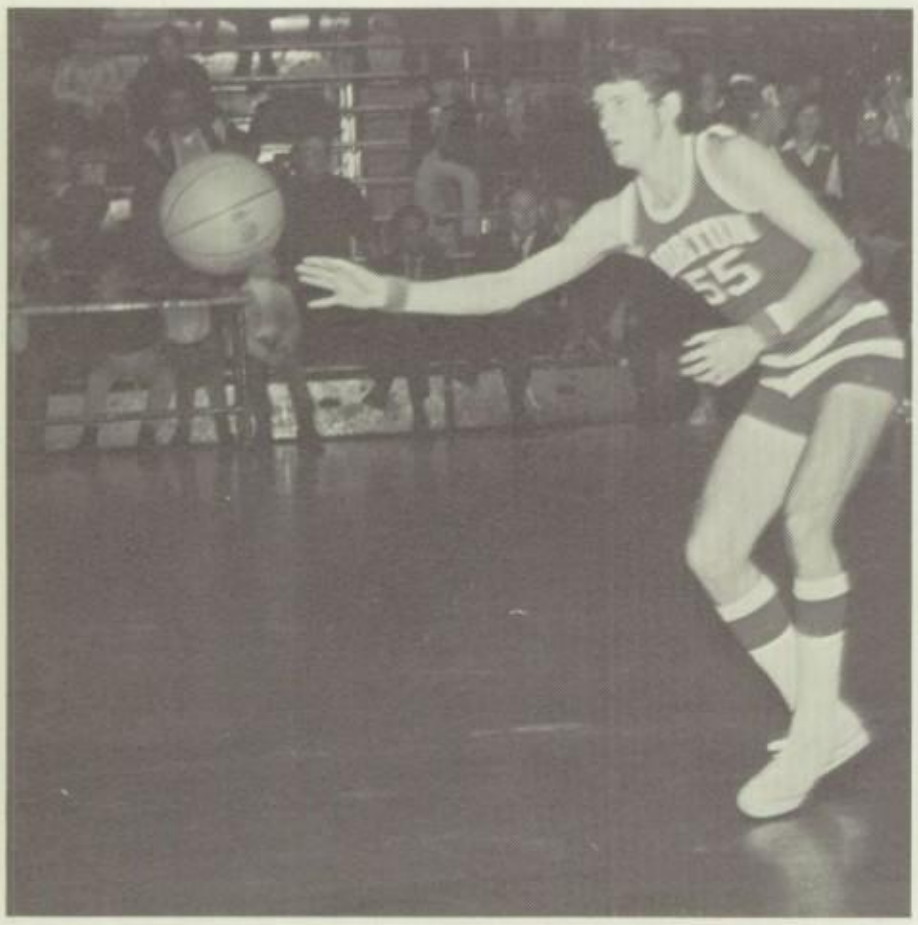
Starting off the season with three straight losses to Highland, Lake Central, and Griffith the varsity roundballers picked up their first victories against Bishop Noll and Calumet as they led their opponents through a major part of the game.

After losing to E. C. Washington the cagers once again got back in the track as they defeated Lew Wallace in a close game that ended up with the Govs on top by three. In their next game the Govs obtained an easy victory over Gary Wirt.

Participating in the Calumet Twp. Holiday Tourney the roundballers defeated Merrillville, their first opponent. Calumet proved to be more than the Govs could handle as they fought their way to a 52-50 victory and the championship trophy.

After winning their next two games against Hobart and Whiting, the roundballers again tasted defeat as they fell to Gavit and Andrean. Thwarted by defending state champ E. C. Roosevelt the Gov cagers lost by 65-44. Following this Hammond High and Clark handed them their fifth and sixth consecutive losses in eight outings.

By changing the line-up the roundballers scored victories over Tech and Munster, finishing the season with a 9-11 record. Mike Marshall led the team in scoring by averaging 28.2 points per game.



TRYING TO SNATCH THE BALL, senior forward Mike Hiemstra hopes to receive a pass from a teammate. This game was held against Hammond High at the Civic Center.

way to final game

With a regular season win over Tech the Govs looked hopefully to sectional play. However, in the opening minutes of the game it seemed as if there would be a repeat of last year's defeat.

Trailing by 12 at the end of the first quarter, the Govs picked up steam as they led by one at the end of the second period.

Dominant throughout the second half, Tech looked as though its team might win, but the Govs repeatedly tied the Tigers in the final minutes.

Tech, in possession of the ball, with 30 seconds remaining in the game, decided to wait until the final seconds before attempting to score. With ten seconds left to go the Tigers shot. The ball was rebounded and shot by Tech, but it failed to go into the rim as the final buzzer sounded. In overtime the Govs scored six while holding Tech to one field goal. The final score was Morton 64, Tech 60.

Facing Highland in their next game of sectional play, the cagers led their opponent by one at the end of the first period. They retained the lead, ahead by one at the close of the first half.

Down by three, going into the last period, the Govs fell apart as Highland out scored them 24-13. The game ended with Highland on top, 70-56.

Individual honors as well as team honors were earned by this year's varsity wrestling team. Besides chalking up a 6-3 record, the team finished third in the conference. The team had three conference champions and one sectional champ.

Falling to Hammond High and Bishop Noll at the beginning of the season did not dampen the team spirit. With a combined team effort the next five meets were MHS victories. Morton defeated Hammond Tech and followed this win with another by beating E.C. Washington. In the next three meets the Governors showed their winning ability by defeating E.C. Roosevelt, Clark, and Whiting. The grappler's third and final loss of the season took place as Portage overcame the Govs by only one point, 22-21. Morton concluded their wrestling season exhibiting a victory over Gary Andrean, 28-18.

Lake Shore Conference Champions were determined at the Conference Tournament which was held in the Morton gym on January 23. The Governor squad produced three champs. Seniors Arnold Lord and Dave DePew and junior Dave Smoot all captured first place honors in their individual weight classes.

Dave DePew represented Morton High School in the 1970-71 Sectional finals. He defeated his opponent from Calumet, 5-1. Following the last meet the team selected the most valuable wrestler and team captain. It was the team's general opinion that Dave DePew and Bob Sandor deserved these titles.

Tankmen develop correct skill needed

Team effort and experience helped to lead the Governor tankmen to a winning season. They finished the season with a record of 9 wins and 3 losses.

Starting the season, the Governors defeated cross-town rivals Tech, 51-44, and Hammond High, 64-31. They won two more meets against Portage and Valparaiso with a close score of 49-46. The team then went on to win five meets in a row. Bishop Noll, Lowell, Valparaiso, Highland, and Gary Roosevelt all fell to the Govs. They then lost their last two meets of the year to Griffith and Bishop Noll with scores of 57-38 and 49-46 respectively.

Named as Griffith Invitational winners for the second consecutive year, Morton earned 81½ points in the meet. Griffith finished with 79, Portage with 49½, Tech with 44, and Chesterton with 27.

For the first time since Morton has had a swimming team one of the members qualified for the state finals. Greg Clarke represented Morton in the 400-yard freestyle. Receiving both most valuable and co-captain was junior Greg Clarke. Dave Misanik was elected as the other co-captain.

Kukula qualifies in sectional track meet

MILE RELAY RUNNER Jim Matthews passes the baton to anchorman Gary Hallum before he runs the final lap.

Under the direction of Coach Nick Luketic, the 1970 squad of Morton cindermen obtained a season record of four wins and six losses. In addition, a new mile relay record was established and team member Ron Kukula qualified for the regional track meet. He finished in third place in the sectional long jump competition with a leap of 20-ft. 5-in.

Seniors Barrett Luketic, Wes Lukoshus, Jay Lauer, and junior Gary Hallum comprised the record breaking mile relay team. They diminished the 3:28.5 record, set the previous year, to 3:27.

As always, at the conclusion of the season the entire team elected a most valuable team member and a team captain. These honors were bestowed upon Barrett Luketic and Wes Lukoshus respectively.

Morton's B-team trackmen earned four first places throughout the season, accompanied by three seconds and one third. A first place honor was won in the City Frosh-Soph meet and a third gained in the Lake Shore Conference meet. The freshman team received a first place in a meet against Lake Forest and a third place in the City Frosh meet.

RUNNING THE 100-YD DASH, senior Frank Matrinetz tries to improve his timing as he nears the finish line.

Soccer team obtains useful experience

Suffering from the loss of many first string graduating seniors, the Morton soccer squad compiled a seasonal record of two wins and six losses. The Govs were held scoreless in their first four matches as their opponents scored ten goals.

After bouncing back and winning their first game of the season against Clark by one goal, the soccer team again tasted defeat as Hammond Tech emerged victorious by the score of 3-0.

Coming from behind in the final quarter, Vince Kerr scored a very important goal which gave the Governors their second win of the season against Hammond High, their last opponent. The soccer team this year, as in past years, possessed a strong defensive team limiting their opponents to an average of 2 goals per game. This year it was the lack of a good scoring attack which stopped the Governors from having another winning season.

Since many of the regulars from this season's squad were underclassmen, Coach Bob Gollner has high hopes for next season. The soccer squad will be trying to better this season's record.

MORTON SOCCER PLAYERS get ready for an upcoming game as senior Paul Ziemba heads the ball to an onlooking teammate. The squad played eight games during their season.

"Due to a lack of experienced players, our baseball squad didn't click until about mid-season when the right players were chosen for the right positions," commented Head Coach Jack Georgas. Starting the season off slowly, winning only 2 of 10 games, the Morton Governor baseball team came on strong at mid-season and finished the year winning 7 of 8 games and placing second in the East Chicago Sectional. In the sectional championship game at Block Stadium the Governors lost to E. C. Washington by a score of 3-1. The squad concluded the season with a slate of 12-10-2.

Under the instructions of Head Coach Jack Georgas and assistant Greg Jancich, the Governors made a dramatic comeback with a seven game winning streak. This streak began when the Governors beat Hammond Tech, 7-1, and ended by beating Highland, 1-0, in the East Chicago Sectional semi-finals. The Gov rally at mid-season was attributed to strong hitting and fielding. This revival brought the Govs over the 500 mark for the fifth straight year.

After the season ended team members selected Bob Kuhn as most valuable player. They also chose Randy Hlad and Frank Rakoczy as co-captains.

ATTEMPTING TO STRIKE OUT his opponent is pitcher Garry Kostyo, senior. Standing by is third baseman Bob Grenda, senior, ready to assist him on upcoming plays.

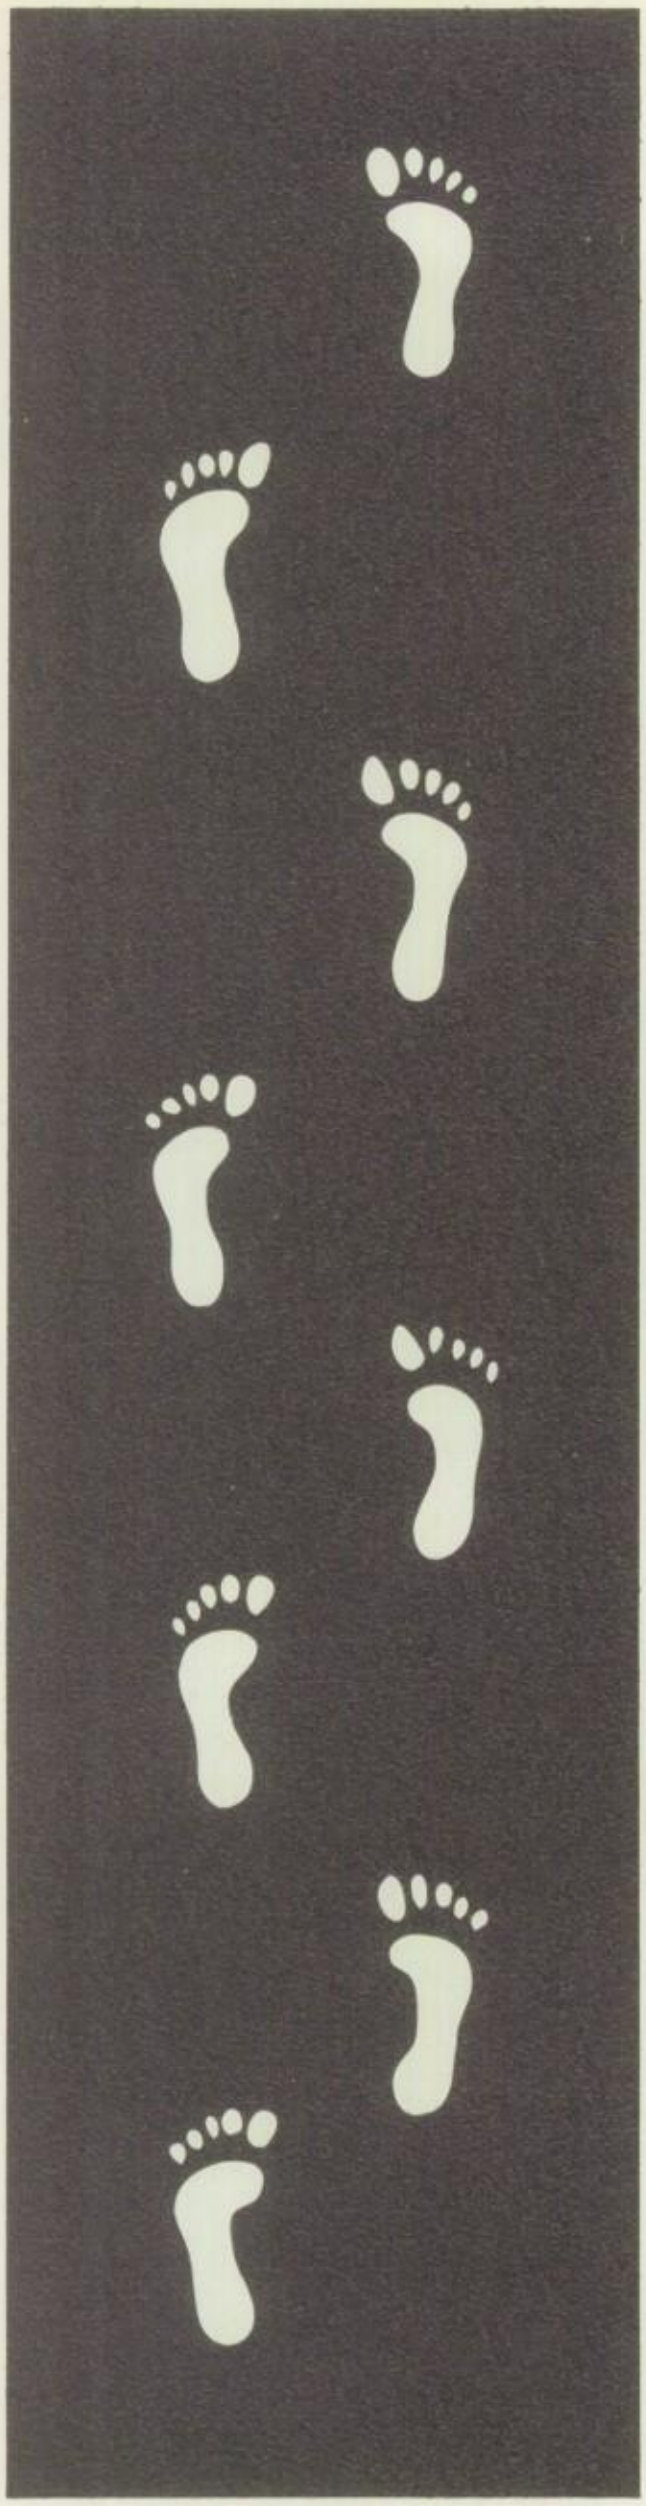
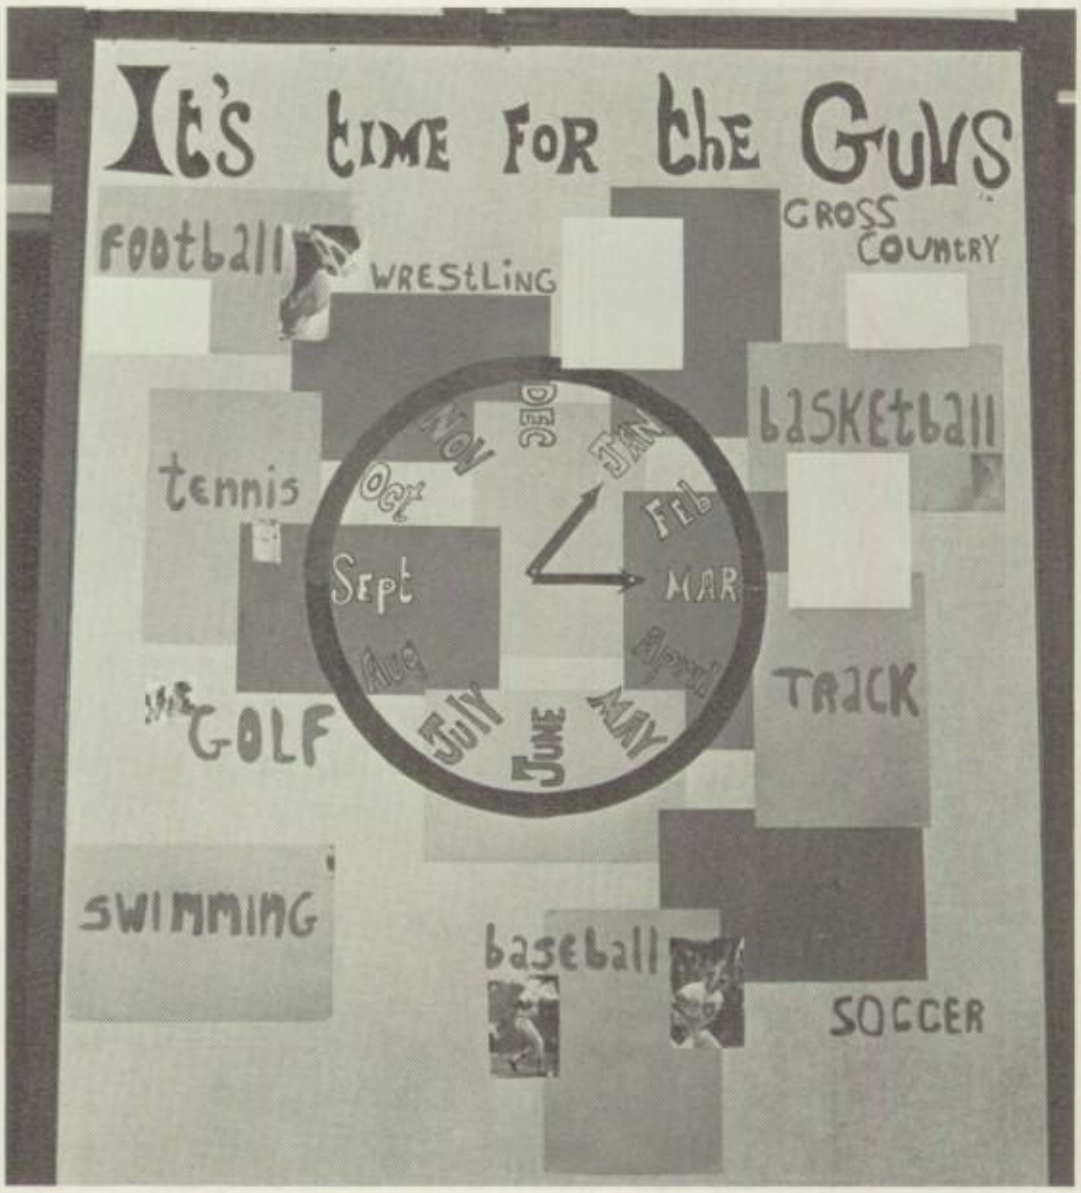
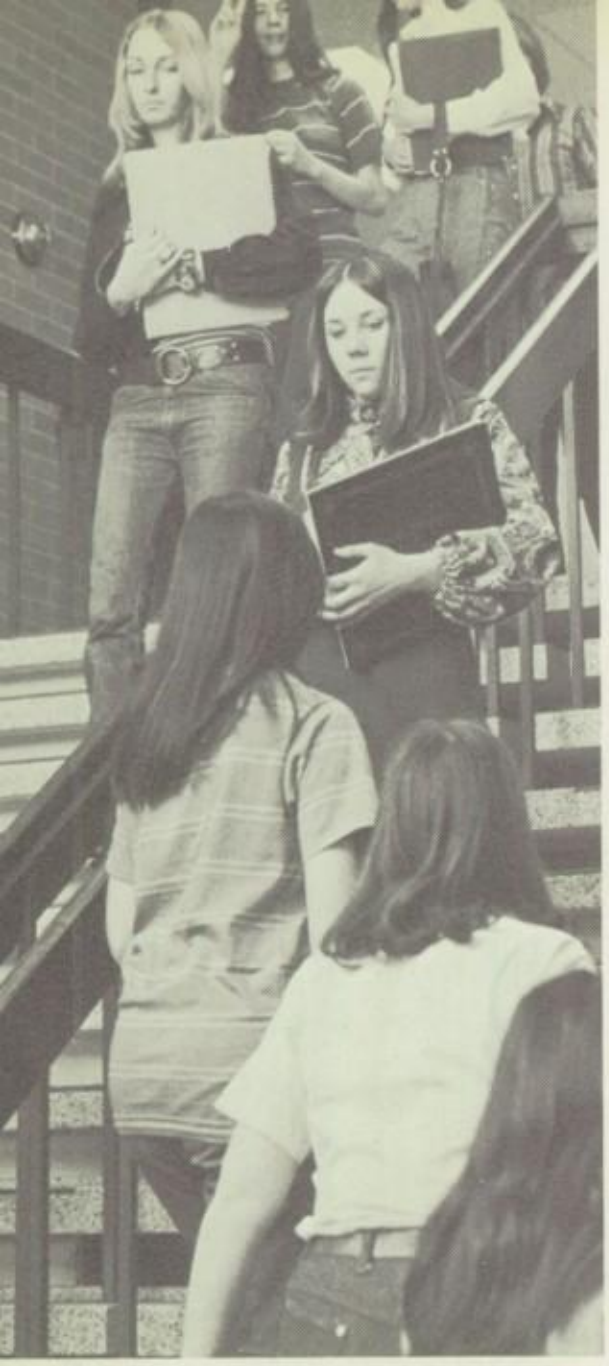
CONCENTRATION ON HIS SWING aids senior Bob Grenda in scoring team points as Morton heads for another victory.

DURING THE CLARK GAME, a very close but victorious match, senior Tom Mambourg advances toward first base.





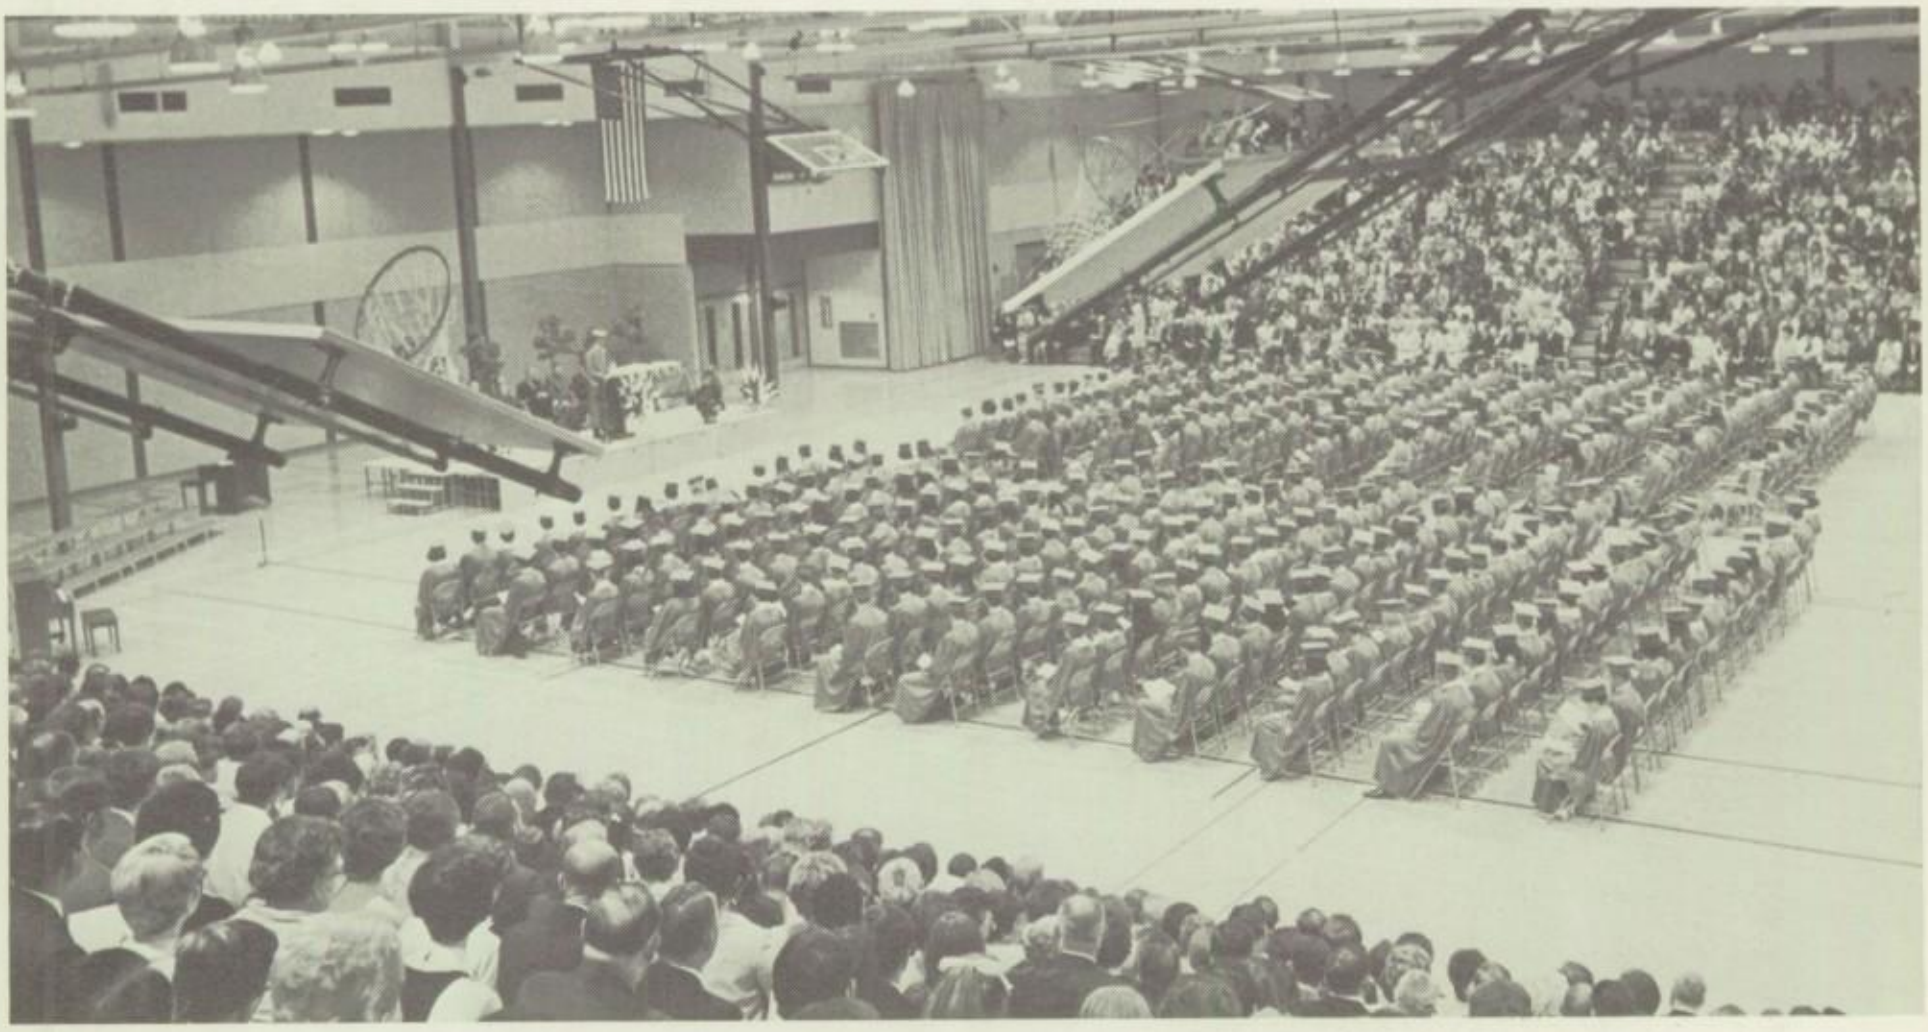
Governors know the time of athletic seasons through this clock.



Up and down the staircase students hurry to their designated classes.

Morton students, the most important members of the school system, definitely left footprints as they walked through the school year. New relationships, awakenings and understandings were all part of the Governor happenings. Footprints filled classrooms, the gym and student commons, while students identified with each other. Student footprints were left everywhere and will remain there as newer ones appear tomorrow in Morton's . . .

ALBUM



Families and friends of seniors witness the graduation of the Class of '71 in the gym.

Class officers choose senior graduation

PREPARED FOR THE WEATHER, senior Class President Tom Kolwicz helps clear the heavily snowed-in parking lot.

Style of graduation announcements for 1971 was selected by class officers and a committee of five seniors. With less than a month left to construct the homecoming float, seniors pulled through with the theme "Govs Don't Monkey Around."

To create an atmosphere of unity, seniors met in the auditorium on Tuesdays for announcements concerning college, activities, and graduation.

Powder blue and navy were class colors chosen by seniors for traditional cords to be worn on Tuesdays. Cords ordered for the boys in November did not arrive on time which caused a great deal of confusion for all students involved.

Due to overcrowded conditions in the cafeteria, the administration introduced the long awaited open campus program. Senior class members received this privilege on a tentative basis.

This year students and parents voted on purchasing new synthetic caps and gowns instead of renting them. This enabled the students to have their gowns available for pictures and church ceremonies. Purchased gowns prevented the confusion of returning the gowns immediately after graduation.

A meeting of senior class members ended with the formation of an activity committee. This committee planned a skating party for seniors to provide better spirit and unity among all class members.

Graduates of '71 were the first students to complete all four years in Morton's new building.

TAKING THE EASY WAY DOWN, senior Vice-President Mark Joseph relaxes between duties required in his office.

SENIOR CLASS SECRETARY Sue Hatfield takes a zip down the hall to get in practice for the senior skating party.

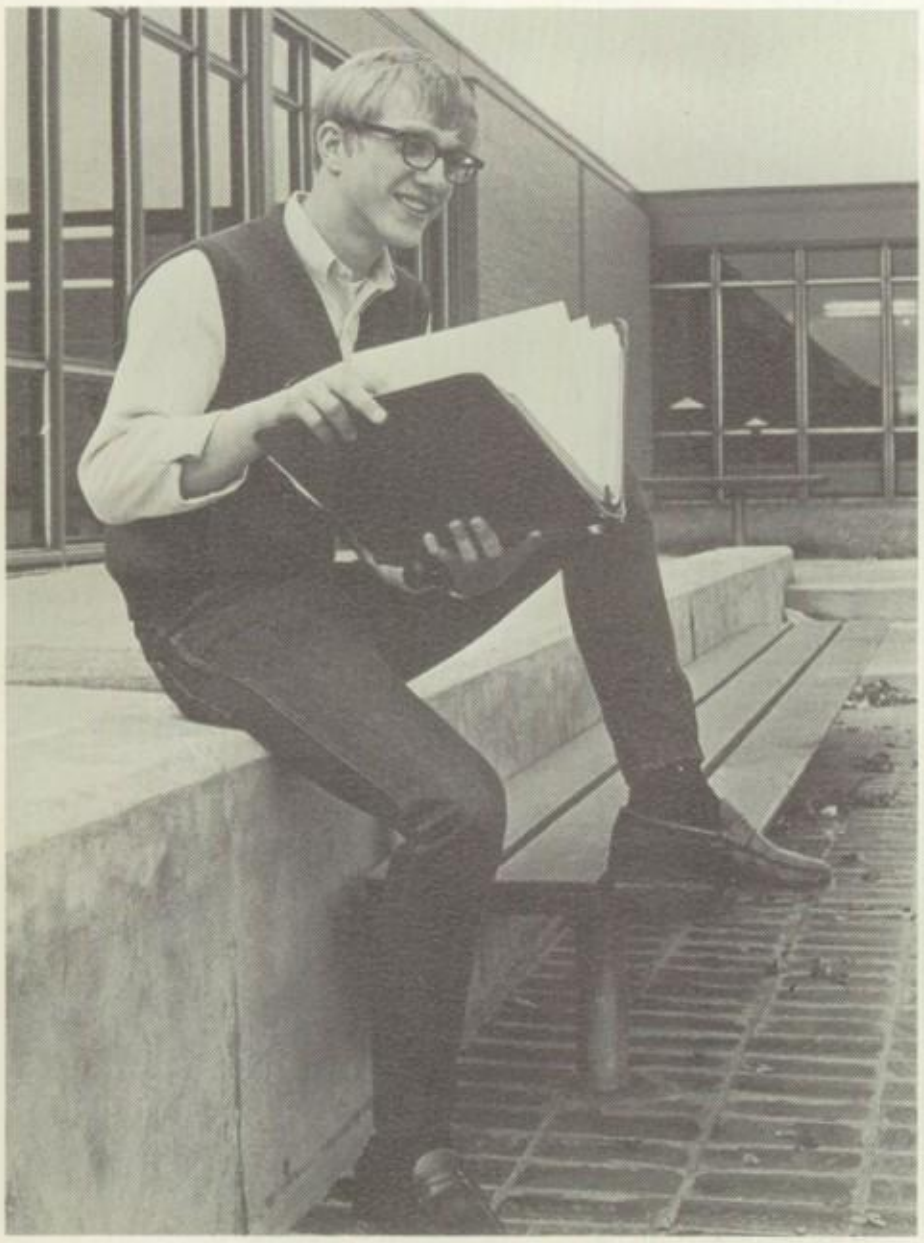
Class officers stress active involvement



Juniors began their first year as upperclassmen with elections for homeroom representatives, executive board members, and alternates. Class sponsor Mrs. Gwen Mangus guided the class officers and representatives in decision making.

Competition between classes was held during the United Community Chest Drive. The Class of '72 captured the top of the totem pole by contributing the greatest amount of money.

"We're Expecting a Victory" was chosen as the theme of the 1970 Junior Homecoming float. The float depicted a stork, made of tissue flowers, with a football in a diaper hanging from its mouth.

Selecting the Junior-Senior Prom theme, "Lollipops and Roses," and planning the affair were the Junior Executive Board's main responsibilities. The prom was held in the Morton cafeteria and San Remo's was the site of the after-prom party.

Traditional class rings were ordered during October and were received in December. Dress-up days gave the juniors an opportunity to display their Sunday finery. PSAT and SAT tests were administered to interested, college-bound students. SAT tests were taken on Saturday, April 17. Students received results in approximately four weeks.

SCHOOL COURTYARD PROVIDES quiet atmosphere for Curt Lukoshus, junior class president, as he studies for final exams. Curt presents ideas for class activities during executive board meetings, held whenever necessary.

TYPING THE MINUTES of the last exec board meeting is one of the responsibilities of Secretary Dede O'Drobinak.

READY AND WAITING, sophomore class secretary Lois Smith is well prepared for the oncoming attack.

SLIDING INTO THE SCHOOL grounds, via an icy ledgeway, is sophomore Vice-President Angelo Toyias.

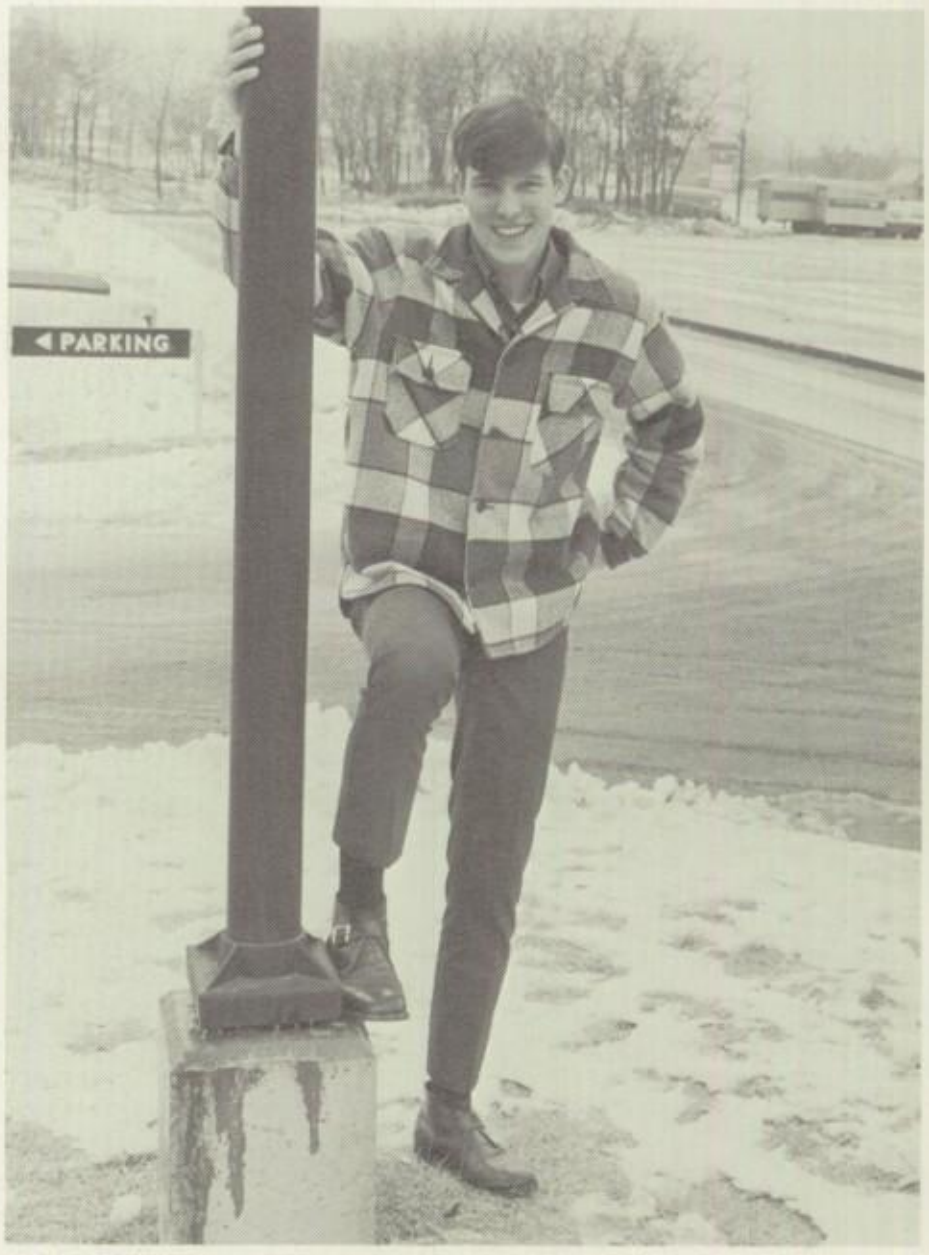
Officers decide class projects, activities

Class sponsors Mr. Dennis Zelenke and Mrs. Nancy Squibb aided the sophomore officers and representatives in sponsoring class projects. The officers met bi-weekly to discuss future activities.

Sportsmanship and homeroom rivalry prevailed during the first sophomore volleyball tournament. Competitive games were played in March.

In order to boost the Class of '73's treasury the sophomores sponsored a dance on January 15, 1971. The "Ore" provided the music for the dance after the Morton-Gavit basketball game. A candy sale was also held during November. The profits were set aside for financing the Class of '73's prom.

During homecoming week the class united to decorate a pick-up truck and cars for the pre-game parade. The sophomores placed fourth in spirit competition during homecoming festivities.



VISIONS OF FUTURE CLASS PROJECTS are contemplated by sophomore class President Mark Ladendorf. Participation by all students provided incentive to reach his goals.

Class of '74 begins year with elections

ANXIOUSLY AWAITING RESULTS of the freshmen class elections are L. Pariso, P. Anguiano, D. Elish, T. Culp. Freshmen elected senators, representatives and officers.

Elections for freshmen officers, senators and homeroom representatives took place early in the first semester. Meetings were held once a week for class representatives at which the class president presided. A class sponsor, Mr. G. Green, was chosen to aid class officers. Rust was selected as the class color and was worn to encourage unity.

Freshmen were introduced to school procedures during an orientation program in early September. The orientation was sponsored by the Student Association which provided guides for a tour of the school. At this time the school constitution and class schedules were also handed out.

Representing their class, a freshmen boy and girl presented a bouquet of roses and crown to the 1971 Homecoming queen. Frosh also decorated cars as part of the Homecoming festivities.

During a frosh basketball game, a bake sale was held to raise funds. Interested students and frosh representatives also sponsored a pollution sticker sale along with a February splash party.

Extracurricular activities provided freshmen with an active social life. They served on various committees and attended school sponsored dances, plays, concerts, and athletic events.

Different varieties of air freshener were sold door to door by freshmen during March.

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY, along with upcoming class events, creates conversation for freshmen class officers President Kevin Boldt, Vice-President Debbie Klisurich, and Secretary Judi Childers.

Administration backs student activities

Heading the administration of Morton Senior High School for the tenth year, Mr. W. Winston Becker approved all student activity and enforced the Morton Governors' new dress guide.

Supervising pupil attendance, Mr. Walter Ruff, Dean of Students, also checked absences, distributed detentions, and encouraged good grooming.

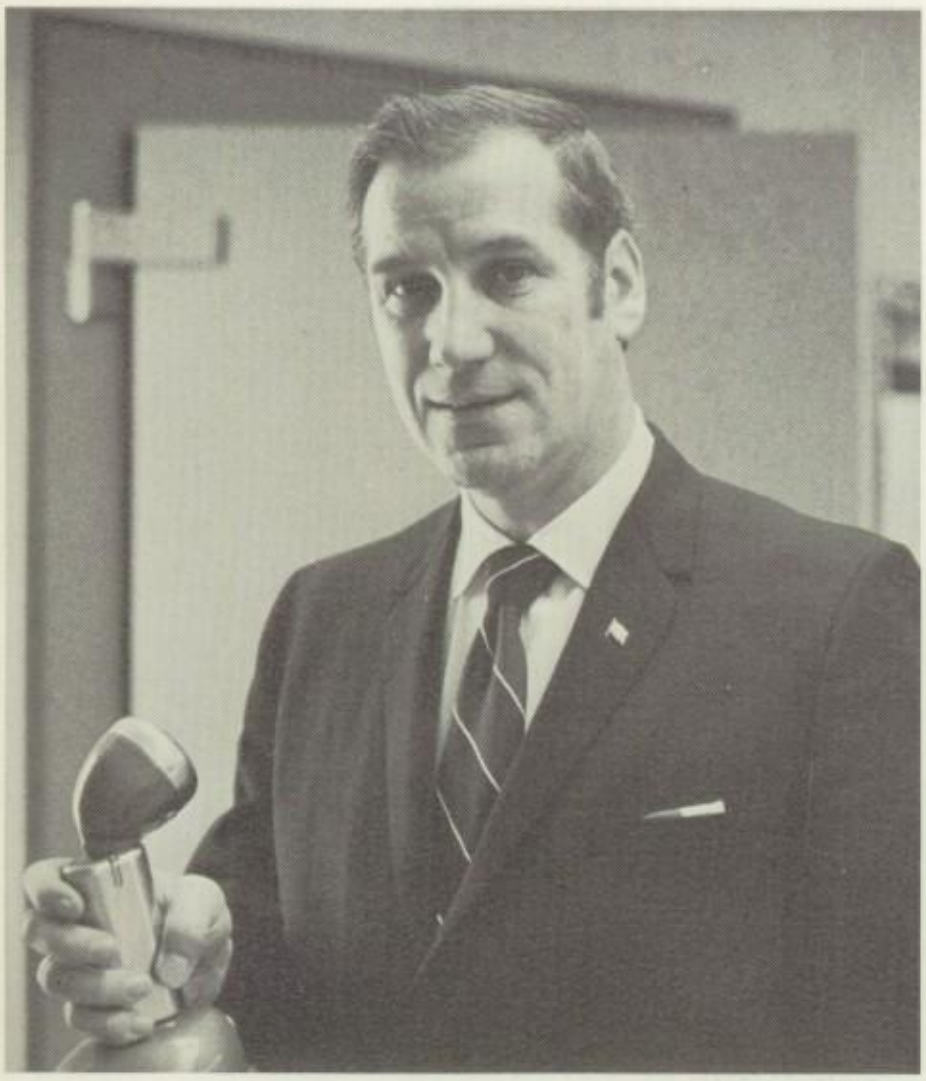
Mr. Phillip Mateja, assistant principal, scheduled the use of the building and developed a master program schedule for all faculty.

Morton's first program for handicapped students was supervised by faculty members Mrs. Shirley Rotenberg and Mrs. Ellis Diener. Morton had six handicapped students who received their high school education as they made use of Morton's facilities.

Staff members acted as chaperones for club and extra-curricular activities. They also met with parents and students to revise the Junior-Senior Prom regulations. The administration approved the school's new dress guide, which went into effect at the beginning of the school year.

Program scheduling was the main duty of Morton's six guidance counselors. Advisors also gave advice on educational topics to aid students in their decisions for future schooling and career life.

IN HIS TENTH YEAR as chief administrator of Morton Senior High School, Principal W. W. Becker regulates activities concerning the prom, dress code, and student behavior.



USE OF THE MICROPHONE enables Mr. Mateja, Morton's assistant principal, to deliver his "thought for the day."

CHECKING OVER UNEXCUSED ABSENCE LISTS, Mr. Ruff fulfills one of his duties as Morton's Dean of Students.

Exchange of money takes place between students and area businessmen.

Stores offering a wide variety of wigs serve fashion-minded MHS girls.

From theaters to boutiques to restaurants, trails of Morton student footprints could be seen. A constant exchange of money took place between all types of businessmen and Morton's younger generation. Students enjoyed purchasing "kicky" new things while still saving for a rainy day. Since teens are a major part of the consumers, businesses advertised in TOP HAT and enabled the staff to increase the size of the yearbook. MHS youths tracked footprints in all sorts of businesses via . . .

High School is a waste of time . . .

. . . unless you find a job that turns you on and makes good use of your education. Inland Steel wants only people who want to use everything they've learned in high school--and strongly desire to grow personally and in their chosen field.

Inland's future growth depends on the creativity and productivity of its people. If you want a really challenging opportunity to contribute--with the rewards and responsibilities that go with it--Inland wants to talk to you.

We need action-seeking graduates for opportunities in clerical . . . production . . . technical . . . and craft apprenticeship areas.

Think it over. If you have high aspirations and a good high school record, take time to find out about a career with us.

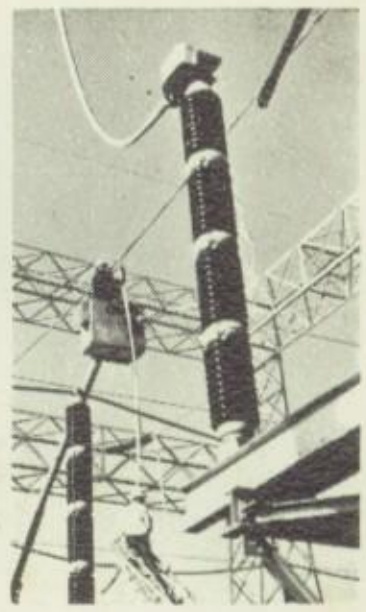
AN OPPORTUNITY TO SERVE

An opportunity to serve awaits industrious young men and women at Northern Indiana Public Service Company. As one of the top gas and electric distribution utilities in the United States, NIPSCO is constantly looking for new processes and methods of efficient operation. These include atomic power generation, extra high voltage transmission, underground electric distribution, computerized system planning, underground storage of natural gas, community analyses and electronic data processing.



Ready to grow with a growing company?

IN AN ATMOSPHERE OF GROWTH

NIPSCO is one of the highest-paying utilities in the State of Indiana. Its attractive employe benefit package—tuition refund plan, vacations, holidays, life insurance, comprehensive medical insurance, pensions, etc.—provides an atmosphere for individual growth. Fifteen leading colleges and universities are strategically located throughout its service area with others available in the greater Chicago area. Drop in. We'll be glad to talk jobs with you.

Dear Governors,

Through a culmination of efforts on the part of many individuals, we as editors have endeavored to record the events which took place during this year.

It is our wish that the 1971 TOP HAT will enable you to more lucidly recall your individual "footprints on the sands of time" at MHS.

To Sue

I hope I get to see you sometime. your so pretty and nice, I guess
I'll even miss you hot pants
even if you only wore them
one time

Good luck
Love
Tom Sue, to a good friend. Always remember the fun we had at the prom even though we got mad a couple of times. See you
this summer.
